The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, APRIL 24, 1869.

The News.

The Senate rejected the nominations of Mr. Sanford as Minister to Spain and Mr. Pike as Minister to Brazil, on Thursday.

Capt. Henry A. Wise, U. S. N., formerly chief of the Bureau of Ordinance died in Naples on the 1st instant.

The Senate has postponed the San Juan treaty until December.

The Spanish Cortes has agreed to a clause in the new constitution guaranteeing universal suffrage.

The Jamaica sugar crop is small.

The town of Huan Chinago (China) has been completely destroyed by fire.

The ice in Lake Champlain has broken up.

Nineteen thousand barrels of whiskey were seized on Thursday, in New Orleans by the revenue officials.

A measure has been adopted by the South Carolina Legislature, for giving five years credit to actual settlers on her unoccupied lands. The principle seems eminently wise, and worthy of imitation by our Southern States, and others.

The Pacific Railroad will be open May 10.

The Senate adjourned sine die on Friday.

Senator Abbott of North Carolina, formerly of this State, made a speech in the Senate on Thursday night, declaring if Senator Sprague intended to apply the word "puppy" to him he would make him retract, or he should demand satisfaction.

It is stated that no elaborate instructions will be prepared for Mr. Motley, and that negotiations on the Alabama question will probably be transferred from London to Washington.

It is said that letters have been found which reveal the names of the murderers of the Joice children at West Roxbury, June 12, 1865.

Hingham, Mass., and neighboring towns had quite a powerful earthquake shock at 20 minutes after 3 o'clock, Thursday afternoon.

Capital Trials.—The Worcester Palladium of the 21st of April, records the trial and acquittal of David Dore and Josephine Laflane,—charged with the murder of Charles Laflane, husband of Josephine. Also the case of Bartholomew O'Donnell, of Milford, arraigned and put on trial for the murder of Bridget Murray, of Boston, at Milford, in the early part of December. Bridget was at a party in a house near O'Donnell's in the evening; and as a part of a play, which they were performing, she went out, with another girl into Defendant's garden to procure a cabbage. O'Donnell having had some intimation of their coming, chose to treat it in a serious light; armed himself with a Colt's horse-pistol, charged with powder and ball; placed himself in the garden, and fired upon them. The ball struck Bridget, and killed her.

Upon consultation with his counsel, the deft. retracted his plea of not guilty, and plead guilty of murder in the second degree. The prosecuting officers accepted the plea; and the court sentenced O'D. to the State Prison for life; the only sentence the court could award under the statute.

The Spanish Mission.—The Senate was both generous and just when it laid the nomination of Mr. Sandford as Minister to Madrid on its table by a vote of 30 to 20, thus retaining Mr. John P. Hale in his place. It is understood that several of the friends of Mr. Sandford voted in favor of thus arranging the matter. Of course as Mr. Sandford cannot now be sent to Madrid, it would not have been proper to have confirmed Mr. Jones as Minister to Belgium, thus leaving Mr. Sandford out in the cold; so Mr. Jones, although a personal friend and connection of the President, will not probably get a chance to go to Brussels for a while, greatly to the annoyance of some friends of the White House. Mr. Hale was, it is understood stoutly defended by Senator Cragin, who made a most eloquent defence of his public and his private life since he has been in Spain.—Perley.

☞The Gospel Banner exposes the bad character of one Jotham S. Johnson a revivalist, who has been operating in Maine, from South Berwick to Otisfield, Mechanic Falls, &c. He disappeared from the latter place.

☞ Donn Piatt writes, "I learn that the venerable Welles, late Secretary of the Navy, had to be taken from Washington to keep him from going regularly to the department. Force of habit, you know."

New Hampshire Items.

The Manchester Mirror of the 22d has this item. Within twenty-four hours three women, in a state of intoxication, have been brought to the Marshall's office in this city. One of them came into town on the cars, drunk, another has a husband in jail, while the other drank on account of the call of friends from abroad, who "brought some whiskey with them," and subsequently "took a little beer."

Gen. Natt Head, constructor on the Suncook Railroad, has established his head quarters at Suncook, and calls for 1000 laborers. They begin to dig on Monday April 29.

The Methodist Conference at Lisbon voted unanimously to hold their next annual meeting at Nashua.

Mr. John Wesley Churchill, professor of elocution at Andover Theological Seminary, will be ordained on the 30th of this month as pastor of the First Congregational Church in Nashua. The sermon will be preached by Professor Park of Andover.

Among the graduates the present year at Dartmouth College is a colored gentleman, Mr. George Rice of Newport, R. I., a fine scholar, and much respected in the college.

Cyrus Bennett, of West Claremont, owns a three-fourths Durham bull, ten months and thirteen days old, which measures five feet in girth, and weighs 600 pounds. He also owns two Southdown lambs, six weeks old, that weigh 36 1-4 pounds each.

W. A. Holt of Goffstown killed 15 black snakes on the 18th, of an average length of four feet,—sixty feet in all.—One measured 4 feet 7 inches, and none less than three feet.

"Upper Coos" informs the Coos Republican that Mrs. Paquin, of Stratford, gave birth to a child weighing 20 lbs., one day last week,—the biggest baby yet recorded.

The Lancaster Republican of April 20 says, "An unusual amount of snow is yet upon the ground. The main lines of travel are now so far uncovered as to be passable, with much difficulty, with wheeled vehicles. On the back roads the sleighing is still good, while in the woods the snow lies from two to four feet deep. Fortunately this great mass is slowly wearing away. The run of sap for the last week has been profuse and sweet, so that the average yield of sugar is likely to be very fair. It is not considered that the spring will of necessity be very backward, as the ground is but very slightly frozen.

Hon. John D. Lyman appeared at the State House on 20th, for the first time since his fall. The injured limb has to receive the aid of crutches, and its recovery will be very slow. Mr. Lyman is looking rather thin and pale from his long confinement.

Deerfield pays a bounty of twenty cents for every woodchuck killed in that town, from April 1st to June 1st.

Hon. Josiah Stevens, who died at Manchester, Saturday, had held many important public positions, including that of Secretary of State.

J. H. Benton, Jr., of Lancaster, has been appointed the Private Secretary of Hon. Onslow Stearns. Mr. Benton is a lawyer, and served as Assistant Clerk in the Legislature last year, to the general acceptance of the members.

At Concord, the 19th, John I. Eastman shot two mallard ducks, twenty muskrats and some smaller game. The ducks are the only ones of the kind we have ever known to have been killed in those parts.

Uriel Rollins of Andover, was examined on the 19th, at Plymouth, on a charge of an attempt to murder Walter Carr of Holderness, in the latter's barn one night. Mr. R. proved that he was at home at the time of the alleged assault, and was discharged.

The waters are rising in the rivers; but in this State so far, the damages are not very heavy.

Rev. Mr. Sawin, of Manchester, has resigned his place as City Missionary, and it is proposed to carry on the work this year by a layman, or laymen.

The 1st Congregational Society, (Rev. Dr. Wallace's,) in Manchester, at their annual meeting, voted $1000 for music, and authorized the Pastor and Committee, when they see fit, to suspend the Afternoon Service and open the House in the evening, seats free to all.

Some days since a dog in Henniker got in pursuit of a fox, which ran directly towards a house, the owner of which, seeing the fox, went in for his gun, but on stepping out could find nothing of Reynard. About a week after, the fox came down stairs where he family were, and put on all the appearances of docility. He was, however, dispatched with broomsticks. It seems he had entered through a cat hole and made his way to a back chamber, where he remained concealed till starved out.

New Publications.

The Probe, is a new quarterly pamphlet of 64 pages, by Joseph Parrish, M. D. It is an inquiry into the use of stimulants and narcotics, and the evils resulting,—with methods of reform and cure. It is issued from the Sanitarium, (a refuge and hospital for the sufferers,) at Media, Penn., at $1 per year.

Packard's Monthly for May, has for its leading article A Chapter about Old Maids, by Alice Carey. The whole number is lively.

☞ While a number of persons were congregated on the principal bridge at Granby, Canada, on Wednesday evening, watching the flood, one end of the bridge gave way, precipitating eleven persons into the water. The river being very swift at this point and the water unusually high, no assistance could be rendered to the victims of the disaster, and the whole number were quickly out of sight and drowned.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞ It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "thousand and one" articles known as Patent Medicines." We, however vary from our rule in the present case, that we may call attention to the article known as "S. T.—1860—X. Plantation Bitters." We desire it understood that we do so without any solicitation or promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty towards those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and, we confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a most valuable medical compound, and to our great satisfaction accomplished the object for which they were used. 3a

Pain Paint will stop pain when Doctors fail. Facts for the Ladies.—I beg to state that I have used Wheeler & Wilson Sewing-Machine in my family sewing, fourteen years, without even the most trifling repairs, and is in so good condition that I would not exchange it for your latest number (now upwards of 350,000). One needle served me more than a year for fine sewing.

New York Mrs. Anne Warner.

An Absolute Safeguard.

Invalids, broken down in health and spirits by Chronic Dyspepsia, or suffering from the terrible exhaustion which follows the attacks of acute disease, the testimony of thousands who have been raised as by a miracle from a similar state of prostration by HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is a sure guarantee that by the same means you too may be strengthened and restored. But to those who stand in peril of epidemics, to all who, by reason of exposure, privations and uncongenial climate or unhealthy pursuits, may at any moment be stricken down, this paragraph is most particularly and emphatically addressed. You, who are thus situated, are proffered an absolute safeguard against the danger that menaces you. Tone and regulate the system with this harmless medicinal Stimulant and Alterative, and you will be forearmed against the maladies whose seeds float around you in the air unseen.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are not only a standard Tonic and Alterative throughout the United States, but they are accredited by the certificates of the most distinguished citizens of the Union, to the people of all other lands. In Canada, Australia and the West Indies, they are gradually taking the place of all other stomachics, whether native or foreign, and as surely as truth is progressive and demonstration overthrows doubt, they will eventually supersede every other Invigorant and Restorative now employed in medical practice. a21

HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA

Eradicates Eruptive and Ulcerative Diseases of the

THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect SAFETY.

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. d25

YOUNG LADIES BEWARE!

OF THE INJURIOUS EFFECTS of Face Powders and Washes. All such remedies close up the pores of the skin, and in a short time destroy the complexion. If you would have a fresh, healthy and youthful appearance, use Helmbold's Extract of Sarsaparilla. a12 2m

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "Pain Killer," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

☞ Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Call for Perry Davis' Vegetable "Pain Killer," and take none other. ☞ Sold by all druggists and grocers. a18

Brandreth's Pills vs. Bleeding.

Bleeding may give ease, because the blood lef has more room; but the ease does not last, and is followed by permanent weakness.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS relieve the circulation and give ease more surely and almost as quickly as bleeding; but Brandreth's Pills never hurt, and the good they do is permanent, because they take only what the body and blood are better without. Purgation with these pills will be found

A Universal Curative Principle.

Let the wise examine its claims to their confidence. Mrs. Hooker, of Barnstable, Mass., was cured by them of St. Vitus' Dance of fifteen years standing. Abram Van Wart was cured of internal tumor by the use of Brandreth's Pills when all other means had failed. Dr. Brandreth's office, Brandreth House, New York. Sold by all Druggists. a20

Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cents.

Thousands of children die annually of Croup.—Now, mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment in the house, you need never fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 21 years since I put up my Liniment, and I never heard of a child dying with Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cases of croup have been saved by using it, and many lives if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Colds, Swellings, Mumps, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores, and Pains in the back and chest. No one cough tried it without its praise. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full Directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists. Depot 10 Park Place, New York. a20

NOT A FEW of the worst disorders that afflict mankind arise from corruption of the blood.—Helmbold's Extract Sarsaparilla is a remedy of the utmost value. a12 2m.

Holloway's Pills as a Spring Medicine.—The moist and tepid air of Spring engenders a variety of diseases. Dyspeptics and persons of bilious habit are always unpleasantly affected by it. They feel depressed, debilitated, sluggish and lethargic. A single dose of Holloway's Pills will often work a complete and salutary change in their condition—toning the stomach, regulating the liver, bracing the nerves, and invigorating the whole animal mechanism. If the first dose does not suffice, a second or third will always produce the desired effect. Sold by all Druggists. a21

Ellis' Iron Bitters

Will enrich the blood and prevent it from becoming watery and weak, give a healthy complexion, restore the appetite, invigorate the system, and are very palatable. These bitters are recommended to all persons requiring a safe and valuable tonic, to impart tone and strength to the system, not given by Bitters merely stimulant in their effects; which, although they may possess tonic vegetable properties, cannot give the strength to the blood which the Iron Bitters will give.

HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA is the great Blood Purifier.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relaxe the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, neutralizes the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, to stop fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no tising disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. G. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1ya4

☞ The trim little Yacht, "Sancho," 7 tons, built by Messrs. Pryor & Plummer for parties in Nahant Mass., is a beautiful little craft, with all the modern conveniences, including plenty of cabin room. An hour's sail down the harbor on Friday demonstrated the fact that as a sailer the "Sancho" has no superior hereabouts and we could imagine with not a few envious feelings the cosy comfort which will be taken by the owners and their guests during their contemplated excursion along the coast the coming Summer. Who wouldn't go excursionizing in such a vessel?

☞ The inimitable Cool Burgess with his gentle (?) voice, assisted by Rollin Howard's Opera Bouffe Company, will give one of their best entertainments at the Temple this (Saturday) evening. Burgess sings "Hark! I hear an angel sing" with considerable force of delivery, and might make a good base ball umpire during the summer season. He is always greeted by an appreciative audience when he opens that mouth in Portsmouth, and we anticipate a rich treat and rare fun for the fortunates who venture within sight of the Temple stage this evening.

☞ Mr. Jas. S. Pierce of the Sagamore House, purchased a few days since in New Brunswick, two pairs of black horse, for a four-in-hand team, a noble piebald or roan horse, and a handsome English dogcart. The Sagamore stables are hard to beat on horses, taking the ponies, the old spotted pacer, and the little bay trotting mare.

Mayor Jones has recently purchased a splendid span of blacks for family driving. The trotting men are beginning to talk sport, and it is proposed for a trainer or two to be located at the Piscataqua Fair Grounds presently, to take charge of several trotters to be put in preparation there.

THE ODD FELLOWS' CELEBRATION of their Semi-Centenary Anniversary at Manchester on Monday next promises to be one of great interest to the members of the order, as well as to many of their friends who are not initiated into the mysteries of the organization. The Merchant Service,—No. V.

For one illustration of the oppressive working of the laws spoken of in my last article, I refer the reader to my previous account of the Francis P. Sage. The treatment her men had received was surely just cause for breaking their contract, and yet they were sent to prison as criminals, for taking the only possible means to bring their case before a magistrate. Had they been entitled by the law to claim their earnings and leave the ship on her arrival in Melbourne, would their brutal commander have treated them as he did? I think not; for in that case, instead of standing in that court as slaves, they would have stood there as free men, entitled to the same protection as any other laboring men,—and the knowledge that it would be so would have operated powerfully to check his savage tyranny.

A few other instances I will mention, all of which came under my own observation. An American ship, eighteen months out from the States, came into an Australian port, having for a stewardess the boatswain's wife, a young and modest-appearing woman. The captain had made dishonorable proposals to her, which she had repelled; and on arrival in this port she demanded her discharge. This the captain was not obliged to grant; but he did, and she went on shore. Her husband, the boatswain, then requested his release also, but was refused. He then asked for his wages, that he might be able to send his wife home, but was refused a single dollar. The captain, strong in his legal rights, allowed the boatswain to go to the consul for assistance, where he was told there was no remedy for him,—he must leave his wife, alone and nearly penniless, among strangers in a foreign land. In the end he ran away from the ship, leaving behind the honest earnings of eighteen months hard labor. Verily, "the laborer is worthy of his hire."

While our late war was in progress, a ship that had sailed from the States two years previously, and had been trading in the Pacific since that time, came into New Zealand. Her crew had nearly all their wages due, having received but a few dollars each since sailing; and, as men were plenty and cheap in that port, the mate set to work to "run the crew out of her," i. e., make the ship so uncomfortable that the men would desert,—without their wages, of course. With most of them this was an easy job. An absolute refusal to allow them to step on shore or to pay them a cent of their wages; hard and dirty work from daybreak till dark, in all weathers; food that was legal, but very unsatisfactory; and a constant torrent of abuse and curses, soon drove off all but two,—a Swedish seaman, and an Ohio boy of about seventeen years of age.

But the mate wasn't to be beaten; so one morning he sent the Swede over the taffrail to polish a composition rudder-pintle, allowing him only a piece of ratlin-stuff (little bigger than a stout clothes-line,) to sit in, and kept him there till noon. The torture of this was too much for the poor fellow, and at dinner time he confiscated a lighter's boat and cleared out. A month afterward I saw him, and the discolorations on his body had not wholly disappeared even then.

The boy only remained to be run out, —and run out he was. Anxious to get home, and unwilling to lose all his hard-earned money, he would not desert; so he was sent up one bitter cold, blustering, sleety day, to scrape down the royal-mast with a nail! He stopped up nearly four hours, and then crawled down, chilled and stiffened. A few days later he went to the hospital, and in less than a week was taken to the graveyard, dead, — murdered, as his shipmates had been robbed, in strict accordance with the laws of the United States.

Could these men have legally claimed their wages when earned, (even though they were not allowed to leave the ship,) there would have been no inducement for any one to "make the ship too hot for 'em," as the ship would have gained nothing by their desertion if they had carried their money away too, which they would of course have done. But America, in common with other maritime nations, has decided that the sailor has no rights which anyone is bound to respect; under her laws, which in this case evince a gloriously aristocratic disregard for the rights of the laboring classes, wrong and robbery of the working man (if he goes to sea) is encouraged and rewarded,—in proof of which I adduce the custom of "running the sailors out of the ship," which is a regular institution in our merchant service, and which custom could not exist but for our unjust, corrupt and one-sided laws, which pay the tyrant for his trouble with the money left behind by his victim.

THE HORSE DEXTER.—The control that Mr. Bonner has acquired over Dexter is truly wonderful. Those who have been acquainted with the horse would not believe in the change without seeing it. As it is well known, Dexter has always been very free with his heels. His playful moods bordered on the vicious, and he has had a fashion of lashing out somewhat savagely at those who came too close to his heels. For this reason, strangers have viewed him at a respectful distance, and trainers have handled him with the utmost caution.

Notwithstanding he was in Doble's hands so long, the driver never ventured to take any liberties with him, for it is to be presumed that a horse so strongly muscled can kick with unusual force. But Mr. Bonner is always good at experiments, and by kind and firm measures he has made himself master of the situation. On Saturday last we saw him pinch Dexter in the flanks, rub him on the inner surface of the thighs, and then wind up by crawling under him and between his legs. No one ever before dared to be so familiar with his kingship, for his playful moods were generally in the ascendancy, and at such times he was contemplating on the qui vive to land a foot in somebody's bread basket.

"You have Hamiltonized him, have you not?" we asked, as we saw Mr. B. taking these liberties with the horse. "Partially," was the brief but smiling reply. "Look at his head; see how broad he is between his eyes. Dexter is a horse of sense, and I have conquered him, not by brute force, but by appealing to his reason." A sound theory, simple and true.

When hooking him to a wagon, Dexter has always had a fashion of striking out first with one foot and then with the other, very often to the inconvenience of grooms and damage of wheels. But Mr. Bonner has thoroughly broken him of this habit. On Saturday we saw him stand like an old plough horse between the shafts while the traces were fastened. And viewing these things it occurred to us that no horse is naturally vicious—that he is made so by treatment. And when you find an animal seemingly vicious, the surest way to conquer him is by gentle measures which appeal to his understanding.

As we drove through the Park, Mr. Bonner said: "Now Mr. B., you see there is no danger in sitting behind a horse like this. A few weeks before the inauguration, you may remember that General Grant was out with me, sitting in the seat you now occupy.—Just after a brush on the lane, the General remarked in his quiet way, 'Mr. Bonner, the people do not understand Dexter. Would you believe it, I had a score or more call on me, in addition to letters received, urging me not to accept your invitation to ride behind his kingship to-day. They argued that he was a vicious horse; and tried to impress upon me the great calamity that would befall the country should I be suddenly removed from worldly strife on the eve of accepting the office of President. To all I replied, 'You do not know the horse as well as I do. I have been behind him before, and I assure you I have passed through hotter places unscathed."

"And then," continued Mr. Bonner, "I told the General that numerous gentlemen solicitous of his welfare had called upon me that morning, trying to convince me that I was endangering the peace of the country, by tempting him, the President elect, to ride behind my runaway horse Dexter. But I silenced them all with the simple argument; 'Gentlemen, I have at heart the interests of General Grant as much as any of you; did I regard a ride behind Dexter perilous, I should not ask him to share it with me. As an evidence of the confidence I repose in the horse, allow me to explain that I take out behind him my wife, the mother of my children.' But you see, Mr. B., that this is no runaway brute."

Out on the road and we were away with the speed of the wind. Three times did Mr. Bonner urge Dexter to a break that he might demonstrate to us the ease with which he could take him up. How perfect is the machinery!—What wonderful motion! No friction, but as smooth and noiseless as the most delicate and freshly-oiled machinery! How swiftly we get over the ground! It is the swoop of the lightning without the roar of the thunder. At no time were the reins tightly drawn.

Did you ever see Doble drive the marvel? Taking a firm hold on the lines the trainer would brace himself in the sulky and pull as though his life were at stake. And you could not resist the thought that should vital strength give way, should the muscles of the arms weaken, Dexter would be away, mad, terribly wicked, and uncontrollable in his might and fury.—You who have seen him in such times as this, look now and mark the contrast. The lines are loose on his back, and yet he is flying along at the top of his speed. A wave of the whip and a sharp cry and he is off his feet, apparently as angry and irresistible as the mad rush of the hurricane. Now a gentle pull on the reins and a soothing word and he has regained his stride,—a horse full of gentleness and power.

"The result of kindness and reason," smiled Mr. Bonner. "You see there is no waste of nervous force, there is no choking sensation by hard pulling on the bit; his flesh is firm, and it will not require exhausting work to prepare him for a race; his muscular development is full, and for these united reasons he should be able to trot faster than ever this summer. What do you say?" And we could only reply that the argument was sound,—that the conclusion was most plausible.—Turf, Field & Farm.

HEN-MANURE.—I have derived much benefit from the use of hen-manure on my squash and cucumber vines to keep the striped bug off. As soon as the bugs make their appearance on the vines, I get some dry hen-manure, pound it up as fine as I can, and scatter it over the vines and on the ground around and under them, and if the rain washes it off of the vines, put on some more, and keep it on them till the bugs have gone. In this way I generally save my vines, and the dressing of manure they get makes them grow finely.

My own experiments, on the farm, lead me to believe that manure prepared from the material of the hen-house is equal if not superior to the guano now in the market. I suppose it may sometimes fail to succeed because the hen-manure is not thoroughly worked into the soil, but deposited in the hill. Unless the weather is very wet, there is not sufficient moisture to make the manure soluble, so that it can be used as plant food, and be taken up by the roots. All fertilizers, I find, do better when worked well in with the soil. They then require less moisture to decompose them, and it is only when this is done that they show the greatest effect upon the plants.

Hen-manure should be composted with muck, or other rich soil, say a layer of muck and a layer of manure. It should be well turned over once a month. If bone-dust, that has been decomposed with ashes, and rendered soluble, be then mixed or composted with the hen compost, the result will be a manure exceedingly valuable for all crops, but especially corn and wheat. It will develop both the straw and the grain. I know no easier or cheaper way to a rich and valuable manure than the above.

Every farmer can, and should make such compost heaps, and keep large quantities on hand for top-dressing corn and grass lands. It should be made a year before using so as to have time to decompose thoroughly. I have used this compost on corn instead of plaster, and when the chicken manure, thus prepared, was used the crop was an eighth better than in any other part of the field on which other manures were used.

I regard hog-manure, composted, as the next best manure on corn; but when the season is very dry the manure is not taken up by the roots, it does not become plant food, and therefore produces but little effect. All fertilizers, to be most effective, should be used early in the spring, and for fall crops, sown with the grain, or broadcast. The influence of the atmosphere during the winter, converts it into plant food.—Deitz's Experimental Farm Journal.

SPRING.

A FEMININE GROWL.

Oh, fairest of seasons; oh, beautiful Spring!
What folly and nonsense about you we sing.
Mad poets with fervor continue to rave
Of the coyest coquette ever Providence gave.
Keen, cutting and fickle, now smiling, now tears,
Our hopes you but flatter, to dash them with fears.
Talk of lillies and lilacs, and emerald leaves,
Of garlands that April of bright sunshine weaves,
The shy little violets shiver and freeze
Your sunbeams are sickly, your song-birds are fled,
Your kisses would give one a cold in the head;
You are weeping, nay, howling, the most of the time,
And full of your airs, without reason or rhyme.
Mud, mire and slush, sloughs of sinking despond,
Instead of the verdure you ought to have donned.
Coughs, blowing and sneezing, cold, croup and catarrh,
Skins chafed (unbecoming a fair Christian woman)
And noses rasped sorely, quite out of the human,
With a sensitive cuticle, quivering still,
And the voice of a raven, with savage good will,
Disgusted and rampant, our tribute we fling
At the belle of the seasons—the beautiful Spring.

DANIEL FREDERICK BEAKMAN, the last surviving soldier of the Revolutionary War, died at Freedom, Cattaraugus county, New York, on the morning of April 5, at the advanced age of 109 years, 6 months. He was born in New Jersey in 1760; but when a child his parents emigrated to the Mohawk Valley, in the State of New York, where they resided during the war of the Revolution. In 1778 he was enrolled in a company commanded by one Captain Vanarnum, and took part in the skirmish of Fort Plain. He afterward did service as teamster. About the year 1828 he settled in Arcade, Wyoming county, N. Y., where he resided till 1845, when he removed to Freedom, Cattaraugus county, and remained there till his death. About six years ago he buried his wife, with whom he had lived 85 years, and who, at the time of her death, was 105 years old. A few months since his two oldest sons died, aged over 80 years. His children's children of the fourth and fifth generations were present at his funeral. Mr. Beakman had voted at every Presidential election since the organization of the Government, casting his first vote for Washington and his last for Gen. Grant.

—To get early cucumbers, the seed should be planted in a hot-bed. After the weather gets warm enough, take off the sash, and allow the vines to run over the frame, and over bushes spread around. This will give them a chance to branch out.

For a later crop, set out the plants in holes about a foot square and six inches deep. Have the soil rich and fine. As soon as the plants start, make a frame or hoop, three or four inches high, of paper boards or wood veneers, and cover with paper; newspapers will do. This will keep off the bugs until the plant gets a good start.

—The young men about town are beginning to wear blue cloth hats. With a blue hat, crimson necktie, pearl colored coat, white vest, plaid pantaloons, and fancy gaiters, a swell can make himself specially stunning, and worthy of the season.—N. Y. Atlas.

—To keep bugs from melons, pumpkins and cucumber vines, mix flour of sulphur and fine coal-dust together, sprinkle the vines with water, and dust them with this mixture. It is death to all bugs.

—A Frenchman with several assistants is conveying olive seeds and cuttings in hermetically sealed cans to Louisiana with the design of establishing the culture of that fruit there.

—The registered bonds recently stolen from the Philadelphia Savings Fund, to the amount of $500,000, have been returned by the robbers, to whom they were valueless.

—It is said that the whole population of San Domingo, from the President to the native herdsmen on the mountains, are in favor of annexation to the United States.

—The demand for bricks has been so great the past winter and spring, that there are not a thousand bricks on hand and for sale on the Kennebec River.

—The Newburyport Herald says the defalcation of the late treasurer of the James Mill has been settled without the loss of a dollar to the mill.

—The administration very appropriately appoints negroes and mulattoes to foreign missions. It means to show our colors abroad. N. Y. Atlas.

DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

Like proposals will be received every week until further notice, the Secretary's intention being to sell from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 weekly, without regard to the price it may command in the market.

President Grant is to make a visit to San Francisco before Congress meets again.

It said teat Secretary Fish will soon retire from the State Department.

THE FRESHET.—The flood in New York continues with unabated violence and the scenes of destruction are indescribable. A large number of mills and other buildings on the banks of the Black River have been swept away, and at Brownsville and Dexter very heavy losses are reported.

The State dam at the North Lake reservoir, covering about 500 acres, gave way on Wednesday night, and destroyed mills and other property amounting to $100,000.

The Connecticut River is 26 feet 8 inches above low water mark, which has been exceeded on only four occasions in seventy years. The loss to the business men will be large.

The Harvards, Trimountains, and Lowells have been challenged for a series of games by the Atlantics of Brooklyn and Unions of Lansingburgh. The games with the Atlantics will probably not be played until the middle or latter part of the season.

☞ Rev. J. C. Lovejoy has been removed from the Boston Custom House and his place has been given to Charles L. Mitchell, a member of the Massachusetts 54th Regiment, who lost a leg in the service of his country and was one of the first two colored men ever elected to the General Court.

—Grant has made a thousand appointments. The number of his disappointments is set down at one hundred thousand.—Post.

—In the recent turbulent interview at the White House, the irate representative of Kansas seems to have had the advantage of his interlocutor in politeness as well as energy of expression. The Senator told the President to "Go to hell" and the President told the Senator to "Leave the room" Ross immediately took his departure, but Grant hasn't started yet.—Atlas.

☞ It is expected that the international university boat race between the crews of Harvard and Oxford will take place on the Thames course during the last week in August.

☞ The gap between the two Pacific railways was only sixty-five miles last Thursday, and passengers had reached San Francisco in seven and a half days from Chicago.

Mr. G. Austin Weare of Sarbrook has erected in that place a new steam saw mill, driven by an engine of 30 horse power.

The Manchester Mirror of the 23d, says that a fourth drunken woman was picked up and put into the lockup on the 22d.

A child of Jed. Patterson, at Bedford, was scalded to death by falling into a kettle of hot water which was on the floor: the child was three years old.

Rev. Jacob Stevens, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died at Epping, March 27, aged 60. He was a native of the town. In 1834 he became connected with Conference and was stationed at Sandown. Later he was at Portsmouth, Dover, Northfield and other places. In 1847 his voice failed.—Afterward he traded at Epping and Newburyport. A few years ago he erected a fine dwelling at Epping.—Last season he supplied the Methodist church in Fremont.

Mr. Theophilus Norris, who died recently at Epping, had been Depot Master there since the first opening of the road in 1850. He was well known by the travelling public on this road, and by his uniform kindness and faithful attendance to business, won the confidence and esteem of those who did business with him. His age was 59.

☞ The Ladies of the Unitarian Society in Exeter, propose on May 5th, to give their Annual Festival in the form of a Matinee Lunch, at the Town Hall, at which, besides their tables of useful and fancy articles, they hope to offer their friends a tempting bill of fare. They wish to make it also a social festival, that shall afford opportunity for a pleasant reunion to those who have ever been connected with the Society, or interested in its welfare, and as they are anxious to free the new church they have just built entirely from debt, hope to see, or hear from many of their friends. Doors open from 9 o'clock A. M.. to 11 o'clock P. M.

THE PURITANS. — Some one in the New York Post arraigns a common idea as a common ignorance, and says we have in New England no claim to be descendents of the Puritans, because the Pilgrim Fathers separated of their own accord from the Established Church and formed independent church organizations, from which they were called Separatists or Independents; while the Puritans kept within the Church and endeavored to purify it from many Popish rites and Errors which the Established Church has borrowed from the Church of Rome. Hence in derision they were called Puritans.

If all New England had been settled by such Pilgrims as the Company that landed at Plymouth, there might have been more force in the above remark.

But (says Uncle Toby) the name Puritan was commonly applied in England to all who openly and professedly endeavored to Purify the Anglican Church. Some of these puritans lived and died within the pale; and some did not.

Those who went to Holland and then came and settled in Plymouth, were properly called Pilgrims; but those who came direct from England and settled the Massachusetts Colony, i. e., Salem, Boston, &c., were not then called pilgrims, but they were certainly Puritans, of the Independent stamp: earnest, decided, zealous: but far less liberal in views and feelings, than the Plymouth Pilgrims, who had passed some time in Holland, and found out that there were other Christians in the world besides themselves.

☞ The Richmond Whig does not like the course of the Northern Democracy toward the South. It says:

"They meanly appeal to a crushed, bleeding and broken hearted people to sacrifice the last feeble remnants of their political and social existence, in order that they (the Northern Democracy) may be saved from the operation of the Fifteenth Amendment. Nothing more shameful has occurred in these days of degeneracy and profligacy."

☞ A fire at Amesbury, Mass., Friday evening, destroyed the carriage shop of Jacob R. Huntington; loss $15,000; also another shop, a large house and two barns. This was the fire which occasioned the alarm in this city, Friday evening.

☞ An English philosopher has discovered that the dust of the English cities abounds with minute animalculæ, and vegetable refuse, which float in the air most thickly about five feet from the ground, i. e. about as high as men's mouths.

—To raise early beets, sow in a hot bed and transplant as soon as the soil is warm, or sow the seed as soon as the frost is out of the ground. After coming up they ought to be thinned, so as to stand a foot apart in the row. Transplant those taken out, after shortening the top and root a little.

—Beans can be planted as soon as the ground begins to warm, except lima beans, which cannot be planted earlier than corn. They do not grow until the ground is very warm.

☞ Harper's New Monthly for May, is received at Batchelder's.—A very interesting Number.

NITRO PHOSPHATE AND PURE DOUBLE DUST.

We ask attention to the following Testimonials:

Prof. Geo. H. Cook, of the New Jersey Agricultural College of New Brunswick, says: "The Double Refined Poudrette and Nitro Phosphate of Lime put us till 100 per cent. above their market value, in the increase of crops this year."

D. A. Haughton, North Hadley, Mass., says: "I used it on my Tobacco plants (where no other manure had been used for years.) They came up quick and were pronounced the best plants ever raised in this vicinity."

Danl. D. Beckwith, New London, Conn., says: "The Double Refined Poudrette is the best fertilizer I have ever used. It has lifted my Corn fine into account. The Nitro Phosphate is ahead of anything I have ever used in producing a crop without the aid of Stable manure."

Abram T. Peckham, Newport, R. I., says: "I used the Poudrette on corn, side by side with Super Phosphate, and in every case it came out ahead."

Chas. Rowland, Weston, Conn., says: "It gave the corn an early start, ripened it early and increased the yield more than sufficient to pay all expenses."

Wm. S. Sheffield, South Lynne, Conn., says he found it superior to Super Phosphate or guano. On Corn and Buckwheat it far surpassed any other manure.

Henry Ingalls, Sheffield, Vt., says: "Your Double Refined Poudrette has been tried side by side with Coe's and Bradley's X L Super Phosphate, and one or two other kinds, and it has given us good satisfaction as any. My Uncle raised two bushels of corn from four rows with manure, three bushels from four rows with Poudrette, and only one and three quarters from Bradley's X L.

An Absolute Safeguard.

Invalids, broken down in health and spirits by Chronic Dyspepsia, or suffering from the terrible exhaustion which follows the attacks of acute disease, the testimony of thousands who have been raised as by a miracle from a similar state of prostration by HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is a sure guarantee that by the same means you too may be strengthened and restored. But to those who stand in peril of epidemics, to all who, by reason of exposure, privations and uncongenial climate or unhealthy pursuits, may at any moment be stricken down, this paragraph is most particularly and emphatically addressed. You, who are thus situated, are proffered an absolute safeguard against the danger that menaces you. Tone and regulate the system with this harmless medicinal Stimulant and Alterative, and you will be forearmed against the maladies whose seeds float around you in the air unseen.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are not only a standard Tonic and Alterative throughout the United States, but they are accredited by the certificates of the most distinguished citizens of the Union, to the people of all other lands. In Canada, Australia and the West Indies, they are gradually taking the place of all other stomachics, whether native or foreign, and as surely as truth is progressive and demonstration overthrows doubt, they will eventually supersede every other invigorant and Restorative now employed in medical practice. a21

THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect SAFETY.

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one fluid ounce is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla: its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels, and also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. d25

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used in case of emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "PAIN KILLER," the name of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The effect of the Pain Killer upon those who have taken it internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

☞ Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Call for Perry Davis' Vegetable "Pain Killer," and take none other. ☞ Sold by all druggists and grocers. a18

Thousands of children die annually of Croup.—Now, mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment in the house, you need never fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 21 years since I put up my Liniment, and I never heard of a child dying with Croup where my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cases of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throats, Colic, Swellings, Mumps, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores, and Pains in the back and chest. No one once tries it who is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full Directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists. Depot 10 Park Place, New York. a29

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the sputum comes out easy; the disease gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they want to cure the cough, to stop the night sweats, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesions, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery of the thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary for invalids to see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. O. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

Philharmonic Society Meeting, Tuesday Eve.

THE STEREOPTICON.—It seems hardly necessary to remind our readers of the series of Art Exhibitions which commence to-morrow evening at the Temple, for all will remember what a furor was created some four years since, when Fallon's Stereopticon (and this is the same,) visited Portsmouth. At the close of the exhibitions in Tremont Temple, Boston, last month, Professor Cromwell received the following letter from Mr. Philbrick, Superintendent of Public Schools in that city, and as he is well known in this vicinity, we publish the letter in full:

PROF. CROMWELL: Dear sir:—I wish to thank you for the exhibition of your Stereopticon, which I have enjoyed.—It was such an Art Exhibition as I never expected to see without crossing the water. You took Rome and Florence, Venice and Milan, with their choicest Art Treasures, into Tremont Temple for our inspection. We roamed through the magnificent "Galleries of the Vatican." St. Peter's stood before us in all its unrivalled glory. The statuary seemed to be—it was—real. I feel that without a voyage to Italy, I have really seen the "Laocoon," the "Apollo," and the "Dying Gladiator." I only regret that this excellent exhibition is to leave us so soon. Very truly yours,
JOHN D. PHILBRICK.

THE PENSION AGENCY.—The Boston Advertiser's Washington special says there was something of a contest over the case of Joseph P. Morse, nominated for pension agent at Portsmouth. He was strongly endorsed by the whole delegation from this State, but opposed by General Marston, whose influence was sufficient to secure a report against his confirmation, though he would probably have been confirmed if reached.

The Journal's dispatch says that a Committee was appointed to investigate the case, and at first reported favorably to Mr. Morse. Afterwards the report was re-committed, and the committee reported unfavorably to the confirmation of Mr. Morse.

PERSONAL.—We are pleased to see that our young friend "Pug," whose headquarters are opposite the Kearsarge House, and whose principal occupation consists in making people well pleased with themselves by shining their boots for a dime,—is once more on duty after several weeks severe illness. Long may the little fellow "shine."!

☞ Messrs. E. Leveen & Co., who advertise Clothing in another column, have also a similar store in Portland, and we are informed are contemplating opening branch stores elsewhere. They have done business in this city for about ten years, and evidently to the satisfaction of their customers and the public.

THE ALARM of fire at 10 o'clock, P. M., Friday, created considerable commotion about town—brought out the Fire Department and citizens generally. It was occasioned by a brilliant illumination in a south-westerly direction, caused by the destruction of several buildings in Amesbury, Mass.

☞ An article of general interest to all who love or appreciate a good picture, will be found on our 4th page. It tells of some new and elegant Chromo oil paintings from Prang's easel or presses—for which Mr. Jos. H. Foster is the agent in this city.

DIVIDEND.—The Manchester & Lawrence Railroad will pay a dividend of 5 per cent May 1st.—Stockholders in Portsmouth and vicinity will be paid at the office of William H. Hackett, on Friday the 30th inst. only, from 10 1-2 A. M. to 3 1-2 P. M.

A GOOD RUN.—Schr. Golden Gate, Capt. Spinney, left Boston at 3 o'clock P. M., Friday, and arrived here at 11 o'clock same evening,—making the run from wharf to wharf in eight hours.

☞ The three-story brick House No. 30 State Street, lately occupied by H. F. Gerrish, Esq., was sold at auction on Saturday by William H. Hackett, for $2000, to Mr. Wm. W. Cotton.

☞ By the summer arrangement on the Eastern Railroad, there will be four through trains to Portland daily. The first two will connect at Portland with trains for Augusta.

GLAD OF IT.—Mr. J. Frank Adams of this city has been appointed Weigher and Receiver in the Constructor's Department at the Navy Yard.

☞ The various Lodges and the Encampment of Odd Fellows of this city go to Manchester by the 8 o'clock train this morning, taking with them the Cornet Band.

☞ On Thursday Hon. John Dame of this city was discharged from the Navy Yard, where he has acted of late as Foremen Blacksmith, by order of the Secretary of the Navy. Mr. Dame was the chairman of the meeting of workmen held a few days since at the Navy Yard.

THE NAVY YARD WORKMEN and others held a meeting at the Court House, Saturday evening, and organized an association for mutual protection, with Hon. John Dame for President.

☞ Paymaster Edwin Putnam is ordered to duty in this city as Purchasing Paymaster, in place of Paymaster J. N. Carpenter, detached, on the 1st of May.

☞ We hear that a negro jumped overboard from a vessel in Portsmouth harbor on Sunday and was drowned.

☞ Auctioneer Wendell sold a Velocipede on Saturday, for $26.

SPOOL COTTON.—The firm of A. T. Stewart & Co., New York, have taken the sole agency for an English article denominated "Sterling (£) Spool Cotton, six cord soft finish for sewing machines," and Messrs. C. H. Mendum & Co. have the agency for Portsmouth. A number of our citizens have had an opportunity to try it, and we venture to say they have all been well pleased with its work.

PORTSMOUTH PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.—Meeting at Mr. Tilton's Music Room, on Daniel Street, Tuesday Evening, April 27, at half-past 7 o'clock. The Executive Committee are desired to meet at a quarter past 7. E. A. JOY, Sec.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.—All four of the foreign treaties before the U. S. Senate have gone over to next winter, namely, the Darien ship canal, the St. Thomas purchase, the San Juan boundary, and Sandwich Islands reciprocity. The friends of the latter are quite confident that it would have carried the necessary two-thirds, if a vote had been reached. All the Indian treaties, some half a dozen in number, have also gone over, the committee having them in charge not being able to get a single one of them considered.

The nomination of Mr. Hutchinson of Arkansas for the Sandwich Islands mission, was reported without recommendation and laid on the table, which was equivalent to its rejection, and leaves us without a minister there.

But ten only of the Quaker appointments were confirmed, while the other nine were in one way and another killed.

THE EIGHT HOUR LAW.—Attorney-General Hoar has prepared an opinion on the question of the compensation of laborers in the navy yards under the eight hour law, substantially adopting the opinion given by Attorney General Evarts on the same subject last November. Senator Wilson has written a letter to the Secretary of War, dissenting from the official interpretation of the law.

☞ General Burnside has declined the public ovation tendered him by five thousand of the citizens of Rhode Island, and in his reply to their address he points out what he calls the "untruths" of Senator Sprague's remarks concerning Rhode Island regiments, and quotes the Senator's official speeches and letters in vindication of himself.

The Director of these Great Art Exhibitions would respectfully announce that he has made arrangements to place before the citizens of Portsmouth for the above limited period, of the same character which filled Concert Hall, Philadelphia, for three months; Irving Hall, New York, two months; and more recently, Tremont Temple, Boston, receiving from the entire press of that city the most unqualified praise, and calling forth letters of commendation from Oliver Wendell Holmes, Agassiz, Mayor Shurtleff and others.

A SERIES OF ENTERTAINMENTS

PROGRAMME.

Tuesday, the Opening Night.

SWITZERLAND and the ALPS. And in addition AMERICAN and Local Views. Also the great HURLESQUE UPON THE VELOCIPEDE, received at Tremont Temple with shouts of laughter, illustrating its ups and downs, its ins and outs, and its tragical end.

The Director will retain here his popular scale of prices, which has helped to make the exhibition so successful elsewhere.

Reserved Seats 40 cents.

MATINEE

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, MAY 1ST, WITH PROGRAMME DIFFERENT FROM THOSE IN THE EVENING.

PRANG'S LATEST CHROMOS.

We subjoin a brief description of "The Crown of New England," "Harvest," "The Doctor," and Bricher's "Spring" and "Autumn," as they have just been published.

THE CROWN OF NEW ENGLAND.—(Mount Washington.) This is one of the most famous landscape paintings of modern American art. It was produced by George L. Brown, one of the greatest of living painters of Italian scenery, on his return from Europe in 1860; and it was only the second American subject that had come from his easel for a quarter of a century. The first of these American paintings was "The Bay of New York," which was purchased by the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher and other eminent citizens of the metropolis, and presented to the Prince of Wales on his visit to the United States. "The Crown of New England" was painted as a companion picture to it. His Royal Highness was so delighted with his gift, that he purchased "The Crown of New England" for £1,000 sterling; and both of these fine productions now adorn the royal galleries of our mother-country. Last year, Mr. Brown made duplicates of both of these paintings, which have been exhibited in Boston.

We subjoin an extract from the art criticism of "The Boston Commonwealth," called out by the original painting. We have no notices of the chromo, for the reason that it is just preparing for the trade. Mr. Brown, however, is satisfied with it as a faithful reproduction of his work. We may add that it has cost a great deal of thought and expense to issue this chromo. It is the most elaborate of all Prang's publications so far, and owing to Mr. Brown's peculiarities of style, which are most difficult to reproduce, it took nearly six months to prepare the twenty-eight plates employed.

The Commonwealth said, — "This duplicate of the Crown of New England shows a decided increase of power since the original painting was made. It is far superior to the prince's picture, both as regards tone, color, and chiaroscuro; and in our judgment it is the artist's chef d'œuvre.

"It is a view of Mounts Washington, Jefferson, and Adams at early morning, late in October, and after the first fall of snow. Nature in the valley is clad in all the gorgeous glow of its autumnal robes. Mount Washington is seen capped with snow; while the sides of the mountains to the right are wrapped in the deep cool shades of night, just as the first rays of sunshine begin to penetrate them.

"What impresses the specator in this beautiful and masterly production, is the brilliancy of its coloring, the breadth of its light and shade, the careful study of details as exhibited in the modelling of the mountains, and the glow and transparency of the sky,—a specialty in which Mr. Brown pre-eminently excels. The luminosity and atmospheric depth of his skies, indeed, remind one of Claude and Turner. Mr. Brown is acknowledged to be one of the ablest disciples of the great English painter, although he was the favorite pupil of Eugene Isabey, the celebrated marine artist of France.

"The illuminated atmosphere, bathed in the rays of the warm morning sun, and which gradually loses itself in the cool mists and vapors of the morning shadows until it is merged in the darkness of the ravines, is one of the most striking effects and successes that we have ever witnessed in the works of our American landscape painters. It shows that Mr. Brown has fully fulfilled the prophecy of Washington Allston, written twenty years ago, when he said, that, if the young painter had the privilege of studying in Europe, he would rise to the very first rank of American landscape painters.

"The Crown of New England" will repay the closest study. We have seen it in different stages of its progress during the past year (for it has been on the easel an entire year), and we have never failed to discover new beauties in it, or to wonder at the conscientious fidelity which the artist has carried into the minutest details of the painting."

HARVEST.—This is a view, taken at North Conway in the White Mountains, from the easel of B. B. G. Stone of Catskill, N. Y. It is one of those cheerful bits of landscape which seem to touch a chord in every heart by their quiet, home-like beauty, and the pleasant memories they invoke. A mountain in the background; a field of gathered sheaves of corn, with unpicked pumpkins lying on the ground; a cottage; a woodshed; and a cluster of trees clad in the gorgeous foliage of autumn,—such are the simple elements of one of the prettiest pictures on our list, and one of the most popular landscapes pieces that we have hitherto published.

THE DOCTOR.—Is a genre painting by Mr. Henry Bacon, a Boston artist, who has been studying in Paris for several years past. It represents a little boy feeding a sick pet cat with a large wooden spoon. He is sitting on the ground in front of a barrel, which is doing service as a kennel, and from which the head of a dog peers out. The subject is finely treated; the drawing and coloring are both good; and the contrast of expressions—the dejected look of the cat, the anxious aspect of the young doctor, and the wide-awake face of the dog—is admirably managed.

"SPRING" AND "AUTUMN."—These are two companion pictures after A. T. Bricher, whose "Esopus Creek" and "Autumn in the White Mountains" have been so popular as reproduced in chromo by Mr. Prang.

Spring is made real to us by a group of trees in early foliage (the fruit-trees being full of fragrant blossoms), by a distant view of the warm blue sea, by a quiet homestead, and a rich green lawn, where young children are picking sweet flowers, and near which a stream of pellucid water runs, in whose depths the adjacent grove is vividly mirrored.

Autumnal views are this artist's specialty; and this picture "Autumn" is one of his best efforts. In the distance, mountains hidden in hazy mist; in the foreground, trees, a lake, a man in a canoe, and girls a-berrying; yet these simple and familiar subjects make quite a charming pitcture, characteristic alike of the season and the painter.

☞ The New York Herald says, after alluding to every other "explanation" of the loss of Connecticut to the Democrats:

The democracy of Connecticut, with the party generally elsewhere, were knocked in the head by the Tammany convention of last July. The Tammany ticket of Seymour and Blair, and the Tammany platform, against General Grant, did the business for Connecticut last November, and these late results are but a re-affirmation of that popular verdict, negro question and all. In a word, the democratic party, on its old issues and old party dogmas, is defunct, and it needs some new and powerful galvanic batteries to bring it into life again. English has only been the last to go out with the ebb tide.

CORN should never be planted till the ground is dry and warm. If planted in cold, wet ground it will come up if at all, yellow and spindling, and will be slow in taking on a thrifty growth. It had better be planted late than in a soil an unsuitable state. There is often much complaint that sweet corn will not come up. This is owing to the fact that much of it is not well ripened.—Sweet corn for seed should be gathered early, and hung up in tresses in the sun till it is thoroughly dried. It should be lightly covered in a dry, warm soil, or much of it will rot before it germinates. Sweet corn contains but little oil. It takes in water rapidly, and when there is not sufficient heat in the soil it is apt to decay. Good management will often avoid the vexation of failure.—N. E. Farmer.

AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING, —AND— SEWING MACHINE! H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street, Agent for Portsmouth and vicinity.

The Reasons Why

This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do—the finest of sewing, hemming, felling, cording, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.

2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, as by hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)

3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine can.)

4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)

5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "over and over." (No other Machine can do it.)

Caution.

We would hereby warn the Public against all bogus advertisements of Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.

This Machine is for sale only at our establishment, 27 Market Street, where we cordially invite the Public to Call and Examine for themselves, and be convinced that this is the Best and Cheapest Machine for any family.

N. B.—All Machines are Warranted for one year. Instruction given at the home of purchaser free. Persons buying this Machine never wish to exchange for any other.

Why Land is Ploughed.

I have fully conceded that deep ploughing is not everywhere requisite. Now let me show where and why it is needed:—

1. It has been abundantly demonstrated that roots of plants are often found at a distance of several feet from the stem. Any of us may have seen that this is as true of Indian corn as of the Canada thistle. With a microscope and due patience the roots of wheat may be traced from four to six feet. Of course these roots seek nourishment and find it. Nature, in the broad view, makes no abortive, at least no wanton effort. Roots wander in search of food not otherwise to be found.

2. Our subsoils are generally compact and repellant. Wherever a ditcher would naturally use a pick, there few roots can make their way except very slowly and by wasting effort. Few or no cereals or edible roots can feed and flourish on the penetration of such subsoils. And while our sands and looser gravels are more easily traversed, they seldom contain the plant-food whereof the roots are in search. They either remain unpenetrated, or the effort is unrewarded by any gain of nutrition to the plant.

3. Our summers and autumns are often persistently hot and dry. The continuously torrid suns, which this year destroyed half the later crops of Europe are here encountered as often as every third year. Drought is one of the foremost causes of the failure of our crops. Our ancestors mainly migrated hither from the British Isles, from Holland, and the coast of Northern and Western Europe, where humidity is the rule, protracted drought the exception Sixteen inches of soil in our climate is hardly equal, as an antidote to drought, to six inches in Ireland and Holland. And yet the best farmers of those countries agreed in commending deeper ploughing.

4. What we advocate is not the burying of the vegetable mould or natural surface sod under several inches of cold, lifeless clay, sand or gravel. If the subsoil is not to be enriched, it may better remain a subsoil. But that does not prove that it ought not to be lifted, stirred, aerated, pulverized. The right thing to do is to enrich as well as mellow and aerate the entire soil to the depth of fully eighteen inches, though twelve may answer as a beginning. Use a Michigan or a subsoil plough, if you will, and keep the various strata where nature placed them. But give your plants, like your cattle, a chance to reach food and drink at all times. Let down the bars that would keep them from the life-giving springs.

5. Plants look to the soil for (1) anchorage; (2) moisture; (3) most of their food. If they cannot find these more certainly in 12 to 18 inches of soil than 6, then reason is a fool, mathematics a conjectural science, and a farmer should not prefer a balance in bank to his credit of $600 to one of $100.

6. We are told that the roots prefer to run near the surface, loving the warmth of the sun. Let them run there, then: we do not hinder them. Make the soil rich as well as deep, and let them run near the surface for warmth and descend for moisture, or both, as they shall see fit. We proffer them freedom of choice. If a wet season attracts them to the surface, a dry one must constrain them to dive for moisture. It is our duty so to provide that they may flourish, however wayward the season.

7. I have a steep hillside, which I choose to cultivate, the soil being warm and kind. Plough this six inches deep, and the first hard shower sweeps its soil by cartloads into the brook below, where it is useless. Plough it twice as deep, and not a peck of soil will be flooded off in a lifetime.

8. In a wet season deep ploughing does, at the worst, no harm. In a dry season it doubles the crop.

9. Unless a small army is more effective than a large one, an empty pocket-book better than a full one, a lean crop preferable to a large one, then a deep soil must be more productive than a shallow one.—[Horace Greeley.

—A New Orleans woman had her married eloping daughter and unwelcome son-in-law brought before the Recorder for separation. She was informed that it couldn't be done. The old lady surveyed the happy couple for a moment, and then shaking her head disconsolately, said: "Judge, that girl aint fit to be married, she has spells!" "Has what?" exclaimed the Judge.—"Why, you see, Judge"—but before the lady could proceed, the daughter sprung to her feet and said: "Mother, there aint no use in saying any more; I'm married, and if I aint fit. I'd like to see the girl who is!"

E. B. Philbrick also has been at work putting an addition to the Dalton House, also a piazza in front, and will have rooms for 12 or 15 more persons than last year.

Moses C. Philbrick is enlarging and improving his house, so that he will be able to accommodate quite a number of boarders.

DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had lasted ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

RYE, April 26.

Editors Chronicle: The Atlantic House caught fire, last Thursday morning, on the roof (probably from cinders from a chimney,) and had it not been discovered before it had made much headway it is probable that both the Atlantic and Farragut Houses with the two cottages, Stables and other buildings would have been all swept away. As it was with a strong north west wind blowing, at the time it was Providential that it was discovered in season to prevent a disastrous conflagration, and had it not been that there was quite a number of men employed at the Farragut House, who at the alarm seized buckets of water and rushed to the roof of the Atlantic and by their timely and unceasing effort got control of the flames, everything would in a few minutes have been at their mercy. As it is the damage done amounts to about $100. Considerable being caused by water.

☞ At New York, the crew of ship Richard Robinson, have entered complaints against the captain, Wm. H. Robinson, and Richard Hoffman, the chief mate, of shocking cruelty on her last trip from Liverpool. Two of the crew were so badly beaten that they jumped overboard near Hollyhead and one of them was lost. The captain's wife was on board and exercised considerable influence for good over the captain when he was sober, and finally, finding him getting drunker every day and consequently more cruel, she threw overboard all the spirits. A suit has been commenced against the officers.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

I. O. of O. F.—The fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of Odd Fellowship in this country was duly celebrated at Manchester on Monday. Strawberry Bank Encampment of Portsmouth, and Piscataqua, New Hampshire and Osgood Lodges took the early morning train for Manchester, headed by the Portsmouth Cornet Band and marshalled by Messrs. Moses H. Tilton and Andrew J. Sides. About 175 men were in the ranks and as they passed up Congress Street to the inspiriting air of "Capt. Jinks" they made a fine appearance. The day was all that could be wished and the excursionists had a jolly time.

Arrived at Manchester they were taken in charge by Wonolanset Encampment of that city and Wildey, Mechanics and Hillsborough Lodges, partook of a bountiful collation at Smyth's Hall, marched in procession about the principal streets and were afterwards feasted and toasted. In the evening the brethren attended a Levee at Smyth's Hall which wound up at a late (or rather, early) hour, long after the Portsmouth brethren had taken the midnight special train for Portsmouth. Of course they had a good time, as the Brothers always enjoy themselves and the Manchester people are proverbially wholesouled and never do things by halves.

THE STEREOPTICON TO-NIGHT.—There are very few who do not desire to see the wondrous scenery of the Old World, but the number who can make the "Grand Tour" is necessarily limited. It is however brought to our very doors by the medium of the Stereopticon as the recent letter which we give below from the "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" indicates. The letter is in the Dr's. usual quaint and pithy style.

I attended the exhibition of the Stereopticon, and derived so much pleasure from it that I wish others to know what enjoyment it offers them. To sit in the darkness and have these visions of strange cities, of stately edifices, of lovely scenery, of noble statues, steal out upon the consciousness and melt away one with another, is like dreaming a long beautiful dream with eyes wide open. A journey by Stereopticon is the Grand Tour, minus the passport and the bills of exchange, the voyage and its accidents, the tavern keeper's reckoning, the swoop of the custom-house officer, the incubus of the Cicerone, the tables, a look at which gives appetite its quietus, and the beds which are cities of refuge to all the murderers of sleep. I wish all success to your exhibition, which children in arms are hardly too young to find delight in, while their parents and grand parents look on with equal pleasure.

Yours truly, O. W. HOLMES.

SOUTH PARISH.—The Annual Meeting of the Unitarian Parish was held at the Church on Monday afternoon; being called to order by Jos. H. Foster, clerk for the past five years. A. W. Haven was chosen Moderator; and (Mr. Foster declining re-election,) J. F. Shores jr., Clerk for the ensuing year. Alfred M. Hoyt. John S. Pray, John T. French, Benj F. Webster, and Jos. A. Grace were elected Wardens.

The Appropriations for the year amount to $5380, of which $2,500 for Pastor's salary, $150 for supplies of pulpit, and $100 for special supply during his late sickness. For Music $800 was appropriated, though $1350 was suggested as necessary, as the members of the Choir all call for higher pay. This sum is about the same as last year, when about $300 more was made up by private subscription for music.

It was stated in the Clerk's report that several of the most wealthy parishioners refuse to pay their taxes, in whole or in part, and that about $700 remains thus uncollected. Toward payment of the debt, $750 was appropriated. For sexton $200, fuel $205, &c.

NAVAL.—Paymaster J. N. Carpenter is ordered to settle his accounts.

Naval Constructor Edward Hartt is detached from Charlestown Yard, and ordered to the Mare Island Yard.

☞ We understand that Paymaster Edwin S. Putnam, ordered to relieve Paymaster Mr. Carpenter as Purchasing Paymaster, is a brother to Hon. William L. Putnam, the live young Mayor of Portland.

☞ Uncle Toby's advice to Senators Sprague and Abbott would be, if suffered to advise such Honorable men,—not to scold nor fight like the fish-women at Billingsgate, "but to watch and be sober!"

☞ On Friday, a lady whose 100th birthday occurred on the previous Tuesday, died at Middleton, Mass.—going down to the grave "like a shock of corn fully ripe."

New Publications.

The Phrenological Journal for May, has a portrait and sketch of Mr. Gladstone, the British Premier.

The Little Corporal for May has the most life like stories for the juveniles.

—Sow celery in hot beds during April and May. As soon as plants about four inches, high transplant into a very rich soil. For a late crop sow in a moist, warm soil, shaded a little at first. When about four inches high, trim the tops to two inches, transplant into a rich, deep soil, making the rows about four feet apart, with a trench eight inches deep between them. Plant about a foot apart. For blanching, fill up the earth around the plant, leaving about two inches above the soil.

—A Character which combines the love of enjoyment with the love of duty, and the ability to perform whatever belongs to its province in life, is the one whose unfoldings give the greatest promise of perfection. Such a character, though poor by original organization, may be approximated to by earnest culture.—Phrenological Journal.

—It is stated by those who have had good opportunities for observation that there is a very large amount of cotton still left in the interior of Texas that may be expected soon to be sent to market.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞ It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "thousand and one" articles known as Patent Medicines." We, however vary from our rule in the present case, that we may call attention to the article known as "S. T.—1860—X. Plantation Bitters." We desire it understood that we do so without any solicitation or promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty towards those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and, we confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a most valuable medical compound, and to our great satisfaction accomplished the object for which they were used. 3a

☞ The anxiety begotten by the presence of bonds, deeds, mortgages, large quantities of plate, diamonds, jewelry, and other portable valuables in private residences, is hardly allayed by placing them in a bank, where (if at all) they are received only on sufferance. It is wholly removed, however, by the renting of a safe in the UNION SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS, 3 State street, Boston, where every conceivable safe-guard is taken against loss by theft or fire. The leading bankers are unanimous in their approval of this great depository for all such treasures. Interest and dividends on bonds and stocks are also collected and transmitted. "FATAL NECESSITY IS NEVER KNOWN UNTIL IT STRIKES."—People rarely appreciate the necessity of an effective hair preparation, such as "Barrett's Vegetable Hair Restorative" until old age or disease renders them bald. FACTS FOR THE LADIES.—I have used my Wheeler & Wilson Sewing-Machine, for the last twelve years, and it had already been in use two years when I bought it. I have had it doing all kinds of shop-work from seven in the morning until six and sometimes ten o'clock at night, continually going. I have never sent it for repairs, and I think it is now in as good order as when it came out of your store, and I would not exchange it for any other machine.

An Absolute Safeguard.

Invalids, broken down in health and spirits by Chronic Dyspepsia, or suffering from the terrible exhaustion which follows the attacks of acute disease, the testimony of thousands who have been raised as by a miracle from a similar state of prostration by HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, is a sure guarantee that by the same means you too may be strengthened and restored. But to those who stand in peril of epidemics, to all who, by reason of exposure, privations and uncongenial climate or unhealthy pursuits, may at any moment be stricken down, this paragraph is most particularly and emphatically addressed. You, who are thus situated, are proffered an absolute safeguard against the danger that menaces you. Tone and regulate the system with this harmless medicinal Stimulant and Alterative, and you will be forearmed against the maladies whose seeds float around you in the air unseen.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are not only a standard Tonic and Alterative throughout the United States, but they are accredited by the certificates of the most distinguished citizens of the Union, to the people of all other lands. In Canada, Australia and the West Indies, they are gradually taking the place of all other stomachics, whether native or foreign, and as surely as truth is progressive and demonstration overthrows doubt, they will eventually supersede every other Invigorant and Restorative now employed in medical practice. a21

ERADICATES ERUPTIVE AND ULCERATIVE DISEASES OF THE

THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect SAFETY.

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale.

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "PAIN KILLER," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

☞ Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Call for Perry Davis' Vegetable "Pain Killer," and take none other. ☞ Sold by all druggists and grocers. a18

Thousands of children die annually of Croup.—Now, mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment in the house, you need never fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. Beside which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throats, Colic, Swellings, Bruises, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Sprains, Old Sores, and Pains in the back and chest. SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration; when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Cankerous or Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles or abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of the food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets healthy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfect-ly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the special medical advice of his sister, his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 22 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 85 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

From the Portsmouth Journal.

CITY PARK.—We have had our say on this subject, and do not think we could edify our readers with continued discussion with the Chronicle as to whether the Elwyn field is in a desirable location for a park, whether it commands a flattering view of our city, or whether there is any disgraceable odor from the South Mill pond, (which is the cesspool of the South part of the city) in midsummer days when the tide runs out. These are questions of taste, to be decided by individual observation, and not by newspaper controversy. Our neighbor "F." says he has "deliberated and discussed this matter for a dozen or more years," and yet the Common is not achieved, while some are ill-natured enough to declare he has made the subject wearisome. As we have said before, we are in favor of a park or any other improvements of the city that may be made by private enterprise or with judicious help from the city treasury: we only object to a compulsory tax on those who could not be benefited, for the gratification of the few who have residences or lands in the vicinity.

Reply.—We have read the Portsmouth Journal more or less for several years, and the above we think is the most mournful, if not the most unfair item we ever saw in its columns. We agree with the editor or writer in the Journal, that its remarks cannot be very edifying to its readers; and it is altogether beyond our comprehension, what started him out in opposition to and condemnation of a project which everybody for two generations has approved and desired consummated, and which at last actually seems promising to be entered upon.

As to the location—we never heard any other proposed or desired in the city; and those who have travelled and seen most, have always been loudest in its praise. The objections of the Journal, except as to the cost, are either imagined or invented by the writer, for they have obviously no existence in fact. And even if some salt flats do smell strong, the odor is not so rank as his offence, which verily smells to heaven. And as to the thing not being done in a moment, this was not to be expected, nor is it desired to begin until fully discussed; nor would it ever be begun, in this locality or any other, unless some people were possessed of more enterprise and public spirit than others. No doubt the slows, who neither desire nor are willing for any improvements that cost a cent, may be wearied with any propositions for a movement in that direction; but nine-tenths of the live men, and women too, in the city, are weary of waiting for the Common, and indignant at the absurd and ineffectual opposition of the Journal writer, and those who use such arguments as he.

The last sentence of the article is intended to be very severe and cutting, but it is only outrageously mean and absurdly false. Like many others we know of, this writer in "favor of a Park or other improvements" in general, but never ready to approve or assist any project really feasible and actually in hand. Those best qualified to judge, feel sure that with the thing fairly started, contributions at home and abroad, to a very large amount, would speedily be gathered; and the City is only asked to publicly endorse and approve the plan, and make a small appropriation, and that only conditionally on private subscriptions being collected to like amount,—without which the project would and should be allowed to drop, and no compulsory tax laid on anybody, even though it could not fail to benefit them far more than the cost. For with $100,000 well laid out, chiefly in home labor, on a Common, in ten or forty years,—one-half of it or more say coming from abroad, as it undoubtedly would, and not more than $5,000 or $10,000, if half so much, designed or desired to be appropriated by the City,—we should like to know if every citizen would not be benefitted directly, more than his cost?

And this is the plan, not of any one man, visionary schemer or selfishly interested speculator; but is the deliberate conclusion arrived at by four or five gentlemen, all of more or less means and taxable property themselves, and some experience in business and ornamental matters. And as to interested location and neighborhood advantage, the member of the Board of Trustees who perhaps did more than any other one man to finally secure the very desirable and much-coveted grant of land for the Common, was Mr. H. M. Clark, who we think does not reside or own land very near, and we believe is not generally regarded as being especially selfish or lacking good taste or public spirit. Such remarks as the Journal's must be considered very encouraging and complimentary by him and his companions, who are working solely for the public good; and their chief cause of dissatisfaction might naturally be, that even those who oppose, will share alike in the benefits of the enterprise when successful, with those who work in spite of stupid opposition. FIVE NIGHTS ONLY, AND SATURDAY AFTERNOON.
Grand Opening Night,
TUESDAY, APRIL 27TH, 1869.

Cromwell's Original and Only

STEREOPTICON!

The Director of these Great Art Exhibitions would respectfully announce that he has made arrangements to place before the citizens of Portsmouth for the above limited period, of the same character which filled Concert Hall, Philadelphia, for three months; Irving Hall, New York, two months; and more recently, Tremont Temple, Boston, receiving from the entire press of that city the most unqualified praise, and calling forth letters of commendation from Oliver Wendell Holmes, Agassiz, Mayor Shurtleff and others.

A SERIES OF ENTERTAINMENTS

PROGRAMME.

Tuesday, the Opening Night.

SWITZERLAND and the ALPS. And in addition AMERICAN and Local Views. Also the great BURLESQUE UPON THE VELOCIPEDE, received at Tremont Temple with shouts of laughter, illustrating its ups and downs, its ins and outs, and its tragical end.

The Director will retain here his popular scale of prices, which has helped to make the exhibition so successful elsewhere.
Single Tickets 25 cents. Package of Five $1.
Reserved Seats 50 cents.

MATINEE

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, MAY 1ST,
WITH PROGRAMME DIFFERENT FROM THOSE IN THE EVENING.
Admission, Matinee, 20 cents.

The Director trusts that this Stereopticon will not be confounded with the various imitations which during the last few years have been palmed off upon the public, some stealing even our copyrighted name and the testimonials which have only been given to the FALLON STEREOPTICON. a26 2t

THE BOX TUNNEL.

BY CHARLES READE.

The 10.15 train glided from Paddington, May 7, 1847. In the left compartment of a certain first-class carriage were four passengers; of these, two were worth description. The lady had a smooth, white, delicate brow, strongly marked eyebrows, long lashes, eyes that seemed to change color, and a good-sized delicious mouth, with teeth as white as milk. A man could not see her nose for her eyes and mouth; her own sex could and would have told us some nonsense about it. She wore an unpretending grayish dress, buttoned to the throat, with lozenge-shaped button, and a Scotch shawl that agreeably evaded the responsibility of color. She was like a duck, so tight her plain feathers fitted her; and there she sat, smooth, snug, and delicious, with a book in her hand und a soupcon of her snowy wrist just visible as she held it.

Her opposite neighbor was what I call a good style of man,—the more to his credit, since he belonged to a corporation that frequently turns out the worst possible style of young man. He was a cavalry officer, aged twenty-five. He had a moustache, but not a repulsive one; not one of those sub-nasal pigtails, on which soup is suspended like dew on a shrub; it was short, thick, and black as a coal. His teeth had not yet been turned by tobacco-smoke to the color of tobacco-juice, his clothes did not stick to or hang on him, they sat on him; he had an engaging smile, and, what I liked the dog for, his vanity, which was inordinate, was in the right place, his heart, not in his face, jostling mine and other people's, who have none:—in a word, he was what one oftener hears of than sees, a young gentleman. He was conversing in an animated whisper with a companion, a fellow-officer,—they were talking about, what is far better not to do, women. Our friend clearly did not want to be overheard, for he cast, ever and anon, a furtive glance at his fair vis-a-vis and lowered his voice.

She seemed completely absorbed in her book, and that reassured him. At last the two soldiers came down to a whisper, and in that whisper (the truth must be told) the one who got down at Slough, and was lost to posterity, bet ten pounds to three that he who was going down with us to Bath and immortality would not kiss either of the ladies opposite upon the road. "Done! done!" Now I am sorry that a man I have hitherto praised should have lent himself, even in a whisper, to such a speculation; but "nobody is wise at all hours," not even when the clock is striking five-and-twenty; and you are to consider his profession, his good looks, and the temptation,—ten to three.

After Slough the party was reduced to three: at Twyford one lady dropped her handkerchief; Captain Dolignan fell on it like a tiger and returned it like a lamb; two or three words were interchanged on that occasion. At Reading the Marlborough of our tale made one of the safe investments of that day; he bought a Times and a Punch; the latter was full of steel-pen thrusts and wood-cuts. Valor and beauty delighed to laugh at some inflated humbug or other punctured by Mr. Punch. Now laughing together thaws human ice; long before Swindon it was a talking match,—at Swindon, who so devoted as Captain Dolignan,—he handed them out,—he souped them,—he tough-chickened them,—he brandied and cochinealed* one, and he brandied and burnt-sugared the other; on their return to the carriage, one lady passed into the inner compartment to inspect a certain gentleman's seat on that side of the line.

Reader, had it been you or I, the beauty would have been the deserter, the average one would have stayed with us till all was blue, ourselves included: not more surely does our slice of bread and butter, when it escapes from our hand, revolve it never so often, alight face downward on the carpet. But this was a bit of a fop, Adonis, dragoon, — so Venus remained in tete-a-tete with him. You have seen a dog meet an unknown female of his species; how handsome, how empressé, how expressive he became; such was Dolignan after Swindon, and to do the dog justice, he got handsomer and handsomer; and you have seen a cat conscious of approaching cream, such was Miss Haythorn; she became demurer and demurer; presently our Captain looked out of the window and laughed; this elicited an enquiring look from Miss Haythorn. "We are only a mile from the box tunnel." "Do you always laugh at a box tunnel?" said the lady.

"Invariably."

"What for?"

"Why! hem! it's a gentleman's joke."

"O, I don't mind its being silly, if it makes me laugh." Captain Dolignan, thus encouraged, recounted to Miss Haythorn the following: "A lady and her husband sat together going through the Box Tunnel—there was one gentleman opposite; it was pitch-dark; after the Tunnel the lady said, 'George, how absurd of you to salute me going thro' the Tunnel!'—'I did no such thing!'—'You didn't?'—'No! Why?'—'Why, because somehow I thought you did!'" Here Captain Dolignan laughed, and endeavored to lead his companion to laugh, but it was not to be done. The train entered the Tunnel.

Miss Haythorn. "Ah!"

Dolignan. "What is the matter?"

Miss Haythorn. "I am frightened."

Dolignan (moving to her side). — "Pray do not be alarmed, I am near you."

Miss Haythorn. "You are near me, very near me indeed, Captain Dolignan."

Dolignan. "You know my name!"

Miss Haythorn. "I heard your friend mention it. I wish we were out of this dark place."

Miss Haythorn. "Nonsense!"

Dolignan. "Pweep!" (Grave reader, do not put your lips to the cheek of the next pretty creature you meet, or you will understand what this means.)

Miss Haythorn. "Ee! Ee! Ee!"

Friend. "What's the matter?"

Miss Haythorn. "Open the door!—open the door!"

There was a sound of hurried whispers, the door was shut and the blind pulled down with hostile sharpness.

If any critic falls on me for putting inarticulate sounds in a dialogue as above, I answer with all the insolence I can command at present, "Hit boys as big as yourself," bigger, perhaps, such as Sophocles, Euripides, and Aristophanes; they began it, and I learned it of them, sore against my will.

Miss Haythorn's scream lost a part of its effect because the engine whistled forty thousand murders at the same moment; and fictitious grief makes itself heard when real cannot.

Between the Tunnel and Bath our young friend had time to ask himself whether his conduct had been marked by that delicate reserve which is supposed to distinguish the perfect gentleman.

With a long face, real or feigned, he held open the door,—his late friend attempted to escape on the other side,—impossible! they must pass him. She whom he had insulted (Latin for kissed) deposited somewhere at his foot a look of gentle, blushing reproach; the other, whom he had not insulted, darted red-hot daggers at him from her eyes, and so they parted.

It was, perhaps, fortunate for Dolignan that he had the grace to be friends with Major Hoskyns of his regiment, a veteran laughed at by the youngsters, for the Major was too apt to look coldly upon billiard balls and cigars; he had seen cannon balls and linstocks. He had also, to tell the truth, swallowed a good bit of the mess-room poker, but with it some sort of moral poker, which made it as impossible for Major Hoskyns to descend to an ungentlemanly word or action as to brush his own trowsers below the knee.

Captain Dolignan told this gentleman his story in gleeful accents; but Major Hoskyns heard him coldly, and as coldly answered that he had known a man lose his life for the same thing. "That is nothing," continued the major, "but unfortunately he deserved to lose it."

At this the blood mounted to the young man's temples, and his senior added: "I mean to say he was thirty-five; you, I presume, are twenty-one."

"Twenty-five."

"That is much the same thing; will you be advised by me?"

"If you will advise me."

"Speak to no one of this, and send White the £3 that he may think you have lost the bet."

"That is hard when I won it."

"Do it for all that, sir."

Let the disbelievers in human perceptibility know that this dragoon capable of a blush did this virtuous action, and it with violent reluctance; and this was his first damper. A week after these events he was at a ball. He was in that factitious state of discontent which belongs to us amiable English. He was looking, in vain, for a lady, equal in personal attractions to the idea he had formed of George Dolignan as a man, when suddenly there glided past him a most delightful vision! a lady whose beauty and symmetry took him by the eyes,—another look; "It can't be!—Yes, it is!" Miss Haythorn! (not that he knew her name!) but what an apotheosis!

Concluded To-morrow.

* This is supposed to allude to two decoctions called port and sherry, and imagined by one earthly nation to partake of a vinous nature.

YOUTH AND AGE.

I often think each tottering form
That limps along in life's decline,
Once bore a heart as young, as warm,
As full of idle thoughts as mine!
And each has had its dream of joy,
His own unequal'd pure romance,
Commencing when the laughing boy
First thrills at woman's lovely glance.

And each could tell his tale of youth,
Would think its scenes of love evince
More passions, more an earthly truth,
Than any tale before or since.
Yes! they could tell of tender lays
At midnight penned in classic shades,
Of days more bright than modern days,
Of maids more fair than modern maids.

Of whispers in a willing ear,
Of kisses on a blushing cheek,
Each kiss, each whisper, far too dear,
For modern lips to give or speak.
Of passions too untimely crossed;
Or passions slighted or betrayed—
Of kindred spirits early lost,
And buds that blossomed but to fade.

Of beaming eyes and tresses gay,
Elastic forms and noble brow,
And forms that have all passed away
And left them what we see them now!
And is it thus—is human love
So very light and frail a thing?
And must youth's brightest visions move
Forever on Time's restless wing?

Must all the eyes that still are bright,
And all the lips that talk of bliss,
And all the forms so fair to sight,
Hereafter only come to this?
Then what are earth's best visions worth
If we at length must lose them thus?
If all we value most on earth
Ere long must fade away from us?

A SPORTING CONGRESS. * * Congress does not yet adjourn to attend the Jerome Park races. But there is an extensive and constantly increasing community of horsemen in this country, and that the better kind of sporting sentiment is on the increase, an event soon to take place in this vicinity very forcibly indicates. Such a superior exhibition as the Boston Trotting Association proposes at Mystic Park for the middle of June next, will be an attraction in which not Boston merely, but the whole country, will take a just pride. The gentlemen upon whom the responsibility falls, are an ample guarantee of the elevated character of the meet.

When such men, in conjunction with, and indeed acting for, the Boston Trotting Association, assume the regulation of turf matters, the public may be assured of the absence of every questionable accompaniment and surrounding. Their arrangements will be so perfect that persons of the most fastidious tastes may participate in the healthful excitement with an unsuspicious freedom.—The sum of the prizes is unprecedentedly liberal—twenty thousand dollars—and will command the presence of the finest trotters in the country. The park is of good accommodation, convenient of access from the city, and will be put in the finest trim for the exciting sport announced. The element of "jockeyism," in its slang signification, will neither be seen nor felt there; on the contrary, the pleasure of those who attend on the 15th, 16th, 17th and 18th of June will be innocent and growing, such as any sane person must feel in the best performances of the best of animals.

It is time that the real admirers of the horse should come forward to second the spirited endeavors of men of true refinement and high repute, in rescuing these contests with time, in the open air and amid unexceptionable surroundings, from the control of influences to which they are too often surrendered. An exhibition of this character we know will be witnessed by our best citizens, and attract to it from abroad a large company who keenly enjoy the grace and glory of the noble art of horsemanship. * * *

Our merchants are, many of them, possesors of very excellent trotting progeny, on which they doat with devoted fondness. This race is proposed for them, and for all who, like them, believe in the constant improvement of the animal which is the closest companion and most faithful servant of man. The Treasurer, W. P. Balch, Esq., may be taken as a representative of this class of gentlemen, and public confidence will at once settle on the quality of the exhipition proposed, when his hand is visible in the direction. * * * Boston Post.

SPORT.—In the last few years there has been a vast revolution of sentiment. New England, a short time ago, could see no beauty in the race horse, no healthy amusement in the race course. The people cherished the early teachings of the Puritans, and acted on the belief that to win a crown in Heaven, life must be made one gloomy shadow. But the dream has changed in spirit as form. Now Boston supports her jockey clubs, and the most refined people of the Hub take an interest in the races. The article that we copy from the Boston Post, a few years ago would have shocked the good people of that city; and that the Post should print such an article now, is an evidence of striking change—of the growth of liberal sentiment.—Turf, Field and Farm.

—Shipbuilding at Belfast, Me., is now opening vigorously, and the different shipyards remind one of old times.

DYSPEPSIA AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 28, 1869.

The News.

Hancock Village, Michigan, was almost wholly destroyed by fire on the evening of April 11; 130 dwellings, and 150 buildings in all, were burnt. The fire was caused by upsetting a stove in a dance in a French Saloon, at the N. W. corner of the town; and a fresh N. W. wind drove the flames through the settlement.

The foolish flurry between U. S. Senators Sprague and Abbott, has been closed by pacific notes from both,—under the advice of Senators Sumner, Sherman, Poole and Anthony.

The cable dispatches report that the British House of Commons has amended one of the clauses of the Irish Church bill by striking out those sections which provided for the maintenance of certain church buildings as national monuments.—The vote was 232 to 131; 101 majority.

The conscription recently authorized by the Spanish Cortes, and against which there was at first such violent opposition, has been completed throughout the country.

It is understood that Hon. John L. Stevens of Augusta declines to accept his appointment as consul to Birmingham.

Chas. Newman's house near Jamaica, L. I., was burnt early Monday morning; Mr. N. perished in the flames.

Monday afternoon in Rochester, N. Y., three men on a new building fell 40 feet with a broken scaffold. One died in two hours; another will probably die of his wounds.

Steamer St. Elmo burst her boiler on Monday morning near Mobile. One man was killed, six wounded, of the boat's crew. No passengers hurt.

The Jews at Washington have petitioned President Grant to have a Jewish Consul appointed at Jerusalem, and to ask Turkey to permit Jews as well as Christians to visit and dwell in the Holy Land, and own and cultivate land there.

☞ The New York Times of Monday contained an elaborate defence of the President from the attacks of the Sun and other papers, which have found fault with him for having appointed to office those who have contributed to presents made to him, and his relatives. The first charge is met with the arguments that such appointments might be made with perfectly pure motives, that offices are well filled, and that favors bestowed in the past ought not to disqualify the bestower for office, if he is otherwise worthy. The charge so common, that a great many of General Grant's kindred have been appointed to office, is met with a simple denial that such is the fact.

FLOOD AT HARTFORD.—The flood at Hartford last week was the most serious in its effects which has visited the city since 1854. The damage is estimated at $50,000. The City Missionary, accompanied by some of the city officials, made a tour through the flooded district Friday in a boat, and distributed a considerable quantity of food to the poor families living there. The distribution was generally made through the second story windows.

☞ Senator Sprague having recently made a speech purporting to favor workingmen, he was serenaded and praised therefor;—but the next day a laborer came out in a Washington paper, protesting against any particular respect being paid to Mr. Sprague, till he shall have reduced the hours of labor in his own mills in Rhode Island!

FIGHTING WORDS.—Francis W. Goddard, of Providence, late a captain of the 1st Rhode Island regiment, has sent a letter to Senator Sprague, closing as follows:

It remains for me to pronounce you before the world, and with a full apprehension of the words I use, a liar, a calumniator, and a poltroon.

The Merchant Service.—No. VI.

Once, while lying in Hong Kong, in the ship Beatrice of Boston, Capt. Rogers, (an honorable and just man, of whom I take pleasure in speaking,) a seaman of another ship called me alongside as I was going ashore, and gave me a number of letters, offering me a good monkey-jacket if I would post them. These letters had been written by several of the sailors to their friends at home, but the captain declined to post them or to give the writers money, though they had five months wages due. I refused the jacket, but took the letters, and went with them to Rev. Jas. C. Beecher, (Rev. H. W. Beecher's brother, I believe,) told him the story, and he posted them, paying the postage out of his own pocket.

A ship came into a New Zealand port, whose crew, shipped in England, had no money worth mentioning due them. These men were not wanted to leave the ship, (they had no money to leave behind,) as others would have to be procured at a higher rate of wages. So they were driven into a deck-house every evening as soon as they were done work, the doors locked, their supper handed to them through a small window, and they kept there till morning. One of the men sent a written complaint to the authorities on shore by a visitor to the ship,—but the captain was only taking reasonable precautions against the desertion of his men,—drove, continued to drive them in and lock them up every evening, like a pack of hounds, and let them out to work every morning, and "the stars and stripes waved only over freemen." Bah!

Is it a just law that allows special privileges to one class and denies them to another? The laws that regulate the relations of masters and seamen do this. The master can discharge a man at any time or place, for any or no reason, on paying him three months (I think) extra wages; but no conceivable combination of circumstances will enable the sailor to annul his part of the contract. It would make a little show of fair dealing if the sailor could leave his ship when he chose, on condition of forfeiting three months' pay; although that amount is manifestly of far more account to the sailor than to the captain. But not even this chance is given him. The master can hold him or send him adrift at his pleasure, while he is powerless to dispose of himself, one way or the other.

I remember a case where two sailors attempted to desert from their ship, but were caught and imprisoned. On their trial they proved that they (in common with the rest of the crew) had been treated in a manner that would have justified a laboring man on shore in taking human life, if his only means of escape was in so doing; but the just and equal law of America couldn't see any reason in such tyranny to justify an old sailor in deserting his ship before his masters were ready for him to go, even if he did leave a year's earnings behind.—so the men were remanded to the jail, to lay there till the ship was ready for sea, and then to be taken on board. One of the "criminals" submitted sullenly to his doom; but the younger and less reckless of the two exhibited a degree of abject terror that would have been ridiculous had it been less genuine or less well-founded. He got down on his knees in the court, and, with big tears rolling down his cheeks, begged of the court, the law, and everybody,—for mercy's sake to save him. If he was taken on board that ship, he said, he would be killed,—he knew it; and that would kill his old mother, who had only him to depend on: if they would only send him to jail instead, he would be so grateful.

No one who had heard the whole case could doubt that his fears were well-founded,—that sending him on board his ship was sending him to a very possible conclusion of his earthly trials; but the glorious, protecting law could not interfere with the "vested rights" of the master in his white slave, so away to the lockup he went, crying and moaning like a little girl with the tooth-ache, and begging for mercy all the way. Mercy! for an old sailor!—What an idea! Why, the idiot might as well have asked for justice, which is not for him or his class, if our laws and law-makers can help it,—and they have most effectually managed it, so far.

Several months after this sickening court scene, I stood on a wharf in one of the Australian seaports, and watched the ship to which the two men belonged as she burned to the water's edge and sunk, a total loss; together with 30,000 feet of lumber and 300 tons of railroad iron, a portion of her cargo. The presumption of wilful burning was strong, and the sailors were arrested, and had an examination which resulted only in their discharge. As they left the court I noticed one of the two runaways, and enquired for his mate. He told me that the first night the vessel was at sea after they were returned to her, all hands being engaged in reefing down the maintopsail, one of the officers, standing in the slings of the yard, "booted (kicked) Jake in the face, for not being further out on the yard." The miserable, bleeding, terrified wretch, in endeavoring to escape from his persecutor by passing behind the other men on the foot-rope,—not a perfectly safe performance at the best of times,—fortunately missed his hold and fell, striking the lee rail and tumbling thence into the sea, thus sparing his superiors the necessity of torturing him to death.—"Are you going to say anything about it?" I enquired. "Do you think I'm a d—d fool?" was his answer; "don't you think one lesson's enough?" Four years later I met my informant again, on a goldfield, and he then told me that he was the man who fired the ship; and I do not doubt he spoke the truth.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ What a precious set of fellows the hunkers have hired from abroad, and brought to this city to do the dirty whang-banging of their party organs, during the past twenty or twenty-five years, haven't they? With not more than one exception, that we recollect, they have been unworthy of trust to the amount of a quarter—and famous or infamous chiefly or only for doing work too vile for any decent man at home to consent to.—And while no one of them all has ever accomplished anything in a business or social line, we could never see that they brought any political pay to the party or its leaders, except deeper and deeper defeat, richly deserved.

☞ We understand that measures are to be immediately taken, to incorporate the Piscataqua Fair Grounds, located near this city, and that the track will soon be put in better condition than ever, as now is the proper season. The stock is owned in fifty shares of $100 each, and, of these, three only remain undisposed of.

A first-class stallion located there would be the means not only of improving the horse-stock of this region in money and actual value, but would also add greatly to the wealth of the community.

Holloway's Ointment.—Thousands of cripples are now lingering unrelieved, under a false system of treatment, who would be speedily in a condition to cast away their crutches if HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT were applied to their stiff joints and ulcerated limbs. Indurated tissues, contracted muscles relax under its influence, and discharging sores are healed by its disinfectant and tonic principles with a facility that almost transcends belief. Common Sense

Rules the mass of the people, whatever the misnamed and misanthropic philosophers may say to the contrary. Show them a good thing, let its merits be clearly demonstrated, and they will not hesitate to give it their most cordial patronage.—The masses have already ratified the judgment of a physician concerning the virtues of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, as may be seen in the immense quantities of this medicine that are annually sold in every section of the land. It is now recognized as greatly superior to all other remedies yet devised for diseases of the digestive organs, such as diarrhœa, dysentery, dyspepsia, and for the various fevers that arise from derangement of those portions of the system. Hostetter's name is rapidly becoming a household word, from Maine to Texas, from the shores of the Atlantic to the Pacific.

These celebrated STOMACH BITTERS have doubtless created as much sensation in the community for their remarkable cures as any other medicine extant. It is a fact that in the minds of many persons a prejudice exists against what are called patent medicines; but why should this prevent you resorting to an article that has such an array of testimony to support it as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Physicians prescribe it; why should you discard it? Judges, usually considered men of talent, have and do use it in their families; why should you reject it? Let not your prejudice usurp your reason, to the everlasting injury of your health. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it is therefore worthy of the consideration of the afflicted.—The BITTERS are pleasant to the taste, agreeable in their effects, and altogether valuable as a tonic or remedy for indigestion. a28

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavoidable or injurious.

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "PAIN KILLER," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, cramp, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA is the great Blood Purifier.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the stomach receives the food and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the diseased matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop pills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the causes, and they will stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and are decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have not their proper to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

BUSINESS.—Messrs. Editors:—As I have seen no report of the doings at the late Annual Meeting of the Portsmouth Board of Trade, besides the Election of Officers, perhaps a few remarks on the same may be acceptable to you and your readers.

An enterprising and public-spirited gentleman and member, Capt. G. W. Tucker, asked for the report of the operations of the past year, but was told that none had been made. He then inquired the number of members, and was told about fifty; and that the funds, about $200, we believe, were on deposit.

He moved that each member contribute the sum of $500, to be placed on interest, for a fund to aid any enterprise the Board might deem advisable; but no one seconding the motion, of course it fell dead, and then the gentleman withdrew.

A communication from the Dover Board of Trade, to appoint a joint Committee to consider the subject of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad, (we believe that was its tenor,) was, strange to say, it seems to me,—laid on the table, without much if any discussion! Why? Because it was stated to be made in the interest of the Boston & Maine Railroad. Well, what if it was?

It is asserted by those who ought to know, that the reason the Dover Road is not built, is because being so short a line, it cannot stand alone, but needs to be run by some longer and stronger Road, to insure success. It is stated, further, that the Eastern Road declines, thus far, to encourage or lease the Dover Road, and that this is the reason it is not built. Now if this be so, and the Boston & Maine is ready and willing to take hold of it, why not let them help and have the Dover Road? What say you, gentlemen, fellow-citizens, shall we try to make any more business for Portsmouth, or not? ENTERPRISE.

Communication.

WORK AND WAGES.—Messrs. Editors:—The order from the Secretary of the Navy, discharging Mr. John Dame from the humble position which he filled as Quarterman in the Blacksmith Shop on the Navy Yard, has caused a great deal of surprise and regret among all classes of our loyal citizens. Mr. Dame is a thorough, practical workman, and his superior does not stand at any forge in this country, on the Navy Yards or off. As a judicious and efficient Quarterman, he cannot be excelled. He is competent and deserving of the position of Master Blacksmith, and the Department suffers a loss, by his removal.

His fearless and outspoken loyalty to the country's cause, during the darkest days of the rebellion—the gallant conduct of his son, Lieutenant Robert S. Dame of the 5th N. H. Regiment, the hero of two score battles, a prison-starved, battle-scared veteran, would seem to call for a far different recognition from Government in this its hour of prosperity. Bob's sword may be needed in Cuba yet! The only objection to Mr. Dame, no doubt, is his partiality to the eight hour law. Has the advocacy of a law become a punishable crime, or is his discharge only preliminary to promotion? ROCKWOOD.

A VETERAN STAGE DRIVER.—For the last eighteen years Mr. Isaiah Farwell has driven a stage from this city to the neighboring towns of Maine, and during that time has driven 157,752 miles, a distance equal to seven times around the world. During twelve years of this time he only missed four trips.

On Saturday last, April 24th, he received the contract to carry the mail four years, between this city and Cape Neddick, he having had the same for fourteen years previous, with the exception of the last two years. The last contract was for $240, and the present is for $325,—the late contractor, Mr. Grant, having put in a bid for $500.

☞ Mr. F. W. Rogers of this city, who is a well-known fancier of nice cows, recently purchased a fine large animal of the Durham breed, in Greenland, weighing 1520 lbs. The price paid was $150 or more, we hear.

☞ See our Auction column, for sale of a nice Farm, on Peverly Hill Road, with live stock, tools, &c., to-day; more stock on another Farm adjacent, to-morrow; and various other sales of real estate.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

RYE, April 26.

The Farragut and Atlantic Houses, together with a new cottage near the former house, all capable of accomodating nearly 200 guests, will be under the management of Mrs. J. C. Philbrick, who has also within a few days purchased the Brown Farm at Little Boar's Head, from Gen. Pierce and C. J. Brown, Esq. Improvements will probably be commenced before long, which will much increase the facilities for accommodating parties desiring to spend the summer there. Gen. Pierce retains the house he built a few years since for his own use.

E. B. Philbrick also has been at work putting an addition to the Dalton House, also a piazza in front, and will have rooms for 12 or 15 more persons than last year.

Moses C. Philbrick is enlarging and improving his house, so that he will be able to accommodate quite a number of boarders.

Lougee's new Hotel is approaching completion, and has about 50 rooms. A fine view of the Ocean and surrounding country is obtained from the large cupola at the top of the house.

A fine French roof house is erecting by Mr. Sheridan Jenness, which when completed, will probably be the most elegant private house in town. He will probably be able to give very fine accommodation to 20 or 25 persons.

A. Perkins has nearly completed a stable, and as he is always "full," from the commencement of the season to its close, it will probably prove a good investment for him, as his boarders usually indulge in considerable riding. D. Otis Marden has built a piazza to his house.

Of the Ocean House, it is only necessary to say, that it will be kept as usual by Job Jenness & Son, and they are all the time making improvements. T. H. Philbrick has made a large addition to his house, so that he is now capable of accommodating about 75 boarders. It will be ready about the 1st of July.—Mrs. Leavitt will conduct the Washington House as heretofore, and M. Cunningham the Surf, at Lock's Neck. E. A. Straw, Esq., of Manchester has nearly completed his cottage, and Capt. Wm. Walker of Concord has during the past winter erected a cottage and stable, and it is reported that other parties have purchased lots there and contemplate building soon. It is considered by many as being the best location on the shore.

Frank Waldron is building a two story house for himself near the Center, at Foss' Beach. Hardison Foss has just commenced a house which will be finished during the summer. D. M. Foss has his Hotel nearly completed, and will be in readiness for company when the season opens. Other improvements are being made about town, and visitors will find this summer, that Rye is more attractive than ever before. R.

THE STEREOPTICON opened to a fine audience of our best people last evening, and we venture to say that all were well-pleased with the exhibition. It was entertaining, amusing, instructive, and free from all objectionable features. Everybody should see it during the week, and send all the children Saturday afternoon.

☞ We understand that Capt. Jas. N. Tarlton has sold his fine residence on Middle Street to the family of the late Mr. Peter Jenness. Also that Dr. Coleman has purchased the house formerly occupied by the late Col. Robert Lefavour, and will remove thither.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

NAVY YARD, Apr. 27.

Schr. C. E. Hillier, Capt. Mitchell, arrived to-day from Georgetown, S. C., loaded with pine timber for the Yard.

All quiet on the Piscataqua, and is likely to remain so. Where are our line men, or haven't we any? The Democracy boast that they would not have had any Republicans left on Government ranks now, if Seymour had been elected. They laugh us to shame, and I don't blame them much for laughing.

☞ Rev. Mr. Holway is to be detached from the Navy Yard on this station, June 1, to report on board the Lancaster, Adm. Lanman, June 15.

☞ Mr. Lamprey has the largest School of Juvenile Dancers, for his new Summer term, that he has ever gathered here, during all the years of his residence.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

THE BOX TUNNEL.

BY CHARLES READE.

Concluded.

The duck had become a pea-hen,—radiant, dazzling, she looked twice as beautiful and almost twice as large as before. He lost sight of her. He found her again. She was so lovely she made him fill,—and he, alone, must not dance with her, to speak to her. It he had been content to begin her acquaintance the usual way, it might have ended in kissing, but having begun with kissing it must end in nothing. As she danced, sparks of beauty fell from her on all around, but him,—she did not see him; it was clear she never would see him,—one gentleman was particularly assiduous; she smiled on his assiduity; he was ugly, but she smiled on him. Dolignan was surprised at his success, his ill taste, his ugliness, his impertinence. Dolignan at last found himself injured. "Who was this man? and what right had he to go on so? He had never kissed her, I suppose," said Dolly. Dolignan could not prove it, but he felt somehow the rights of property were invaded. He went home and dreamed of Miss Haythorn, and hated all the ugly successful." He spent a fortnight trying to find out who this beauty was, he never could encounter her again. At last he heard of her in this way: a lawyer's clerk paid him a little visit and commenced a little action against him in the name of Miss Haythorn, for insulting her in a railway train.

The young gentleman was shocked; endeavored to soften the lawyer's clerk; that machine did not thoroughly comprehend the meaning of the term. The lady's name, however, was at last revealed by this autoward incident; from her name to her address was but a short step, and the same day our crestfallen hero lay in wait at her door, and many a succeeding day, without effect. But one fine afternoon she issued forth quite naturally, as if she did it every day, and walked briskly on the nearest Parade. Dolignan did the same, he met and passed her many times on the Parade, and searched for pity in her eyes, but found neither look nor recognition, nor any other sentiment; for all this she walked and walked, till all the other promenaders were tired and gone,—then her culprit summoned resolution, and taking off his hat, with a voice tremulous for the first time, besought permission to address her. She stopped, blushed, and neither acknowledged nor disowned his acquaintance. He blushed stammered out how ashamed he was, how he deserved to be punished, how he was punished, how little she knew how unhappy he was; and concluded by begging her not to let all the world know the disgrace of a man who was already mortified enough by the loss of her acquaintance. She asked an explanation; he told her of the action that had been commenced in her name; she gently shrugged her shoulders, and said, "How stupid they are!" Emboldened by this, he begged to know whether or not a life of distant unpretending devotion would, after a lapse of years, erase the memory of his madness,—his crime!

"She did not know!"

"She must now bid him adieu, as she had some preparations to make for a ball in the crescent, where everybody was to be." They parted, and Dolignan determined to be at the ball, where everybody was to be. He was there, and after some time he obtained an introduction to Miss Haythorn, and he danced with her. Her manner was gracious. With the wonderful tact of her sex, she seemed to have commenced the acquaintance that evening. That night, for the first time, Dolignan was in love. I will spare the reader all a lover's arts, by which he succeeded in dining where she dined, in dancing where she danced, in overtaking her by accident when she rode. His devotion followed her even to church, where our dragoon was reward by learning there is a world where they neither polk nor smoke,—the two capital abominations of this one.

He made acquaintance with her uncle, who liked him, and he saw at last, with joy, that her eye loved to dwell upon him, when she thought he did not observe her.

It was three months after the Box Tunnel, that Captain Dolignan called one day upon Captain Haythorn, R. N., whom he had met twice in his life, and slightly propitiated by violently listening to a cutting-out expedition; he called, and in the usual way asked permission to pay his addresses to his daughter. The worthy Captain straightway began doing Quarter-Deck, when suddenly he was summoned from the apartment by a mysterious message. On his return he announced, with a total change of voice, that "It was all right, and his visitor might run alongside as soon as he chose." My reader has divined the truth; this nautical commander, terrible to the foe, was in complete and happy subjugation to his daughter, our heroine.

As he was taking leave, Dolignan saw his divinity glide into the drawing-room. He followed her, observed a sweet consciousness which encouraged him; that consciousness deepened into confusion,—she tried to laugh, she cried instead, and then she smiled again; and when he kissed her hand at the door, it was "George," and "Marian," instead of Captain this, and Miss the other. A reasonable time after this (for my tale is merciful and skips formalities and torturing delays), these two were very happy,—they were once more upon the railroad, going to enjoy their honeymoon all by themselves. Marian Dolignan was dressed just as before,—duck-like, and delicious; all bright, except her clothes; but George sat beside her this time instead of opposite; and she drank him in gently from under her long eyelashes. "Marian," said George, "married people should tell each other all. Will you forgive me if I owe to you—no—"

"Yes! yes!"

"Well, then! you remember the Box Tunnel" (this was the first allusion he had ventured to it). "I am ashamed to say I had bet £3 to £10 with White, I would kiss one of you two ladies"; and George, pathetic externally, chuckled within.

"I know that, George; I overheard you," was the demure reply.

"O, you overheard me? Impossible."

"And did you not hear me whisper to my companion? I made a bet with her."

"You made a bet, how singular! What was it?"

"Only a pair of gloves, George."

"Yes, I know, but what about it?"

"That if you did you should be my husband, dearest."

"Oh!—but stay—then you could not have been so very angry with me, love; why, dearest, then, who brought that action against me?"

Mrs. Dolignan looked down.

"I was afraid you were forgetting me! George, you will never forgive me?"

"Sweet angel,—why, here is the Box Tunnel."

Now, reader, — fie! — no! no such thing! You can't expect to be indulged in this way, every time we come to a dark place, — besides, it is not the thing. Consider two sensible married people,—no such phenomenon, I assure you, took place. No scream issued in hopeless rivalry of the engine — this time!

AMERICAN

BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING,
—AND—
SEWING MACHINE!

H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street,

The Reasons Why

This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do—the finest of sewing, hemming, felling, cording, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.

2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, as by hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)

3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine can.)

4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)

5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "over and over." (No other Machine can do it.)

Caution.

We would hereby warn the Public against all bogus advertisements of Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.

This Machine is for sale only at our establishment, 27 Market Street, where we cordially invite the Public to call and Examine for themselves, and be convinced that this is the Best and Cheapest Machine for any family.

N. B.—All Machines are Warranted for one year. Instruction given free to the house of Purchaser Free. Persons buying this Machine never wish to exchange for any other.

TO FARMERS.

The Lodi Manufacturing Co. invite Farmers and others using Manures, to send for a pamphlet descriptive of their Fertilizers. They offer their equal to the best Super-Phosphate, at the low price of $30 per ton.

DOUBLE REFINED POUDRETTE,

They also make superior articles of

NITRO PHOSPHATE AND PURE BONE DUST.

We call attention to the following Testimonials:

Prof. Geo. H. Cook, of the New Jersey Agricultural College of New Brunswick, says: "The Double Refined Poudrette and Nitro Phosphate of Lime paid us full 100 per cent. above their market value, in the increase of crops this year."

D. A. Haughton, North Hadley, Mass., says: "I used it on my Tobacco plants (where no other manure had been used for years.) They came up quick and were pronounced the best plants ever raised in this vicinity."

Daniel D. Beckwith, New London, Conn., says: "The Double Refined Poudrette is the best fertilizer I have ever used in the hill, taking the price into account. The Nitro Phosphate is ahead of anything I have ever used in producing a crop without the aid of Stable manure."

Abram T. Peckham, Newport, R. I., says: "I used the Poudrette on corn, side by side with Super Phosphate, and in every case it came out ahead."

Chas. Rowland, Weston, Conn., says: "It gave the corn an early start, ripened it early and increased the yield more than sufficient to pay all expenses."

Wm. S. Sheffield, South Lyme, Conn., says he found it superior to Super Phosphate or fish scrap. On Corn and Buckwheat it surpassed any other manure.

Geo. F. Ingalls, Sheffield, Vt., says: "Your Double Refined Poudrette has been tried side by side with Coe's and Bradley's X L Super Phosphate, and one or two other kinds, and it has given us good satisfaction as any. My Uncle raised two bushels of corn from four rows with manure, three bushels from four rows with Poudrette, and only one and three quarters from Bradley's X L.

The workmen upon the railroad extension at Littleton, struck for higher wages on the 16th, & their demands not being complied with, refused to resume work. Matters are at a stand-still, and will probably so remain until a new gang can be procured. Only a half-dozen men are now at work upon the whole line.

A decision has just been reached in the Supreme Judicial Court, which, having been pending for some years, has excited considerable interest in Keene and vicinity. One Woodward conveys property in Chesterfield to a widow lady to whom he is to be married. Jealousy is excited, and a third party named Hopkins tries to persuade her to convey to him a deed for the property, in fear of her being sued for it by Woodward's friends, and he (Hopkins) promises to restore her the deed after her marriage, as he will not have the deed recorded. She marries Woodward, but Hopkins hesitates to fulfil the agreement. She insists, and at last he gives her the (or a) deed, she restores the notes and both are burned. After W.'s death, H. presents a duly recorded deed of said property, and claims it as his own. She sued him for damages, and the jury awarded her to the amount of over $5000, the property being originally valued at something over $3000. The feeling is, "served him right."—Patriot.

☞ Reverdy Johnson, at the Annual festival of the Royal Asylum of St. Anne's Society, said that if the recollection of scenes in this life be permitted us hereafter, one of his fondest memories would be the festival dinner of which he had just partaken at the London Tavern. The Pall Mall Gazette remarks: "Mr. Johnson in Heaven dreaming of the cuisine at the London Tavern, must be a delightful object of contemplation for the proprietors of that hostelry."

A RICH CITIZEN of Cincinnati is going to present to that city a beautiful fountain, costing $60,000, thirty feet high, and surmounted by a female figure in bronze. The work is doing in Nuremberg.

☞ A young lady at Galena, Ill., lately took a long horseback ride in a fit of somnambulism. A belated boy was frightened at seeing a "woman in white" taking a midnight ride, and his screams of alarm awakened the sleeping rider.

☞ "Crazy Ann," for forty years an inmate of the Dewittville (N. Y.) poorhouse, has lately regained her reason, and remembers nothing since she was a girl of eighteen. All the intervening time is to her a blank and a mystery.

DYSPEPSIA AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than 18 years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LISBY.

☞ Mr. Galt of the Canadian House of Commons doesn't like Senator Chandler's speech in Congress, demanding Canada of England, as a reparation for British "neutrality" and its effects during the late rebellion. Mr. Galt thinks the Canucks should have a word or two to say in the matter, and his dignity is ruffled considerably, because he is fearful that the United States have not and may not consult those most interested in such negotiations. He thinks Canada showed herself a good neighbor in our time of trouble by furnishing 40,000 volunteers for the Union army, and is evidently of the opinion that the influx of northern copperheads into Canada at that time was hardly a fair exchange—while citizens of the United States as firmly believe that the exchange was in no way a case of robbery. The Canadian leader need fear no hasty action on the part of the United States Government, to bring about such a state of affairs as he fears, for it is questionable whether this country would be the gainer by the change.—Ripe fruit is more easily gathered than unripe, and until it becomes evident that England's loss by the annexation would be Canada's gain, the Provincials may as well hush their small-talk, soothe their appetites by milder discussions, and set about considering the feasibility of thawing snow-drifts as a preventive of emigration.

☞ The decision of Police Judge Odell, a few days since, in the case of Ward vs. Huntress, that calling a man "a d——d Englishman" is not profane swearing, is attracting much attention. LETTER FROM JOHN P. HALE.—The Madrid correspondent of the New York Times sends to that paper the following letter, received by him from Mr. John P. Hale several weeks ago, in regard to the charges of illegal importations:—

"To the Madrid correspondent of the New York Times:—

"My Dear Sir,—Ordinarily I should not take notice of the inquiries which you have addressed to me concerning my importations of furniture and clothing into Spain under my privilege as minister of the United States, but appreciating your motives in making the inquiry, I will say to you that I have not imported half the amount to which I am entitled under the laws of Spain. As to the list which you have shown me as pretending to come from the State Department, I know nothing of it; and as to any goods imported in my name having been exposed for sale in a store in Madrid, I can only say, if it were so, it was without my knowledge or consent. I am satisfied that the statement shown to you is entirely false. Yours sincerely, JOHN P. HALE.

REV. ALBERT BARNES, at last, has concluded his literary labors. The second and third volumes of his "Notes on the Book of Psalms" have just been published by the Harper Brothers, New York. Very carefully, have the notes been prepared, and the book will prove of great assistance to theologians. In closing the exposition, Mr. Barnes says that it is the only commentary that he shall attempt to furnish on the Holy Scriptures, and then he somewhat sadly adds:

"The volumes which I have prepared have occupied me daily, almost without intermission, for nearly forty years of my life and now, at sixty-eight years of age, and with the diminished power of vision with which it has pleased God to afflict me, I can hope to attempt no more. More than a generation has passed away while I have been engaged in these labors; and the finishing of this work, and the reason why I cannot hope to do more, admonish me that I am soon to follow that generation to the grave, and that all my work must soon be ended."

WATER SCENERY.

BY GEORGE OSGOOD.

In water scenery we find
The wild and beautiful combined,
The lovely and the grand.
We love by forest streams to stray,
Or sit where nature's waters play
In glittering wreaths of foam and spray
Around the ancient rocks of gray,
Or break along the sand.

We love from headland bold* to view
The wide expanse of ocean blue,
Or on the beaches stroll,
And listen to the solemn roar,
As on the smooth and shining shore
The billows break and roll.

Where Erie's placid waters flow,
We see the clouds of sunset glow,
And in the morning light we glide
Along the river's tranquil tide,
While summer sheds its sweetest smile,
On sleping bank and wooded isle.

For days we wander on the shores
Where wild Niagara ceaseless roars,
As down its mighty torrents flow
Into the boiling depths below,
And wonder it through ages gone,
This giant stream has still flowed on,
And if this cataract's voice sublime
Will thunder till the end of time.

By lovelliest banks of cedar green,
Fair Montmorency's falls are seen,
In wildest beauty free,
As down they dash and gladly greet
The tidal waves that kiss their feet,
For here the mountain torrents meet
The waters of the sea. †

EXTENSION OF B. & M. RAILROAD TO NEWBURYPORT.—The Newburyport Herald says there is reason to believe that the question of extending the Boston & Maine Railroad through that city is receiving such favorable consideration from the Directors, as to give every reason to believe that it will be done before the close of this year. From the point where it will cross the Eastern Railroad, to its termination at the North End, will be three miles. The cost of laying out the new road for the track will be about $30,000, some portion of which will fall on the city.

☞ The New York Sun contains an elaborate expose of the doings of the managing editor of the Tribune. The charges are substantially that J. Russell Young dishonestly furnished to two Philadelphia papers in which he was interested news belonging to the Associated Press, and that he received from certain politicians large sums of money to secure his assistance through the columns of the Tribune. It is stated that a special meeting of the Tribune association has been held and Mr. Young discharged; also that Mr. Whitelaw Reid, formerly of Cincinnati, but more recently a writer for the Tribune, has taken his place. A despatch from New York states that Mr. Young has sued Hon. Charles A. Dana of the Sun for libel, laying his damages at $100,000.

☞ The Indiana State Senate has expunged from its journal the resolution of censure passed against Lieutenant-Governor Cumback at the time of the recent senatorial contest.

A LARGE ONION BED.—Mr. Geo. W. Woodward of Newburyport, is the most extensive and most successful onion grower within our knowledge. He has now ten acres of land for onions, and we doubt if there is a man in New England who has more. The ten acres, with the rows at the distance he plants, will give eighty miles of onions, and in planting, hoeing, weeding and gathering will require a thousand miles travel at the very least. Mr. Woodwell has found the onion culture very profitable. No farmer in this section of the country realizes so much money from the same extent of land; and this, we judge, is the true way of successful farming, for a person to find out what his land is best adapted to, and make that a speciality—studying that particular branch and devoting to it all his time and energies.—Herald.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞ It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "thousand and one" articles known as Patent Medicines." We, however vary from our rule in the present case, that we may call attention to the article known as "S. T.—1860—X. Plantation Bitters." We desire it understood that we do so without any solicitation or promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty towards those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and, we confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a most valuable medical compound, and to our great satisfaction accomplished the object for which they were used. 3a

☞ The anxiety begotten by the pressence of bonds, deeds, mortgages, large quantities of plate, diamonds, jewelry, and other portable valuables in private residences, is hardly allayed by placing them in a bank, where (if at all) they are received only on sufferance. It is wholly removed, however, by the renting of a safe in the UNION SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS, 40 State street, Boston, where every conceivable safe-guard is taken against loss by theft or fire. The leading bankers are unanimous in their approval of this great depository for all such treasures. Interest and dividends on bonds and stocks are also collected and transmitted. Common Sense

Rules the mass of the people, whatever the misnamed and misanthropic philosophers may say to the contrary. Show them a good thing, let its merits be clearly demonstrated, and they will not hesitate to give it their most cordial patronage.—The masses have already ratified the judgment of a physician concerning the virtues of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, as may be seen in the immense quantities of this medicine that are annually sold in every section of the land. It is now recognized as greatly superior to all other remedies yet devised for diseases of the digestive organs, such as diarrhœa, dysentery, dyspepsia, and for the various fevers that arise from derangement of those portions of the system. Hostetter's name is rapidly becoming a household word, from Maine to Texas, from the shores of the Atlantic to the Pacific.

These celebrated STOMACH BITTERS have doubtless created as much sensation in the community for their remarkable cures as any other medicine extant. It is a fact that in the minds of many persons a prejudice exists against what are called patent medicines; but why should this prevent you imparting to an article that has such an array of testimony to support it as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Physicians prescribe it; why should you discard it? Judges, usually considered men of talent, have and do use it in their families; why should you reject it? Let not your prejudice usurp your reason, to the everlasting injury of your health. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it is therefore worthy of the consideration of the afflicted. The BITTERS are pleasant to the taste, agreeable in their effects, and altogether valuable as a tonic or remedy for indigestion. a29

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states *that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used in the hour of need. Such an agent is free from circulating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "PAIN KILLER," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Attest the benefit received in the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the directions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to digest the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased; other treatment, diseases, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; the liver will begin to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the last stages of Pulmonary Consumption, and physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. G. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

CLAP-TRAP.—The Bangor Whig & Courier of April 27th says of the latest yarn stated by the Portsmouth Stars and Bars, that it "must have been in a sensational mood when it issued that little story of the 'Mysterious disappearance' of the White Fawn. The two suspicious looking individuals reported to have sailed with Mr. Cross, the owner, were Capt. Gilbert Hart, of Belfast, and one of his men, and the suspicion was in the imagination of the reporter alone. Mr. Cross says that parties in Portsmouth who wanted to purchase the steamer for a song, no doubt started the story." The steamer was entered regularly at the Custom House here, and her destination could have been found by inquiry. She sold in B. for less than the cost of the machinery, and Mr. Cross is now there waiting to allow the purchaser to satisfy himself of the genuineness of the transaction.

We are inclined to think that our cotemporaries abroad will soon learn to place but little confidence in such sensation articles, and were the editors of that sheet as well known elsewhere as in Portsmouth, no credence would be given to their repeated falsehoods and mis-statements. The deliberate attempts to deceive can but re-act upon the authors, who tell the truth as seldom as they pay their honest debts.

Communication.

QUERIES.—Messrs. Editors:—1. Can you tell me why it is, that the editors of a certain sheet, who are too lazy to work and never paid a bill, here or elsewhere, if they could avoid it,—should set themselves up, or be set up by their owners, to criticise and uniformly condemn, the monetary as well as political actions of the Board of Aldermen, all of whom we believe are responsible business men, in public as well as private affairs?

2. There is little question, I presume, but that nine-tenths of the foreign, anti-Republican voters of this city, find employment with Republicans; and their wives and daughters also in the families of the same. Now does not this show a sad lack of management, if not a want of independence and self-reliance on the part of both men and women, who profess to regard the success of true Republican principles as of some real account and value? Why should they nourish and support such a nest and source of ignorant hunkerism?—Why not either insist that these dependent men vote right, or else that they get their living where they do their voting? If not, why not? Yours, inquiringly, STRAIGHT OUT REPUB.

☞ The new advertisement of rich jewelry and silver goods, and fine watch-work, by Messrs. Rowell & Hutchinson, reminds us that this new firm have won general popularity since their residence in the city, by their square and courteous manner of doing business; and we have no hesitation in recommending them to any who do not know them, as gentlemen entirely trustworthy.

☞ The fact that the public esteem the N. H. Gazette very highly, is proved by the constant increase in the subscription list; and another fact, that this, with the Chronicle, is regarded as an excellent advertising medium, is shown by our full columns.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

☞ Our friends and the public generally, wishing Job Printing of any sort, may rely on getting it at the Chronicle Office cheaply, quickly and well done.

☞ There are about 250 non-resident taxes in the little town of North Hampton. Many of these are paid in Hampton, from which North Hampton was divided.

☞ It will be seen that Mr. J. C. Perkins, formerly of the Franklin, and late of the Piscataqua, has taken the National Hotel.

S. J. COURT, Exeter.—Leonard Brickett v. David S. Batchelder, action to recover $100, commission of Plf. as real estate broker for selling a farm in Sandown belonging to deft. Deft. paid into Court $50, and the jury returned a verdict for $43.30 over and above amount paid into Court.

John W. Smart and al., Ex's of Martha Cheswell claimed to recover in this suit five promissory notes signed by deft., amounting to $800. Deft. claimed the notes in suit under a clause in the will of said Martha. A verdict upon the evidence was ordered by the Court for plfs. for amount of notes and interest, subject to the opinion of the whole Court. Small for Plf. Hatch for Deft.

State v. Richard Kinsley, appeal from Police Court of Portsmouth on a complaint for assault and battery. Verdict not guilty. Solicitor for State. Hatch for respondent.

Hiram C. Matthews v. Concord Railroad. The suit was brought to recover $10,000 for damages alleged to have been sustained by plf. in consequence of a railroad accident near Cass's crossing in Candia in the Spring of 1867. The Judge, counsel and jury left to view the premises. Small & Frink for plf. S. N. Bell, Morrison & Hatch for Defts. This case was settled on the arrival of the Jury at Newmarket Junction, by the payment to Mathews by the Concord railroad, of the sum of $3750. Each party is to pay its own costs.

On Tuesday, Apr. 28th, Daniel H. Blaisdell, convicted for stealing in the night time at Danville, was sentenced to four years in State Prison. Respondent is a man of some wealth, and lives in Fremont. Hatch, for Respondent, proposes to have verdict set aside.

McQuestion and another v. Randall was on trial on Tuesday. Action of trespass quare clausum. Premises in Londonderry. Barton & Frink for plff. Stickney & A. Wiggin for deft.

THE STEREOPTICON. — Another very fine audience was present last evening at the Temple. The views included Rome, the celebrated St. Peter's, exterior and interior; the charming Lake of Como, "the deep vale shut out by Alpine hills from the rude blast, near a clear lake margined by fruits of gold and whispering myrtles;" Florence; the Cathedral of Milan; the famous Bridge of Sighs, about which the proprietor told a very laughable anecdote; portrait of Pius IX, &c. &c. The Statuary of the Vatican was especially fine, and so were the interior views of St. Peters. Words actually convey but a very faint idea of the magnificence of all these illustrations.

To-night is given the romantic scenery of the legendary Rhine, visiting also the principal Cities of Germany; after which a voyage across the Atlantic, together with views in Portsmouth photographed expressly for the occasion by Davis Brothers, will conclude the programme.

NAVY YARD MATTERS.—Hon. John Lynch visited the Yard on Tuesday.

To retain the services of good mechanics a new class has been made, and the best workmen now get $3 per diem. A correspondent thinks it should be called the Class of Superior Workmanship.

☞ An Odd Fellow desires us to say that the statement of the rebel hand organ, that many people left the church at Manchester in disgust on Monday, on account of the remarks of Rev. A. A. Miner, is a deliberate falsehood.

☞ A series of Assemblies closes tonight at Rechabite Hall by a masquerade and calico ball, in which all are expected to endeavor to excel their neighbors in ridiculous displays of costume.

Morning Chronicle.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE, SAN FRANCISCO.—The Seventh Industrial Exhibition will open on Tuesday, September 14th, with appropriate ceremonies. A finely constructed building has been completed and fitted up at the expense of $45,000, suitably provided with facilities (free of cost to exhibitors) for the proper exposition of goods. It is thoroughly ventilated, and lighted at night by 1300 gas jets. A fine pond, 42 by 24 feet, having three fountains, throwing water 50 feet high, and surrounded by numerous small sprays, animates the scene, and keeps the atmosphere cool and refreshing. Two series of galleries surround the main nave, with accommodations to seat 1500 persons in the gallery, and room for 2000 more to promenade in the upper one. A Band of fifty muscians will discourse music to visitors every evening, and all requirements of the inner man are provided for by the necessary restaurant, etc., etc.

It is intended to make this exhibition essentially cosmopolitan, and exhibitors have been invited from China, Japan, Hawaiian Islands, British Columbia, Mexico, Chili Peru, and various other points of interest. San Francisco, occupying geographically a most important commercial position in the world, has by the completion of the great Pacific Railroad, and the recently organized line of steamers carrying the mail to Japan and China, become so in trade, and is, in fact, the entrepot of commercial exchange between Europe and Asia, being thirty days to China and seventeen to Europe. The Managers will be glad to receive desirable articles for exhibition, and will accord space for the same if application be made before the first day of August, stating definitely the character of the exhibit, and the amount and kind of space required. All articles intended for exhibition must reach there by the first day of September. Address to J. H. GILMORE, Corresponding Sec. of the Mechanics' Institute of the City of San Francisco.

POLLARD'S LIFE OF JEFFERSON DAVIS.— The National Publishing Company, Philadelphia, have forwarded advance sheets of what we perceive to be a very curious and interesting book, shortly to be published. The volume will be generally read, both at the south and north, and the following descriptive title will give the reader an idea of the contents:

Life of Jefferson Davis, with a secret history of the southern confederacy, gathered "Behind the scenes in Richmond." Containing curious and extraordinary information of the principal southern characters in the late war, in connection with President Davis, and in relation to the various intrigues of his administration. By Edward A. Pollard, author of "The Lost Cause," etc., etc.

☞ Instead of charging an extra price for reserved seats in theatres and concerts, the N. Y. Leader suggests that the managers reverse the custom, and make a deduction to those who book their seats. The argument is that it is really an advantage to sell seats, for many people would attend places of amusement much oftener than they do now if good seats could be guaranteed to them without extra charge.—This suggestion is worthy of consideration. Extorting a premium from those who engage their seats hours in advance of the performance, it may be is not the surest way to draw a crowded house.

THE PRESIDENT'S TIME TABLE.—The summer regulations of the White House have been established. The President will be engaged from nine to ten o'clock each day in opening his mail and giving directions for its disposition. From ten to twelve o'clock he will receive callers without regard to race, sex, color or station. From twelve to three o'clock he will be engaged with executive business and members of the cabinet, and at three o'clock the doors will be peremptorily closed to everybody. Appointments and other matters of public interest will be bulletined for the benefit of whom it may concern, in one of the ante rooms at half past two o'clock in the afternoon. The President will not see persons on business in the evening except by previous arrangement, and only on pressing matters that cannot be well postponed, and will not see any one at all on business on Sundays.

—Look at the plum and cherry trees, and cut out all the black knots you can find. If past recovery, cut them down and burn them up, and ask your neighbors to do the same. A tree in a garden well covered with it, is as bad among the other trees as a man infected with the small pox among other men.

—The prospects of grass and hay this year are good. Where the snow has melted away the evidences of healthy growth are said to be abundant.

VERMONT ITEMS.—In spite of fears to the contrary, there is a good run of sap all over the State of Vermont, and large quantities of sugar are being made. Farmers in the vicinity of Windsor complain that they cannot boil the sap as fast as it flows.

B. F. Richardson, the blind trance speaker who figured in Andover, Vt. the past winter, turns out to be a graduate of the State Prison.

William Hurlburt, of Cornwall, Vt. 70 years of age, a bachelor, and worth some $8,000, lost $130 a short time since, through robbery. Consequently, he starved himself to death, fearful of coming to poverty.

—The wild harangues of Senator Sprague in the United States Senate, have had the effect to shake the faith of some in his purpose to develope the water power in Augusta city; but the present cotton factory is undergoing thorough renovation, the excavation for a new one has been made, and the foundation stones are on the ground ready for the workmen's hands. Assurance is given that the work will be pushed steadily forward.—Exchange.

Exactly so: — business is business; and the Spragues understand that:—but the buncombe speeches are mere puffs of wind, written by no one knows who, or for what.

— Rev. Dr. Brown Emerson has been pastor of the South Church at Salem for sixty-four years. He is now ninety-two years old, and preaches once or twice every Sabbath.—Exchange.

No, no: he don't preach at all: he goes to meeting and sits in the pulpit, but he has not preached for many a day. Itemizers often make big blunders in making small paragraphs from longer stories.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837, No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON, After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms. Also, Disinterested Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents and inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice special applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot do better than employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

The Chronicle.

THE COLISEUM for the Grand National Peace Jubilee at Boston, in June, which will be the largest building in America, under one roof, will require 1,700,000 feet of lumber in its construction, will be 300 by 500 feet, and will cover between three and four acres of ground or about 150,000 feet. There will also be used in the work 15 tons of nails and between four and five tons of other iron work, such as bolts, braces, &c. To cover the roof, so as to make it water proof, 30 tons of tarred paper will be used. All outside foundations are 5 by 6 feet and 15 inches thick; centre foundation supporting roof, 8 feet square and 18 inches thick, all bedded in solid gravel, making in all 500 foundation supports. The apex of the roof is 86 feet from top of sill. At a height of 50 feet there will be 1,300 feet of continuous windows, 5 feet high, all made to run on rollers for ventilation, consisting of 6,500 feet of glass. In the upright of the building there are to be 1,368 lights of glass. Ingress and egress are made safe and easy by 12 doorways, each 24 feet wide. Ten thousand days' work will be required to complete this structure. It is to be finished on the 10th of June.

The building will have a seating capacity for 16,300 spectators, and standing room beneath the gallery and promenade for an immense number of persons. The promenade gallery, the floor of which will be raised two feet above that of the seat gallery, has a width of ten feet, and is unbroken in its entire circuit of the structure—1600 feet.

☞ A correspondent in China of the San Francisco Bulletin lately visited a religious meeting held in Canton by a missionary. It was conducted in the Canton dialect. The practices of coming late, going out during the service, and sleeping under powerful discourses prevail there as in other countries. During the service a man came running in with a wild expression on his countenance and asked the minister what could be done for a man who had been frightened to death. The interrupted preacher gave him the necessary directions and proceeded with his remarks. But he was not allowed to complete the service in peace after this strange interruption. "Before the sermon closed the military mandarin of the province happened to pass along the street in front of the chapel, and the congregation tumbled pellmell into the street, and we, being left a 'beggarly account of empty benches,' followed them."

—A Iowa paper, intending to announce that a prisoner escaped, says: "The constable and prisoner disagreed as to which was the best route, and, as the prisoner has not been heard from since, it is supposed he took the wrong road."

—When Queen Victoria was married, twenty-nine years ago, she had twelve bridemaids. Every one of these young ladies has since been married; one has been married twice; one is now a widow; and three are dead.

—A number of families of South Abington, Mass., who left for Kansas a year ago, have returned to their old homes, perfectly satisfied with the anticipation of wealth and happiness in the far West.

—Mr. David Hodgkins of Hancock, Me., a large and successful grower of cranberries, makes on the average 75 per cent. a year on the amount invested. The last year, 1869, he received one thousand dollars for his crop.

—The proprietors of the new and popular family paper Hearth and Home offer a prize of one hundred dollars for the best song having for its theme "Hearth and Home"—suitable to be set to music.

—In the libel suit of Captain H. O. Windsor against the San Francisco Evening Bulletin, for $50,000 damages, the jury in three minutes rendered a verdict for the defendant.

—An ounce of poke root, boiled in a pint of water till the strength is extracted, then mixed with molasses and spread on plates, is said to be certain death to water bugs and cockroaches.

—Robert B. Randolph, who in 1832 was dismissed from the Navy by President Jackson, and who pulled the general's nose in retaliation, recently died in Washington, aged 78.

—Notwithstanding the large amount of wine produced in California, the Pacific coast imports directly from France at least $400,000 worth of sparkling wines a year.

—One of the results of Miss Anna Dickinson's teachings has appeared in Des Moines. A young woman has entered a tinner's shop as an apprentice.

DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. TIBBY, St. Paul, Minn.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 1869.

The News.

The St. Lawrence River is filled with floating ice.

President Grant intends to visit New England in the summer.

Senator Wilson has had a public reception at Worcester, Mass., by the workingmen. He thinks the President will settle all dispute by a general order, and pledged Congress to the defence of the workingmen's interests.

Henry Burgh, President of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, prevented a pigeon shoot from going on in New York city, on Tuesday, by appearing with 25 policemen and threatening to arrest the principals.

Several of the National Banks report a slight deficiency of reserve funds, instead of excess as before. The Comptroller of the Treasury thinks this is a healthy state of affairs.

Recruiting for the army, which was entirely stopped about a year ago, is to be resumed again, the infantry force being considerably below the maximum of the twenty-five regiments provided for by law. Recruiting stations have been established at New York, Cincinnati, St. Louis and San Francisco.

Londonderry, Ireland, had a riot between Catholics and Orangemen on Wednesday. Two were killed and several wounded.

☞ The New York papers publish the affidavit of Mr. John Russell Young, the managing editor of the Tribune, in contradiction of the report that he had been discharged and his place filled.—The Sun has a long editorial on the matter, and the writer intimates pretty clearly his disbelief that the prosecutor will recover damages against him. The Tribune makes but the briefest reference to the matter and omits any editorial comment. The Philadelphia Post, one of the implicated papers, published a long article, denying the allegations of the Sun, stating that its dispatches were not obtained through Mr. Young, but through another person employed in the Tribune office, and it says that this latter person has concocted the story from a feeling of revenge against Mr. Young.

☞ Inquiries are sometimes made as to the ages of the Justices of the Supreme Court. The official record shows the dates of appointment and birth of the several judges to be as follows:

Hon. Ira Perley, Chief Justice. Appointed August 1, 1864. Born Nov. 9, 1799.

Hon. Jonathan E. Sargent, Associate Justice. Appointed July 5, 1859. Born Oct. 23, 1816.

Hon. Henry A. Bellows, Associate Justice. Appointed Sept. 23, 1859. Born Oct. 25, 1803.

Hon. Charles Doe, Associate Justice, Appointed Dec. 31, 1859. Born Oct. 23, 1830.

Hon. Jeremiah Smith, Associate Justice. Appointed Oct. 13, 1867. Born July 14, 1827.

CHEAP TRANSPORTATION.—Mr. Edward Crane of Dorchester has been addressing the prominent business men of Boston in favor of building a marginal railroad in Boston, the cars on which should be drawn by horses during the day and by steam at night, and it would also have dummy engines to facilitate the loading and unloading of freight. He stated that if the railroads coming into Boston could be connected with the wharves and warehouses of the city, a saving in the handling of freight would be realized of $2,500,000 a year.

SECRETARY OF THE NAVY.—It seems that Hon. John P. Hale has been deeply wronged, having been re-called in disgrace from Spain on false charges of importing goods into that country, duty free, and selling them for his own benefit. If Mr. Borie is to retire from the Navy Department, it would be nothing more than an act of justice should President Grant select Mr. Hale for the vacant position. He was for many years Chairman of the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs, and would make an efficient Secretary of the Navy.

☞ Among the passengers in steamer Russia from New York, were Mr. James T. Fields with his wife, and Miss Mabel Lowell, daughter of Prof. James Russell Lowell. Mr. Fields and party propose a summer trip to England and the continent, and many friends will wish them a good time.

☞ Senator Sprague has been filling the Washington Globe for two days with his speeches and several hundred letters from all parts of the country.

—So many disturbances have been made by the students in Russian universities that several of them have been closed.

New Hampshire Items.

The Baptists in Salem are building a meeting-house, and Rev. T. A. Herbert of Londonderry is to preach in it.

Rev. Silas Dean has become pastor of the Baptist church in Salisbury. He was out in the war.

The Young Men's (18 years old) suffrage Convention, which was attempted in Manchester on Tuesday, was a budget of blunders, resulting in failure, not being well arranged, Mr. Train did not speak, Mr. Usher did not come on account of sickness; and Mr. Mengis came late, made a written speech, and lost most of his audience before he closed.

Mrs. Jane E. Cole of Columbia, one day last February, wove eighteen yards of yard wide cloth, in nine hours.

Rev. Chas. Peabody, late of Eliot, has become pastor of the Congregational Church in Epsom.

The estimated cost of continuing the Wilton Railroad to Peterborough is $400,000; amount guaranteed towards building the same by various railroads, $300,000; town of Peterborough, $63,000; city of Nashua, $15,000; balance to be otherwise raised, $22,000.

All the dams at the Gilmanton Iron Works were carried away in the recent freshet. The dam which furnishes water for the Pittsfield Company shows signs of weakness, but is thought to be safe.

N. T. Brewster of Wolfeborough was engaged in hewing wood a few days since, in company with another man.—The man's axe came in contact with Mr. B.'s head in such a manner as to chip out a piece of his skull. Mr. Brewster was alive and doing well at last accounts.

George W. Morgan, while at work at a splitting machine at the Lake Shoe Factory at Wolfeborough on the 26th, chanced to get his fingers caught in the machine, splitting up all four of the fingers of the right hand, from one to two inches.

Phebe Mills of Freedom, an insane woman, attempted to poison herself recently with a powerful medicine, but was saved by the timely use of remedies. She was living at the time in the family of Nehemiah Meserve.

A GOOD RIDDANCE.—The Congregationalist of the 29th says:

Rev. Dr. Boynton resigned the pastorate of the Congregational Church at Washington on Thursday evening of last week. About one hundred of his friends took letters to a new Congregational Church, hereafter to be formed, to worship in the Young Men's Christian Association Hall. As this hall is not yet ready for use, the new church will, for the present, hold afternoon meetings in the First Baptist Church. By this separation there will be two Congregational Churches in Washington, of nearly the same size, and both self-supporting, so far as current expenses are concerned. The First Church retains the Church building, and all the church officers except the pastor; and will immediately endeavor to fill this vacancy.

It is to be hoped (says Uncle Toby) that the vacancy will be filled with a modest christian, who knows something of congregational usage, human rights and common courtesy.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP.—The story that Secretary Borie will resign his position proves to be incorrect. He is negotiating for a house.

Secretary Boutwell is making more office changes than any other secretary. His appointment clerk, Tullock, is an extreme Radical, and is engaged in marking down all clerks who have had Democratic proclivities. In some of the bureaus the attempt to remove some of the best clerks has excited the opposition of some of the heads of bureaus. In one case it is said that the head of a bureau threatened resignation in case two or three of his best clerks were removed. In several cases where good clerks have been removed, they have been reappointed when all the facts were bro't to Mr. Boutwell's attention.

Secretary Creswell of the Post Office Department is also making a very large number of changes, and most of them ought to be made, for many rebels and copperheads got in under Mr. Randall.

Mr. Tullock, who is Mr. Boutwell's appointment clerk, aspires to the Assistant Secretaryship, now filled by Mr. Richardson, in case the latter resigns. Worcester Spy.

SUCCESSFUL AND COMMENDABLE.—The largest stock of Dry Goods in New England, may always be found at the well-known stores of Jordan, Marsh & Co., Boston: their retail store on Washington Street, and their wholesale house on Franklin Square. While keeping their immense stock complete in all its departments, as required by the extensive business of $20,000,000 and upwards which they transact annually, they have given an impetus to American manufactures by a special and most successful effort for the introduction of American Silks, and other lines of domestic goods of great merit, such as have heretofore been almost entirely supplied by foreign producers.

—The Saginaw pine crop this year will reach the enormous amount of four hundred million feet.

TO STOP CANKER WORMS.—One of the surest and most economical modes, in our opinion, is to tar the trees. Of late a cheap kind of printer's ink is used by many instead of tar. This process will require some knowledge of the habits of the insect, and when begun must be faithfully followed up.

The wooden boxes used and recommended by Mr. G. B. Moulton, of Kensington, has proved efficient in many cases. Among others we may mention the large orchard of Messrs. F. and L. Clapp, of Dorchester, which has been fruitful for several years past, while others in its immediate vicinity have been badly ravaged by the canker worm. We have seen the trees of this orchard in full foliage and loaded with fruit, while neighboring orchards were entirely stripped, and of course without fruit. Indeed so successful have been these gentleman by the use of these wooden boxes and oil, that they received a greater amount of premiums on fruit at the exhibitions of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society in 1867 than any other competitors.—N. E. Farmer.

—Marriage brokerage has been decided by a Liverpool Judge to be illegal. The question before his honor was: Can a person recover even stipulated fees for procuring a man a wife or a woman a husband? His ruling was that a marriage brokerage contract is in itself void.

☞ A negro of Louisville, Ky., has brought a suit against the city for false imprisonment, claiming damages in the amount of $55,000. This suit will test the constitutionality of the ordinance under which parties arrested as suspected felons are committed to the workhouse in default of bail.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞ It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "thousand and one" articles known as Patent Medicines." We, however vary from our rule in the present case, that we may call attention to the article known as "S. T.—1860—X. Plantation Bitters." We desire it understood that we do so without any solicitation or promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty towards those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and, we confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a valuable medical compound, and to our great satisfaction accomplished the object for which they were used. 3a

RICHES HAVE WINGS, and families travelling should deposit their plate, laces, bonds, and other valuables in the UNION SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS, 40 State street, Boston, to insure them from loss by abstraction or destruction by fire. The vaults are not only fire and burglar proof, but an outer and inner guard is unceasingly kept, with constant communication between the two sets of guards. The depositor retains the key to the safe selected by him, the yearly rental of which will vary from $20 to $100, according to size and location, the lock of a safe being changed whenever it is re-leased. Send to Henry Lee, Manager, for circulars containing full particulars.

"FATAL NECESSITY IS NEVER KNOWN UNTIL IT STRIKES."—People rarely appreciate the necessity of an effective hair preparation such as "Barrett's Vegetable Hair Restorative" until old age or disease renders them bald. Even then, however, Barrett's will restore the hair in all its original lustre and abundance.—Baltimore Commercial.

Holloway's Ointment.—Thousands of cripples are now lingering unrelieved, under a false system of treatment, who would be speedily in a condition to cast away their crutches if HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT were applied to their stiff joints and ulcerated limbs. No other lubricant has such penetrating power. Indurated ligaments and contracted muscles relax under its influence, and discharging sores are healed by its disinfectant and tonic principles with a facility that almost transcends belief. Sold by all Druggists. a28

Common Sense

Rules the mass of the people, whatever the misnamed and misanthropic philosophers may say to the contrary. Show them a good thing, let its merits be clearly demonstrated, and they will not hesitate to give it their most cordial patronage.—The masses have already ratified the judgment of a physician concerning the virtues of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, as may be seen in the immense quantities of this medicine that are annually sold in every section of the land. It is now recognized as greatly superior to all other remedies yet devised for diseases of the digestive organs, such as diarrhœa, dysentery, dyspepsia, and for the various forms that arise from derangement of those portions of the system. Hostetter's name is rapidly becoming a household word, from Maine to Texas, from the shores of the Atlantic to the Pacific.

These celebrated STOMACH BITTERS have doubtless created as much sensation in the community for their remarkable cures as any other medicine extant. It is a fact that in the minds of many persons a prejudice exists against what are called patent medicines; but why should this prevent you resorting to an article that has such an array of testimony to support it as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Physicians prescribe it; why should you discard it? Judges, usually considered men of talent, have and do use it in their families; why should you reject it? Let not your prejudice stamp your reason, to the everlasting injury of your health. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it is therefore worthy of the consideration of the afflicted.—The BITTERS are pleasant to the taste, harmless in their effects, and altogether valuable as a tonic or remedy for indigestion. a28

ERADICATES ERUPTIVE AND ULCERATIVE DISEASES OF THE

THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, heredity or other causes, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect SAFETY.

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoction as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that medial agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "PAIN KILLER," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

☞ Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Call for Perry Davis' Vegetable "Pain Killer," and take none other. ☞ Sold by all druggists and grocers. a18

Brandreth's Pills vs. Bleeding.

Bleeding may give ease, because the blood lef has more room; but the ease does not last, and is followed by permanent weakness.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS relieve the circulation and give ease more surely and almost as quickly as bleeding; but Brandreth's Pills never hurt, and the good they do is permanent, because they take only what the body and blood are better without. Purgation with these pills will be found

A UNIVERSAL CURATIVE PRINCIPLE.

Let the wise examine its claims to their confidence. Mrs. Hooker, of Barnstable, Mass., was cured by them of St. Vitus' Dance of fifteen years standing. Thousands of children die annually of Croup.—Now, mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment in the house, you need never fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 21 years since I put up my Liniment, and I never heard of a child dying with Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cases of croup have been reported to me, and many stated if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Colic, Swellings, Mumps, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores, and Pains in the back and chest. SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, induces throw it off; but as easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has gained and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, heavy fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills to medial all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 228 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, by the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He commenced the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday. Patients at a distance for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cts a box. DR. SCHENCK'S PRINCIPAL OFFICE, 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

P. M. L. A.—At the regular Meeting of the Portsmouth Mercantile Library Association, held at their Hall on Wednesday Evening, a resolution was introduced, that the Library be open only on the same evening each week as that on which the business meeting is held—the regular meeting to commence at 8 o'clock, and the Library to be available during the hour previous. This proposition lies over till the next meeting for consideration; and the subject proposed for general discussion at that time is, What is the best means of increasing the usefulness of the Mercantile Library Association?

The number of members is now about 50, and should be doubled, and ought to include all the young men in the city, for whose benefit, especially, the Association is designed and adapted. It was suggested that Lectures might be given at their Hall, on local and general topics, by members, citizens or others, which by being opened to the public for a small fee, would prove not only interesting and beneficial, but would also add to the funds.

PERILOUS PISTOL SHOOTING.—Some careless individual discharged a pistol several times Wednesday evening, in a yard in the rear of the residence of Deputy Sheriff Charles H. Joy. The family were at tea and Mr. Joy's daughter rose from the table and went to the window to look out, when a bullet crashed through two panes of glass, it being a double window, about six inches above her head, scattering the glass the whole length of the supper table, and startling the family, as well may be imagined. The shot was fired by a half drunken man, who, careless and indifferent, discharged his pistol repeatedly, which very nearly resulted seriously. If the sale of intoxicating liquors is allowed it is at least necessary that the city ordinance prohibiting the discharge of fire-arms should be rigidly enforced for the security of all.

☞ An important special meeting of the Thespians is called for this (Friday) evening at 8 o'clock. Every member is requested to be present at that time.

☞ Stockholders in the Rockingham Trotting Park will observe that a Meeting is called for this (Friday) Evening, at the National Hotel.

City Council, Thursday Eve. April 29.

In Board of Aldermen, The subject of damage to grave-stones by the burning of stubble in Cotton's Burying Ground, was recommitted to Com. on Burying Grounds, to report particulars of damage. Petition of Edward N. Anderson, for repairs or renewal of stone of Sam'l Rand, broken, and petition of Jos. Walton for restoration of stone of Elder Walton, referred to same Com.

Respecting the proposed new Sewer in Vaughan Street, it was reported by the Street Commissioner that the abutters would subscribe only $150, (J. W. Peirce $100, J. H. Thacher $50,) of the $1200 to $2000 estimated cost. Ald. Cotton moved to lay on the table till the abuttors were willing to pay one-half the cost; yeas 1, Cotton; nays 5; Pendexter, Spinney, Miller, Slater, Pender; Nowell absent, Clark not voting. Ald. Spinney, Pendexter, Miller and Pender spoke in favor of this drain, and the Mayor and others urged a general system of sewerage; In accordance with which,

An Ordinance was introduced and referred to Com. on Bills on 2d reading, providing that any person desiring to enter a Common Sewer shall pay to the City Clerk, 1 1-2 per cent on the Assessors' last valuation of the estate to be drained, and the work shall be done under direction of Street Commissioner.

Com. on Sts. were directed to cause the Pumps in Court and North Streets to be repaired.

Same Com. were given one week more time to report on Concrete Sidewalk asked for on Elm St.

Thos. Mitchell's resignation as Fireman of Steam Fire Engine No. 2 was accepted, as he is to leave town; and Wm. Critchley, jr., was elected to the place on the second ballot, E. C. Page and Jas. B. Gammon receiving 2 votes each; Critchley having 6 on last ballot.

The Joint Com. on Schools with Mayor added, were requested [by both Boards] to meet the new School Com. at their organization on Tuesday next, relative to School Houses and accommodations for the coming year.

The Appropriation Bill, (reduced several thousand dollars from the Finance Committee's draft,) was received from the Common Council, and referred to Com. on Bills on 2d Reading. The amount is now $144,863.64,—$2500 being introduced for Franklin School-house, and $9000 cut off the amount to pay City Debts, and nothing included for Bridge or Common. The Bill is not passed yet, and it would seem needs to be increased considerably.

THE "STEREOPTICON."—We are glad to see that our citizens thoroughly appreciate these splendid Exhibitions, as they are of a character eminently fitted to please the fastidious audiences that nightly gather at the Temple. Many of those present each night have visited in person the scenes represented and can attest to their truthfulness. The local Views and Portraits prepared by the Davis Bros. are also very fine and the splendid Pictures presented last evening of Gov. Goodwin and Mayor Jones were received with great applause.

To-night will be given London and the Sydenham Crystal Palace, a Programme which received especial mention in the Boston papers and which will no doubt insure a full house here. We are glad to learn that the Director is about making an arrangement with the Teachers of the Public Schools by which they can be admitted at a merely nominal price when they come in a body. Every parent in the City should let the children attend as it will be their last opportunity for many years to witness this wonderful and highly instructive Exhibition.

☞ The patent Whiffletree and Breeching Hook, which are advertised this morning, were exhibited on our Streets on Thursday, and attracted a good deal of attention, and general approval,—as indeed they could not fail to do. By pulling a strap, which lays unobserved at the bottom of the carriage, the whiffletree is instantly turned over, so that the traces slide off the reversed hooks, and the breeching-hooks are so made that the straps come cleanly out of them too. With this rig, which with whiffletree and all costs but $3.50, a horse can be unharnessed in a single instant; and in case of runaway or accident, the rider can let his horse go clear at once. It is really a very ingenious thing, yet entirely simple; and the breeching-hooks alone are by far the best we ever saw, as they are safe, and yet cannot catch the straps, if left in by mistake when the horse goes out of the shafts.

Mr. Brett, the proprietor of these patents, is in this city to-day, at the National Hotel, for the disposal of town or State rights; and the fixtures can be seen in operation on his wagon and others belonging here.

Morning Chronicle.

The Merchant Service,—No. VII.

As a mere matter of dollars and cents, leaving right and humanity out of the question, I consider the enslavement of the sailor a poor speculation. True, it enables the master, if so minded, to sail his ship without paying any wages worth mentioning to the seamen; but how many sailors must be defrauded of their earnings to pay for one ship destroyed? I could name at least nine valuable ships that I have seen burned in port, within the past eleven years, all but one of which were probably destroyed by their crews, that being the only means by which they could get away. I will name several.

About 1859, the "E. Norris" of New York was burned in Hobson's Bay, Australia. Her crew were tried for causing the fire, and acquitted; but a man,—a New Zealand policeman,—less than two years ago, told me that he burned her "to get clear of her." I know nothing of the treatment of men on board that vessel; but this man wished to leave, and (if he spoke truth) burned the ship to enable him to do so. Keeping that man was a poor speculation for somebody,—owners or underwriters.

A year or two later the "Phœnix" of Boston was burned at the wharf at Sandridge, Australia. She was to have sailed the next day for England with a full cargo of rags and wool, and the conflagration was laid to spontaneous combustion of the rags; but one of her crew whom I met in New York lately, told me that he fired the ship himself, as he feared for his life to go to sea with her second mate, ("Bill Paine," a powerful, brutal wretch, and a noted "packetarian" and sailor-smasher,) and couldn't get clear of the vessel in any other manner. I believe the sailor's story to be true; if so, keeping him did not pay,—be preferring to risk being imprisoned for crime to being murdered for another's amusement.

The owners of the Black Ball Line of Liverpool and Australian Packets had two of their finest ships burned in Hobson's Bay, within two months of each other,—the "Empress of the Seas," bound for England with a full complement of passengers and wool; and the "Prince of the Seas," burned at the wharf. Both these vessels were undoubtedly fired by their crews,—driven to it by the impossibility of escaping from a condition of degradation and suffering in any other manner. These ships were British; but as the Liverpool ships alone, of all foreign vessels, approach the American in inhumanity to seamen, and as neither of these named would have been destroyed but for the oppressive law of which I complain, I mention them here in support of my idea that enslaving the sailor does not pay,—which is the only argument likely to have any effect in procuring justice for him.

Burning ships to get clear of them is as much a recognized institution among sailors, as running sailors out of ships to get their wages is among their superiors. Neither one nor the other crime,—for crime they both are in fact, tho' the first only is so in law,—could exist but for our unjust maritime regulations, which are a disgrace to our country and to humanity, and which are almost wholly responsible for the oppression and wrong practiced on the one side, and the desperate and often criminal means of escape or vengeance employed on the other.

In this series of articles I have brought up many cases of tyranny to seamen by masters and officers of ships; I could multiply these cases, from what I have myself seen, during an experience of less than fifteen years; and yet I do not consider shipmasters less humane and honorable on an average than other men. Some of the worst sea-tyrants I have ever met, were not only apparently gentlemen, but I really do not believe they would be guilty of a mean or dishonorable action, on shore. I do not say that all captains crush and worry and rob their crews; or that a majority of them do so. Such a statement would not be true. But I do say that every shipmaster may do so if he chooses, and that American law will assist him in so doing,—in fact, gives him every inducement to be a rogue. That oppression and robbery of the sailor are unknown in perhaps half of our ships is indeed an honor to those who command them,—but what can be said in praise of laws that render possible and encourage these wrongs in any,—and that our laws do so is evident to me, however it may appear to others. What right has "the law" to make any man's enjoyment of his liberty or property dependent on the honor or generosity of another? Our law does this with the liberty and property of the sailor,—and to a very great extent with his life. PAKEHA.

WHITE PINES FOR WIND-BREAKS.—White Pines are easily transplanted, grow rapidly, are hardy, and will subserve an excellent purpose as a shelter. Two rows are better than one, the back row to face the openings in the front row. You will find capital examples on the line of the railroad between Boston & Providence, where they are placed to prevent drifts from blocking the road. Transplant the last of May, just as the young growth of the branches appears. Dig up the sod with the roots, and not allow the latter to come to sun or wind. The trees must be kept thick at the bottom, and in order to secure this they must be headed down. If this is neglected, the leading stem will shoot into the air, throw out lateral branches, and the lower limbs will die and drop off.—N. E. Farmer.

A PAISLEY man, visiting Glasgow, was being shown the lions of the town, and among other things, admired the statue of Sir John Moore, which is an erect figure. He brought another Paisley man soon afterwards to see the statue, but not being topographically posted, arrived at the statue of James Watts, which is in a sitting attitude. Feeling somewhat puzzled as to the identity of what was before him with what he recollected to have seen, he at length disposed of the difficulty by exclaiming, "Odd, man! he's sat down since I saw him last."

—A Belfast correspondent of the Lewiston (Me.)Journal says the potato market there is very dull, and there are many thousand bushels yet waiting to come in from the surrounding towns. They bring only 55 cents a bushel. Some dealers are sending potatoes to Boston, which cost 80 cents, and get only 75 for them.

—A few days ago, two women living in Mansfield, Webster county, Ill., were observed,in full Bloomer costume, returning from a hunting excursion, each sporting a double-barrelled shotgun, carrying numerous snipe, woodcock and tomtits, the fruit of the day's campaign.

—William D. Edson and C. H. Barstow, who were formerly in business in Boston, where they failed and left $200,000 of unpaid debts, have been arrested in Minnesota, the former for bigamy and the latter for smuggling.

SIR:—I find in your issue of yesterday the following paragraph:

"Dr. Lippincott, (the husband of Grace Greenwood,) a fourth class clerk in the Post Office Department, was an applicant for the position of Superintendent of the Post Office Department, but failed to get the appointment."

During the visit of Mr. Macready to this country, as he was travelling on a western steamboat, he was pointed out, by a waggish clerk, to a rough backwoodsman, as Ole Bull, who was then giving concerts in the West. The great tragedian sat apart, on the deck, wrapped in poetic contemplation and insular dignity; but the tall Missourian strode immediately up to him, and with a startling slap on the shoulder, thus accosted him: "Hello, old hoss! Old Bull!—what's your fiddle?"

The stately actor turned upon him with a "withering look," and in the most tragic tone replied: "Sir, I am not a horse, neither am I a bull, neither have I a fiddle!"

In like manner I have to reply that Mr. Lippincott, of Philadelphia, "the husband of Grace Greenwood," is not a doctor, neither is he a "fourth class clerk in the Post Office Department," neither has he been "an applicant for the position of General Superintendent of the Post Office Department," neither has he failed to get the appointment.

As for the excellent Dr. Lippincott, is it not enough that he should miss of the office to which he aspired, that you must divorce him from his lawful wife, a most estimable lady—and bestow him upon a stranger?

As for us, belonging to another branch of the Lippincott tree, we have applied for no office at Washington, though we have, I will confess, held ourselves open to the proffer of a first class foreign mission. With slight solicitation we would consent to be "a looker-on in Vienna," though, perhaps, Madrid would be a better point, as our worldly possessions consist principally of certain dilapidated "Castles in Spain." That we missed of Paris was not, we feel assured, because our honored President loved Philadelphia less, but Galena more. A. Curtin has fallen upon our hopes of St. Petersburg, and if we mourn, it will not be in Russian sables. As for the Court of St. James, it seems "your Motley is the only wear."

I think I have some reason to complain of your editors, for apparently classing me among the "bigamistic writers of the day," in assigning me so many amiable consorts. If you would only vary the name, occasionally, there would be some relief in the variety. But toujours Lippincott!

The same disclaimer I now put forth for the benefit of Dr. Lippincott, must apply to Mr. J. B. Lippincott, the great publisher, and to General Lippincott, late Doorkeeper of the Senate.

They are "all honorable men," doubtless, but they are not my husbands; and I hereby warn all persons against trusting me on their account.

EMERSONIAN.—Some time ago, Ralph Waldo Emerson was offered payment, by his publishers in Boston, for an article he had already printed in the Atlantic. He declined to receive it at first, because he had once had money for writing it.

"But," said Osgood, of the firm of Fields, Osgood & Co., "we intend to use the article for a book, which has nothing to do with the magazine. We sell the magazine, and we sell the book. We make a profit on both. Why should you hesitate to take pay?"

"I am sure I ought not," replied the philosopher: "I should not if I acted according to my ideal. I don't believe it is honest for me to take money twice for the same piece of work."

"Do, Mr. Emerson; we insist upon it as our right."

"Well, then, give it to me. We cannot live in obedience to the true poles of our being. I vary from my highest self; and I have no disposition to play the evangelical peacock here." So delivering himself, he took the proffered check and departed.—Cin. Times.

SOWING CLOVER SEED.—I am confident there are hundreds of acres of clover seeding lost every year by sowing the clover too early. I wait until all the cold and freezing nights are past in the spring; then I sow my clover seed, and if it is on winter wheat I follow after with the drag, and if its a drag of eleven or thirteen teeth I lap the drag one-half. As soon as the clover is up nicely I put on plaster, at the rate of fifty pounds to the acre. I have never lost any seeding since I have followed that rule. In seeding after oats or spring wheat, I follow after the drag with the seed, before it rains.

I think in sowing too early, the first warm days sprout the seed and the hard frosts kill it, while it is very tender. Any one that has clover seed in the chaff may sow this at any time in the winter or early in the spring with safety.—Western Rural.

DYSPEPSIA AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, MAY 1, 1869.

The News.

President Grant visited Mount Vernon on Thursday.

Recent heavy rains in Mississippi have overflowed the rivers, seriously interfered with railway communication, and caused considerable damage to the crops.

Newark, N. J., has a National Sunday School Convention.

Both houses of the Ohio legislature have passed a bill giving the city of Cincinnati authority to raise $10,000,000 for the purpose of building a short line of railroad through Kentucky, to connect with the southern system of railroads at Chattanooga. The work will be undertaken at once and pushed forward vigorously.

The reported disaster to steamer Ureldа on the Missouri river is a fiction.

Late advices from Maracaibo say that the inhabitants of that city were in a fearful condition for want of water.—Not a drop of rain had fallen for three years. A letter from a respectable firm says that the town will soon be deserted; merchants and all about are leaving on account of the total lack of water.

Weston's walking is said to have enlarged his heart. Ahem!

Boston is to have a new theatre for amateur performances.

Only 9 1-2 miles of the Pacific Railroad remained unfinished on Thursday. Ten miles (one mile an hour) were laid on that day.

An $80,000 Skating Rink was burned in Philadelphia, Thursday night.

New Zealand advices state that a terrible massacre had occurred at White Cliff, Taranaki, on the 15th of February, during which Lieut. Gascoyne, wife and family, and six settlers, were slain.

CUBA.—Count Valmazeda, commander of the Spanish forces in the Eastern Department, has issued a proclamation whereof the following are the chief features:—

1. Every native male over fifteen years of age, found away from his residence without sufficient cause, will be executed.

2. Every uninhabited dwelling, and every inhabited dwelling where a white flag is not displayed, will be burned.

3. All women away from their homes will come to Bayamo or Jigani, or they will be brought by force.

The revolution in the eastern department is gaining strength, and the Spanish troops in that section of the island are suffering greatly from sickness.—The Cubans are besieging and constantly harassing them, and the capture of various convoys causes a scarcity of supplies and of ammunition in the Spanish ranks.

THE FIFTEENTH AMENDMENT.—The adoption of the Fifteenth Amendment of the Constitution has now become certain. The last State which ratified it was New York, making the twenty-first in the list. Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Vermont will soon give their assent, swelling the number to twenty-five. By the recent legislation of Congress, the ratification by Virginia, Mississippi and Texas is made a condition precedent to their restoration to the Union, and it will be quite sure to take place during the coming summer. This will make the total number twenty-eight, constituting the requisite three-fourths of the whole number of States.—Moreover, by next winter, it is not unlikely that Indiana and Ohio will add their assent, also any rate, the consummation of this great means may now be regarded as fixed.

THE EIGHT-HOUR LAW.—Gen. Butler, at an interview with President Grant, on Monday last, called his attention to the Eight-Hour Law, and urged that it was evidently the intention of Congress, notwithstanding the interpretation of the law by the Attorney General, that eight hour's labor in the government works should entitle the laborer to pay for a full day. The President agreed with him in this view, and said that he would bring the matter to the attention of the Cabinet at a meeting to be held on Friday, promising that an order should immediately be issued, at the suggestion of Gen. Butler, that men in the government employ be paid the same wages per day as those in similar employ in private establishments, and that eight hours should be regarded as a day.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

EXETER, April 28.

Mr. Michael Keenan, who was so severely injured on the 16th inst. by falling down the cellar stairs at the American House in this town, died this morning of his injuries. Mr. K. has long been an estimable citizen of Concord, and was extensively known as a skillful veterinary surgeon, in which capacity he was visiting Exeter at the time of the sad accident. His remains were sent to Concord for interment.

Rumors are current that operations will soon be commenced on the Exeter Railway. A public demonstration in the way of "breaking ground" is favored by some of our citizens.

The grounds surrounding the Robinson Female Seminary are being graded preparatory to ornamentation, which will be done under the supervision o Chas. Burley, Esq., whose experience and taste as a florist eminently qualify him for the task. The plan was made by Robert Morris Copeland of Boston, and provides for flower beds, grass plats, walks, &c., with a judicious combination of deciduous and evergreen trees, shrubbery, &c. There are to be several buildings, a chapel, conservatory, gymnasium, laundry, &c. The house and land directly in front of the Seminary, on Front Street, formerly owned by Capt. Chas. Gill, has been purchased by the trustees, for about $8000, and will probably be appropriated as a residence for the Principal. Several pieces of land have been purchased on the North side of the grounds, for the laudable purpose of enlarging the Seminary lot, and improving its shape.

The building will be finished in June, and will be occupied by the school at the commencement of the fall term.

The fund, on the first of last month, amounted to the handsome sum of $221,-964. This is about four times the amount the donor intended to bequeath to his native town for educational purposes, but in his will, after delivering sundry legacies, he gave for this purpose the "residue" of his property, and as the will was made some years before his decease, the property increased in value about four-fold.

There are now about 175 pupils in attendance at the school, which number will be largely augmented with the increased facilities the new building will afford.

With the return of dry ground and comfortable weather, the pupils at the Academy are busily preparing for an active base ball season. There are usually several spirited matches between the members of the several classes, every season. H.

THE VELOCIPEDE MATCH at Newburyport, for $150 a side, that came off between Henry I. Moody, jr., and B. C. Welch, on Wednesday morning, called a great crowd of people to High street, at an early hour. Moody won, making three miles,—from the Three Roads to Oldtown meeting house,—in twelve and a half minutes. There was not less than a thousand dollars pending on the issue. Some two thousand people witnessed the race; and of fifty teams, but few of them could keep up with the racers.

THE NEW INDIAN POLICY.—The President, under the authority given him in the last Indian appropriation bill, has designated the following named gentlemen to act as members of an unpaid commission of ten to aid him and the Interior Department in carrying out his Indian policy:—

E. S. Tobey of Boston, William E. Dodge of New York, George H. Stuart of Philadelphia, William Welsh of Philadelphia, John Brunnow of Pittsburgh, J. F. Farewell of Chicago, Robert Cambell of St. Louis.

☞ By way of St. Thomas, the 15th of April, we have late advices from Maracaibo. The populace of that city were in a fearful condition for want of water. Not a drop of rain had fallen for three years. A letter from a respectable firm says that the town is about to be deserted; merchants and all are about leaving on account of the total lack of water.

☞ While the Hibernian Minstrels were at Willimantic, Conn., the father of one of the girls accompanying the troupe appeared upon the scene, and carried away the wayward one, amid loud lamentations.

THE CASE OF THE BRIG MARY LOWELL.—An Havana letter says the government has officially announced its condemnation and confiscation of the brig Mary Lowell and her cargo.

☞ A large number of English factory operatives who are out of employment are arranging to emigrate to this country in a body.

—A correspondent of the Portsmouth Chronicle is furnishing that paper a series of able articles on cruelties practised on sailors in the merchant service. If but part, even, of the abuses cited can be proved,—in comparison with some of the brutality the writer says he has witnessed, savage life is humane, and it need not be a matter of wonder that so few Americans are found among seamen.—Boston Transcript.

We can assure the Transcript that our correspondent is entirely reliable, and has had ample experience and opportunity for knowledge on the subject of which he treats so well, and he says the half has not been told. And as was the case regarding negro slavery, and any other form of tyranny, it is not so much the officers that he finds fault with, as the laws which allow or tolerate, or render possible such abuse.

☞ Charles H. Green, of Boston, is carrying on an extensive business in the manufacture of brick at his yards in Kittery, which are under the immediate supervision of Mr. A. F. Small. These yards are located alongside of tide water and afford peculiar facilities for a large and successful business.

☞ Nearly one hundred of the cheapest sort of tenements are reported to be vacant in this city, but they are nearly all too mean for any decent man to occupy. Every man who is anybody, ought to own his residence, of course—otherwise he can never have a home worthy the name. F.

Ellis' Iron Bitters.

Having used your Iron Bitters in my practice, I can testify to its superior tonic properties for invigorating the appetite and promoting digestion. I can unhesitatingly recommend it in cases of general debility and dyspepsia, and in conditions of the system requiring the use of a ferruginous tonic. Its agreeable flavor must recommend it to all. Yours, respectfully,

CHAS. S. GAUNTT, M. D.,
Professor in the Philadelphia University of Medicine and Surgery.

For sale by Druggists generally. m29smond

Holloway's Ointment.—Thousands of cripples are now lingering unrelieved, under a false system of treatment, who would be speedily in a condition to cast away their crutches if HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT were applied to their stiff joints and ulcerated limbs. No other lubricant has a penetrating power. Indurated lymphatics and contracted muscles relax under its influence, and discharging sores are healed by its disinfectant and tonic principles with a facility that almost transcends belief. Sold by all Druggists. a28

Common Sense

Rules the mass of the people, whatever the misnamed and misanthropic philosophers may say to the contrary. Show them a good thing, let its merits be clearly demonstrated, and they will not hesitate to give it their most cordial patronage.—The masses have already ratified the judgment of a physician concerning the virtues of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, as may be seen in the immense quantities of this medicine that are annually sold in every section of the land. It is now recognized as greatly superior to all other remedies yet devised for diseases of the digestive organs, such as diarrhœa, dysentery, dyspepsia, and for the various fevers that arise from derangement of those portions of the system. Hostetter's name is rapidly becoming a household word, from Maine to Texas, from the shores of the Atlantic to the Pacific.

These celebrated STOMACH BITTERS have doubtless created as much sensation in the community for their remarkable cures as any other medicine extant. There is no doubt but that many persons a prejudice exists against what are called patent medicines; but why should this prevent you resorting to an article that has such satisfactory testimony to support it as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Physicians prescribe it; why should you discard it? Judges, ministers, men of talent, have and do use it in their families; why should you reject it? Let not your prejudice usurp your reason, to the everlasting injury of your health. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it is therefore worthy of the consideration of the afflicted.—The BITTERS are pleasant to the taste, agreeable in their effects, and altogether valuable as a tonic or remedy for indigestion. a26

ERADICATES ERUPTIVE AND ULCERATIVE DISEASES OF THE

THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect SAFETY.

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is desirable that family agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

In such a remedial agent exists in the "PAIN KILLER," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

Brandreth's Pills vs. Bleeding.

Bleeding may give ease, because the blood has more room; but the case does not last, and is followed by permanent weakness.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS relieve the circulation and give ease more surely and almost as quickly as bleeding; but Brandreth's Pills never hurt, and the good they do is permanent, because they take only what the body and blood are better without. Purgation with these pills will be found

A UNIVERSAL CURATIVE PRINCIPLE.

Let the wise examine its claims to their confidence. Mrs. Hooker, of Barnstable, Mass., was cured by them of St. Vitus' Dance of fifteen years standing. Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cents.

Thousands of children die annually of Croup.—Now, mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment in the house, you need never fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 21 years since I put up my Liniment, and I never heard of a child dying with Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cases of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Bruises, Toothache, Sore Throats, Colds, Swellings, Mumps, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores, and Pains in the back and chest. No one once tries it who is ever without it. It is perfectly safe to be used internally. Full Directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists. Depot 10 Park Place, New York. a20

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach and liver out the obstructions, to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, to stop the diarrhœa, they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Cutaneous or Scrofula, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying, in which case what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to gain, the lungs commence to heal, and the patient gets healy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the recent medicines, and since his cure many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1y j a4

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—The other day the Stereopticon man gave me two tickets to his exhibition,—one for me, one for my girl, he said. He didn't know that I had one,—but I have, though: however, as she objected to appearing in public with me, I had to go unprotected, on Thursday evening. For once, I found a performance that fulfilled the promise; the views of cities, buildings and statues (or, rather, the cities, buildings and statues themselves, for they were there in person,) being simply perfect. "Moonlight at Sea" was an exquisite scene,—much better than the reality, I think; and I ought to know something about it, for I've tried both. In this view you have all the beauties and none of the discomforts of the original. White Island Light was brought in from the Shoals,—so perfect was everything that it would have been real bliss to pelt horrible boys or dogs with the stones. His Honor Mayor Jones, and His real Excellency Ex-Governor Goodwin, were introduced towards the close of the show. I heard but one opinion expressed as to the merit of this entertainment,— unqualified approval. This (Saturday) afternoon, children are to be admitted at 10 cts. each, and a bigger treat for 'em can't be bought for the money, I boldly assert. Go and see it, all hands,—either this afternoon or evening,—'tis your last chance.

PAKEHA.

AFRAID OF HIS MOTHER.—On Friday, a youngster fell overboard at the foot of Pickering Street at the South End, and was rescued from drowning by persons near. Upon seeing his mother coming down the Street he expressed himself as preferring to drown rather than risk the consequences of getting his clothes wet. Terrified at the prospect of ill treatment, he jumped overboard and was again fished out—with difficulty. His cool bath did not drive away the fear of coming punishment and overboard he went again. Four several times did he spring into the water with deliberate intention to escape from his dreaded parent and four times was he fished out by the people who had gathered near the scene. At last his mother promised not to whip him and he consented to go home with her. Our informant states that the boy got an unmerciful thrashing, however, after he arrived home—his mother breaking her promise, in trying to break him in. Happy Childhood! ! !

RAILROADS.—The Summer Arrangement commences Monday, May 3d.—The only changes we note are, that the second morning train for Boston is to leave Portsmouth at 8:25, instead of 9 o'clock as heretofore; and the noon train from Boston will leave at 12 instead of 12:15 as before, and this train (Philbrook's) will run through to Portland, instead of stopping here.

A Sunday train is to run between Concord and Boston, leaving Concord at 5:30 A. M., and leaving Boston at 3 o'clock P. M.

☞ Any labor saving apparatus is really a blessing, and inasmuch as at this especial season nearly everybody is cleaning house, we would call attention to Brown's Patent Combined Carpet Stretcher and Tack Driver. We have not only observed the use of this article, but have used it ourselves, and pronounce it an excellent article. One of the agents for this county, Woodbury E. Berry of Exeter, is now in this city for the sale of them. He stops at the Franklin House, where the article can be seen.

☞ In the S. J. Court at Exeter on Thursday, the case of Isaac McQuestion vs. Alfred Randall, Replevin for twenty cords of wood cut by deft. on land in Londonderry claimed by Plff., Bartlett & Frink for Plff., Stickney and A. Wiggin for Deft, resulted in a verdict for Plf. for 15 cords, and 5 cords for Deft.

Case of Tuttle vs. Hoyt, to recover balance due on hay sold. Dispute as to weight of hay. Small & Wiggin for Plff., Hatch for Deft.

The Nantasket will be taken to the Charlestown Yard next week.

Mr. Albert W. Rix, who was temporarily assigned to the charge of the Machine Shop by Chief Engineer Macomb, has received his appointment from Washington.

REAR ADMIRAL LANMAN leaves the Yard this morning for Norwich, Conn., and Capt. John Guest will take command during the three weeks intervening before the arrival of Rear Admiral Lardner. The customary salute will be fired.

☞ A Navy Yard correspondent of the Biddeford Journal is after Congressman Lynch of the First Maine District with a sharp stick, and says that during Mr. Lynch's late visit at the Yard "he was put round by New Hampshire influence. Perhaps his constituents belong there, but after we worked as we did, we expected a little work from our member of Congress. The Cops. tauntingly ask us how much better off we are with Lynch than we should have been with Shaw, and no spy glass has yet been discovered sufficiently powerful to discover the man who can tell.—There are about sixty positions on the yard, and New Hampshire has got forty-five of them, and not a Maine man has yet received an appointment, or seems likely to, owing to Lynch's superhuman exertions to do nothing."

We doubt if the last statement is true, but whether true or false, our advice to the indignant correspondent is that at the expiration of Mr. Lynch's present term, he could do no better than to help nominate editor Butler of the Journal for Representative to Congress, as a partial reward for his valuable political services, and with the hope of obtaining prompt recognition from him when he is called on to pay political debts. G.

THE STEREOPTICON.—Good as were the former exhibitions, we think that of last night, giving the exquisite Rhine and scenery, surpassed them in interest. The audiences are good, but not so large as this unapproachable entertainment merits. The Hall should be packed every night. The proprietor assures us that this is probably the last visit the Stereopticon will ever pay to Portsmouth, as he intends soon to take it to Europe, and is now making a large collection of American scenes to exhibit abroad.

The last two exhibitions are to be given to-day, the one in the afternoon at a greatly reduced rate of admission, to give the little folks a chance to see this modern wonder. Davis Bros. have prepared an exquisite picture of one of the "fairest little lassies" of Portsmouth in the character of a May Queen, garlanded with flowers, which will make a very appropriate and beautiful illustration for the matinee.

For the evening we are to have Ireland and the Lakes, and a large collection of American Scenes, including the famous Hoosac Tunnel, that "great bore" of Massachusetts. Also, by request, some of the Professor's superb pieces of Statuary which have not as yet been shown here.

☞ Bishop Neely, of Maine, we understand is to administer the rite of confirmation, at St. John's Episcopal Church in this city, on Sunday morning, and at the Episcopal Church in Exeter in the afternoon.

Rev. Mr. Smith, of the Christian Church in this city, baptized four persons by immersion at Noble's Island on Sunday morning last; and Rev. Mr. Harmon, of the Freewill Baptist Church, also immersed four. The services were well conducted, and witnessed by a large assemblage.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

Morning Chronicle.

THOMAS BAILEY ALDRICH is publishing the "Story of a Bad Boy" in "Our Young Folks," which is, perhaps, a history of the author's younger days in Portsmouth. In the May number he tells how Tom Bailey joined the "Centipede Club," and his ludicrous experience may remind others of the old hazings which were proverbial on certain occasions in school boy days of yore.

"It was about this time that I became a member of the Rivermouth Centipedes, a secret Society composed of twelve of the Temple Grammar School boys. This was an honor to which I had long aspired, but, being a new boy, I was not admitted to the fraternity until my character had fully developed itself.

It was a very select society, the object of which I never fathomed, though I was an active member of the body during the remainder of my residence at Rivermouth, and at one time held the onerous position of F. C.,—First Centipede. Each of the elect wore a copper cent (some occult association being established between a cent apiece and a centipede!) suspended by a string round his neck. The medals were worn next to the skin, and it was while bathing one day at Grave Point, with Jack Harris and Fred Langdon, that I had my curiosity roused to the highest pitch by a sight of these singular emblems. As soon as I ascertained the existence of a boys' club, of course I was ready to die to join it. And eventually I was allowed to join.

The initiation ceremony took place in Fred Langdon's barn, where I was submitted to a series of trials not calculated to soothe the nerves of a timorous boy. Before being led to the Grotto of Enchantment,—such was the modest title given to the loft over my friend's woodhouse,—my hands were securely pinioned, and my eyes covered with a thick silk handkerchief. At the head of the stairs, I was told in an unrecognizable, husky voice, that it was not yet too late to retreat if I felt myself physically incapable to undergo the necessary tortures. I replied that I was not too weak, in a tone which I intended to be resolute, but which, in spite of me, seemed to come from the pit of my stomach.

"It is well!" said the husky voice.

I did not feel so sure about that; but, having made up my mind to be a Centipede, a Centipede I was bound to be. Other boys had passed through the ordeal and lived, why should not I?

A prolonged silence followed this preliminary examination, and I was wondering what would come next, when a pistol fired off close by my ear deafened me for a moment. The unknown voice then directed me to move ten steps forward and stop at the word halt. I took ten steps and halted.

"Stricken mortal," said a husky voice, more husky, if possible, than the first, "if you had advanced another inch, you would have disappeared down an abyss three thousand feet deep!"

I naturally shrunk back at this friendly piece of information. A prick from some two-pronged instrument, evidently a pitchfork, gently checked my retreat. I was then conducted to the brink of several other precipices, and ordered to step over many dangerous chasms, where the result would have been instant death if I had committed the least mistake. I have neglected to say that my movements were accompanied by dismal groans from various parts of the grotto.

Finaly, I was led up a steep plank to what appeared to me an incalculable height. Here I stood breathless while the by-laws were read aloud. A more extraordinary code of laws never came from the brain of man. The penalties attached to the abject being who should reveal any of the secrets of the society were enough to make the blood run cold. A second pistol-shot was heard, the something I stood on sunk with a crash beneath my feet, and I fell two miles, as nearly as I could compute it. At the same instant the handkerchief was whisked from my eeys, and I found myself standing in an empty hogshead surrounded by twelve masked figures fantastically dressed. One of the conspirators was really appalling with a tin saucepan on his head, and a tiger-skin sleigh robe thrown over his shoulders. I scarcely need say that there was no vestige to be seen of the fearful gulf over which I passed so cautiously. My ascent had been to the top of the hogshead, and my descent to the bottom thereof. Holding one another by the hand, and chanting a low dirge, the Mystic Twelve revolved about me.—This concluded the ceremony. With a merry shout the boys threw off their masks, and I was declared a regularly installed member of the R. M. C.

I afterwards had a good deal of sport out of the club, for these initiations, as you may imagine, were sometimes very comical spectacles, especially when the aspirant for centipedal honors happened to be of a timid disposition. If he showed the slightest terror, he was certain to be tricked unmercifully. One of our subsequent devices—a humble invention of my own—was to request the candidate to put out his tongue, whereupon the First Centipede would say, in a low tone, as if not intended for the ear of the victim, "Diabolus, fetch me the red-hot iron!" The expedition with which that tongue would disappear was simply ridiculous.

Our meetings were held in various barns, at no stated periods, but as circumstances suggested. Any member had a right to call a meeting. Each boy who failed to report himself was fined one cent. Whenever a member had reasons for thinking another boy would be unable to attend, he called a meeting. For instance, immediately on learning the death of Harry Blake's great-grandfather, I issued a call. By these simple and ingenious measures we kept our treasury in a flourishing condition, sometimes having on hand as much as a dollar and a quarter.

I have said that the society had no special object. It is true, there was a tacit understanding among us that the Centipedes were to stand by one another on all occasions, though I don't remember that they did; but further than this we had no purpose, unless it was to accomplish as a body the same amount of mischief which we were sure to do as individuals. To mystify the staid and slow-going Rivermouthians was our frequent pleasure. Several of our pranks won us such a reputation among the townsfolk, that we were credited with having a large finger in whatever went amiss in the place.

THE IMPROVEMENT to the Newburyport Mall by the removal of the school house from the upper end, is apparent to everybody. It has added so much to the real estate in that neighborhood, that the residents near the lower end of the Mall begin to enquire whether the school house there cannot also be removed. The Brown shool house on State street is lying idle, and could just as well be occupied. It is time for the city to clear away all the buildings about Frog Pond except the Court House, and extend the Mall. It can be done now cheaper than it ever will be hereafter, and private citizens are so anxious to have it done that thousands of dollars could be received for that purpose.

One gentleman is anxious to head a subscription for the purchase of the private property on the south side of the Mall with five hundred dollars, and his success in raising money for other public beneficent uses would be security for a large amount for the Mall improvement. If this should not be carried under the present city government, we hope in the next election, one party will be pledged to the extension and improvement of the Mall, and the Macadamizing or paving of State street. Let us somewhere make a beginning of substantial progress.—Herald.

NEWBURYPORT is hastening to a more prosperous condition. It will be forced upon us by the river improvement on the one side, and the railroad improvements on the other. By the extension of the Boston & Maine to the river, and by the building of the new road to Exeter, we are to have great advantages from the transmission of heavy freight. This is certainly to become the grand depot for coal supplies for an extensive region round about us, where the consumption of coal is to increase every year.—Herald.

AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING, —AND— SEWING MACHINE!

H. N. DUNTON, 27 Market Street, Agent for Portsmouth and vicinity.

The Reasons Why

This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do—the finest of sewing, hemming, felling, cording, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.

2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, as by hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)

3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine can.)

4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)

5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "over and over." (No other Machine can do it.)

Caution.

We would hereby warn the Public against all bogus advertisements of Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.

This Machine is for sale only at our establishment, 27 Market Street, where we cordially invite the Public to Call and Examine for themselves, and be convinced that this is the Best and Cheapest Machine for any family.

N. B.—All Machines are Warranted for one year. Instruction given at the house of purchaser free. Persons buying this Machine never wish to exchange for any other.

BY G. OSGOOD.

The maiden's mild and gentle mien
Was meet to grace, a sombre scene;
For as she turned her pensive eye
To view the tints of evening sky,
We marked its sweet and saddened gaze
Was like the soft departing rays;
And as she spoke her feeble tones
Were sad and tender as the moans
Of the low winds which die away,
On wave and hill at close of day;
While o'er her cheek were fainter shed
The warning tints of hectic red,
E'en as the hues of twilight fade
Prophetic of a deeper shade!

THE BARK SWALLOW.—In our old Boston Ledger, in the year 1677, is an account of "Bark Swallow, burthen 30 tuns," of which our Merchant Usher appears to have been the "ship's husband," as the term then was.

July 24, '77, he paid for 1-4 part of her hull, furniture and outset for a fishing voyage, £48 s16 d9: in Sept. he paid 5l 10s for his 1-4 of a second fishing voyage. And in Dec. he credits the vessel with fish and salt, 12l 16s.

In Oct. 1677, he charges for his 1-4 of fitting her for a trading voyage, £131 s14 d9

Pd—Thos. Smith for 1-6 of his 1-4	30	8	7
1678—April.—P'd Saml. Shrimpton for my pt musquettes & bullets	7	18	0
Sept.—Cash—for sundry charges on Negro's Cloth to cloth negroes	2	18	6
Dec.—For my 7-24 of her outset and cargo on a trading voyage	186	2	7
1679—Oct.—To Miles Forster, for 2 Coats and makeing to cloth Negroes	16	6
My 7-24 of her outfit for a third voyage	77	18	4

The reader need not be told that these three trading voyages were to Africa, for negroes, gold dust, gums, &c.

The credit side of the account has these items:

June.—Returns in part of trading voyage	64
July 4—Rebekah Bonner for a Negro woman	21
July 6—John Cutler jr. for Negro woman	23
Aug.—John Waite, for Negro man	25
Oct.—James Whitcombe, for 2 Negroes	40
Oct. 18—Jnanl. Henchman, for a Negro Woman	20
Nov.—Miles Forster, for 2 Negro women sent to Madeira	40
1679—My negro man Francisco	25
July 5—151 yds. long Cloth at 6d. &c., returned from 1st voyage	3	16	6
Nov.—By John Usher for negroes & the Barke	189	6	9
By Proffit & Loss for my damage by this handle	81	3	11

This was a heavy loss, considering that the whole account footed up only £567.

NEW MUSIC.—We have received from W. W. Whitney, Music Publisher, Toledo, O., the "Great Woman's Suffrage" Song and Chorus, entitled—"We'll Show You When we come to Vote," by Frank Howard; the title is characteristically illustrated. Price, forty cents.

"Oh! sad is the fate of Woman-kind,
Trod under feet we've always been,
But when we vote you soon will find,
That we'll fix these Terrible Men."

—The New York Evening Post publishes the following impromptu epigram:—

The "Union Pacific" is about to apply
For a change in its name—and no wonder:
'Tis as warlike as Jove, that great god of the sky,
And pacific, about, as his thunder!
And talking of this, it is strange, as it goes
Thro' perpetual snows in some quarter,
This railroad should be in the midst of its foes,
Perpetually in hot water!

ACCORDING to Zion Herald, Methodist preachers in Massachusetts get $1,000 a year, lawyers and doctors in Ohio six hundred dollars; and yet some preachers are always complaining of their sacrifices. "All this, and heaven too," they should say, as the old deacon did when he beheld the luxury of Lyman Beecher's new carpet. Never-fret. No body of men averages better pay, even for this life, than the ministry. Everywhere they have the best social position, and everywhere a better salary than the average of their members.—Liberal Christian.

—The brick-yards about Newburyport are preparing for a large increase of their business. They are laying tracks to the Eastern and Boston & Maine railroads, which will allow them to load their bricks on the cars in their own yards and forward them to any part of the country, free of charge.

MASTA'S' PULMONIC BALSAM

IS A SPEEDY and certain remedy for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influenza, Hooping Cough, Asthma and the various Affections of the Lungs.

☞ The attention of those afflicted with COLDS, COUGHS, and with any disease of the lungs, is directed to this valuable remedy. On account of sudden changes in the weather, colds and coughs are easily taken, and if neglected may lead to disease of the lungs. What is needed under such circumstances is a reliable remedy—speedy in affording relief, and effectual in arresting farther progress of the disease.

☞ To arrest the existing irritation of the air-passages and the lungs, speedily and effectually, the seat and cause of cough is an important step gained toward relief and cure in the first stages of the disease. MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM possesses this important power, and while it promptly and effectually arrests all existing irritation, and rapidly relieves cough, it renders the lungs farther relief by promoting a free discharge of the accumulated mucous in the air-passages, imparting a healthy action and vigor to the chest at the same time.

☞ Those suffering with cough and the first stages of lung disease, will therefore find in this valuable preparation a speedy and decided relief. Even those whose condition is beyond recovery, will derive from its use great benefit as well as comfort. For the class of diseases it is designed to relieve, the general commendation it has received has proved its efficacy beyond question. For the past ten years have been speedily and effectually cured by its timely use while suffering from severe colds, protracted coughs, and from other forms of lung disease. It is prepared from vegetable balsams and the medicinal properties of roots and herbs, with no minerals nor poisonous acids; simple and safe in the material used, it can be taken at any time.

AND LIVER COMPLAINT.

Important Certificate.

Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

MONDAY, MAY 3, 1869.

The News.

Two New Yorkers have made 90 miles in 15 hours on velocipedes—6 miles an hour on common roads.

The Spanish Cortes has rejected an amendment to the constitution establishing the Catholic as the only religion of the country.

Two locomotives have passed through Poughkeepsie, N. Y., en route to California. They will be the first to go over the entire length of the Union and the Central Pacific Railroads. The Hudson River Railroad engineers have placed on them the letters, notes and tokens of remembrance to their brother engineers who left for the Union Pacific last winter.

The President says he cannot go to California, as the distance is too great and he cannot spare the time.

It is reported through the British consul at Havana that the Spanish authorities have fired into and sunk a British vessel, and through another source that they have established regulations which require all commercial transactions to be submitted to inspection. The feeling is growing in official circles that such acts as these will ultimately compel governments like those of the United States and Great Britain to call the Spanish government to account.

The money used by brokers is liable to a tax of one per cent as capital. It is estimated that this will bring in a yearly income of $10,000,000 to $20,000,000.

The Virginia Conservatives have voted to support a Republican Conservative for Governor. Gov. Wells has the nomination of the Republican convention.

Messrs. Chas. H. Doe and Chas. H. Woodwell of the Boston Advertiser have purchased the Worcester Evening Gazette. Success to them!

The bridge over the Erie Canal at Syracuse, New York fell, Friday night while a steam fire engine was crossing it. The engine was utterly wrecked, the horses killed and three men injured.

The Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company have leased the East Pennsylvania Road for 999 years.

John Russell Young has instituted libel suits against the Press and Evening Bulletin newspapers of Philadelphia, laying his damages in each case at $100,000, and similiar suits will soon be brought against the New York Evening Post and the Cincinnati Commercial. It is further stated that Mr. Greely stoutly defends Mr. Young from all charges of dishonest or dishonorable action since his connection with the Tribune.

A whiskey fraud punished in the United States Court at Covington, Kentucky, judgment was rendered against W. Darling, of Carleton, Kentucky, for $300,000, in favor of the United States. The suit was to recover the tax on whiskey shipped from Carleton and consigned to Henry Grotendemper of Cincinnati. This whiskey, instead of being as consigned, was taken to another house and sold as free whiskey.

The English papers condemn Senator Sumner's speech and declare that England will not submit to be humiliated. The speech creates intense feeling and serious consequences are feared.

Ex-President Lincoln's step-mother died on the 19th of April.

It is reported that Minister Rosecrans has sent an important dispatch to our government stating that Mexico is desirous of selling a portion of its territory on the Gulf of California to the United States.

A New Word.—The Boston Advertiser says most of the musical societies of New England are now chorusticating for the Peace Jubilee. Won't somebody send the author a bottle of Soothing Syrup.

☞ Six shares of the Merchants' National Bank at Newburyport were sold a few days since at auction at $26.50, six shares First National at $124.75; and twenty shares Ocean at $67.

☞ The House Committee on foreign affairs is to visit the West Indies.

☞ The N. Y. Herald publishes a dialogue purporting to have taken place between one of its correspondents and Gen. Butler, in which B. F. very freely expresses his opinions, especially on the important question yet remaining unsettled between Great Britain and the United States. He, of course, thinks that our demands are just, but thinks Senator Sumner does not put the claims in their strongest light. He thinks the opportunity is not far distant when the United States can assert their rights with prospects of success, and says;

"Ireland or a war in Europe will give us that opportunity as soon as we are fully ready to take advantage of it. At present it is for England to say how she shall make the reparation—not for us. We can well afford to wait. The sense of her wrong and injustice in the minds of our people will not die out. Every statistical table which shows the decay of our commerce will inspire it with new life, and these feelings will burst into full activity as soon as England comes into fit condition to give us an opportunity of easy reparation. We can easily find means, whenever she gets into a war, to sweep her commerce from the ocean and substitute in its place our own. In the meantime we hold her under perpetual bonds to keep the peace to the amount of the interest she has in commerce and manufactures.

We thus reduce her to a third-rate power, because all nations know that she dare not be provoked into a war; therefore, as long as she stands in her present attitude with us she has no commanding position in the politics of Europe. France would not dare to go to war with Prussia if England could make herself an active ally of Prussia. Russia would not dare to push her conquests in the East up to the very gates of British India if she did not feel that Russia was the friend and England the enemy of the United States, and that under no conditions, until questions which are now considering as the Alabama claims are settled, can England go to war even to defend her rich possession in India. China, too, need fear no more the demands of England to force opium down the throats of her subjects with the cannon of British cruisers so long as the ports of the Pacific ocean can send out privateers under the flag of China, for whose Emperor the Alabama was said to have been built, for the purpose of making reparation for the ravages of England in the rebellion by the depredations of the Shenandoah and Alabama. So I repeat, we can afford to wait. It is for England to say what is to be done next."

The New York Times thinks it very strange that Mr. Motley is to be sent abroad without instructions, and wonders what he is to do when he gets to England. It says that we must either press the Alabama claims or abandon the matter altogether. It shows the folly of professing to accept England's conduct as establishing a principle of international law and acting upon it in our policy towards Cuba and in our treatment of the Fenians. It concludes by saying:—"The injuries we suffered from England, in the view taken of them by Mr. Sumner and the country generally, can be redressed only by the fullest apology and reparation, or by war. It is folly to fancy that England can be induced to acknowledge any violation of justice and right, or can be bullied into making reparation for a wrong she denies having ever done. She has consented to refer the matter to the decision of a mixed commission; and this is as far as she will consent to go. Any other reparation we may seek, can be had only at the cost of a war; and the sooner we take that view of matter, and act accordingly, the sooner will the affair be settled."

☞ The Massachusetts Temperance Alliance have resolved that the exemption of cider and beer in the prohibitory law is utterly destructive of the principle and power of the law; and as temperance men they repudiate the law as now proposed.

—In England, clergymen may be transported for fourteen years for marrying people after 12, noon, without special license.

—A suit is set down for early trial in a Tennessee court to test the right of a magistrate solemnizing a marriage to kiss the bride.

—A large number of summer residences are to be erected by the Union Pacific Railroad Company at Laramie.

—About seventy telegraph wires have been run through the Chicago river tunnel since it was opened.

—New York city is overrun with beggars, of both sexes, all ages, and with all kinds of sad stories.

—California produces more wine to the acre than any other part of the globe.

—The Potomac has been accidentally stocked with gold-fish.

☞ A prominent clergyman of Manchester, in a discourse delivered before his Society last Sunday, stated that the Protestant population of that city is about 20,000, and the Catholic about 7,000, yet that for the past three years the Catholics there,—a large portion of whom are day laborers,—had raised more money for religious purposes than all the other denominations in that place combined. The gentleman—who is a Protestant, —further avers that the Catholic Church property in Manchester is worth double that belonging to the Protestants, and that, notwithstanding the disparity in the population between the two, there are about as many Catholics in the city who attend church as there are Protestants.

If this is all true, an explanation of one portion of it is, that while the Churches of Manchester, generally are very ordinary and unpretentious edifices, the Catholics have recently erected a splendid and costly Cathedral there, in addition to that already existing, and they also have a Convent there.

Nashua has voted the City's credit for $215,000, to aid in building Railroads by which the city is to benefitted. This is getting to be the common practice in such movements. Formerly roads that were for the public good more than private profit, were built by voluntary subscriptions to stock; but while the public was benefitted, in many instances the stockholders lost, and at last the conclusion is reached that those who have the benefits should bear the costs.

— A dispatch from Indianapolis, Ind., says that the new Postmaster at that place has just discovered, in the basement of the Post Office building, forty-five bags of undistributed mail matter, which had arrived during the winter.

—Pirates are operating in the German ocean.

Remarkable Success of the National Life Insurance Co.—The National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America was chartad in July, 1868. In the first seven months of its existence, 3,532 policies were issued, representing insurance to the amount of $10,605,550, and calling for an annual premium of about $400,000. This is an astonishing success, and gives emphatic endorsement to the peculiar advantages offered by this Company, as well as to the confidence felt in those who are prominent in the management of the new Enterprise. The leading principle of the Company is to avoid all complications of notes or dividends, but, in effect, to pay dividends in advance by its reduced cash rates for a certain definite amount of insurance. Thus, the amount of insurance effected to March 1st, as noted above, would cost $600,000 annual premium in a company upon the "mutual" plan whose future dividends to policy holders are dependent upon prospective and necessarily uncertain prosperity The National Life has therefore made, in effect, a dividend of $200,000 in its first seven months, the largest ever made by any insurance company in the world in that length of time.

It is evident that the policy of the "National" is regarded with distinguished favor by investors, and there is a good reason for predicting for it a business career surpassed by that of no other Company. Attention is called to the advertisement, in another column, of the agent for this vicinity.

Common Sense

Rules the mass of the people, whatever the misnamed and misanthropic philosophers may say to the contrary. Show them a good thing, let its merits be clearly demonstrated, and they will not hesitate to give it their most cordial patronage.—The masses have already ratified the judgment of a physician concerning the virtues of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, as may be seen in the immense quantities of this medicine that are annually sold in every section of the land. It is now recognized as greatly superior to all other remedies yet devised for diseases of the digestive organs, such as diarrhœa, dysentery, dyspepsia, and for the various fevers that arise from derangement of those portions of the system. Hostetter's name is rapidly becoming a household word, from Maine to Texas, from the shores of the Atlantic to the Pacific.

These celebrated STOMACH BITTERS have doubtless created as much sensation in the community for their remarkable cures as any other medicine extant. It is a fact that in the minds of many persons a prejudice exists against what are called patent medicines; but why should this prevent you resorting to an article that has such an array of testimony to support it as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Physicians prescribe it; why should you discard it? Judges, usually considered men of talent, have and do use it in their families; why should you reject it? Let not your prejudice usurp your reason, to the everlasting injury of your health. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it is therefore worthy of the consideration of the afflicted.—The BITTERS are pleasant to the taste, agreeable in their effects, and altogether valuable as a tonic or remedy for indigestion. a28

CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA

Eradicates Eruptive and Ulcerative Diseases of the

THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect SAFETY.

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. a25

OF THE INJURIOUS EFFECTS of Face Powders and Washes. All such remedies close up the pores of the skin, and in a short time destroy the complexion. If you would have a fresh, healthy and youthful appearance, use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. a12 2m

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "Pain Killer," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in relieving pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

☞ Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Call for Perry Davis' Vegetable "Pain Killer," and take none other. ☞ Sold by all druggists and grocers. a18

Brandreth's Pills vs. Bleeding.

Bleeding may give ease, because the blood lost has more room; but the ease does not last, and is followed by permanent weakness.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS relieve the circulation and give ease more surely and almost as quickly as bleeding; but Brandreth's Pills never hurt, and the good they do is permanent, because they take only what the body cannot do without. Purgation with these pills will be found

A Universal Curative Principle.

Let the wise examine its claims to their confidence. Mrs. Hooker, of Barnstable, Mass., was cured by them of St. Vitus' Dance of fifteen years standing. Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cents.

Thousands of children die annually of Croup.—Now, mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment in the house, you need never fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 21 years since I put up my Liniment, and I never heard of a child dying with Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cases have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Remember this, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throats, Colic, Swellings, Mumps, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores, and Pains in the back and chest. No one once tries it who is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists. Depot 10 Park Place, New York. a20

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the patient gets hungry, which is very dangerous to some, but it does no good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient gets worse; the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will give it off. And the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relaxe the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a mineral poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they destroy the whole digestive powers, choking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever, but removes the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs are sound, are diseased, ulcerated, tubercles, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not by the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets healthy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the above named medicines, and since then many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

☞ A friend informs us that at the time of Congressman Lynch's visit to the Yard, like any man of common sense he preferred going over in the Steamer instead of walking from Kittery Depot, and therefore first stopped at Portsmouth. Had he not been escorted to the Yard by any one from this side of the river the jealous correspondent would have had an opportunity to growl for lack or courtesy to Kittery's Representative. As it was the Captains and Colonels across the river were non est—miles away, and Mr. Lynch would have been neglected and might have been lonesome had he remained on the Yard long.

So much for this very important call of Portland's citizen, which has so exercised W. D. B., the Biddeford Journal's dyspeptic correspondent. We would respectfully recommend Congressman Lynch, if any at any future time he should dare to face his outraged Kittery constituents and appear at the Yard, to send numerous telegrams to his people there announcing his coming, several weeks in advance, and bring along a small cannon to prepare the hosts of Kittery retainers for his proper reception.

SALE OF REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION.—The real estate belonging to the heirs of Samuel Treat, was sold at auction by William H. Hackett, Esq., on Saturday at noon. The Houses at the North side of Deer Street brought $1200 and were purchased by Mrs. A. Treat. Willow Cottage sold for $1275, to Jos. K. Dupray. The house occupied by W. R. Martin, Esq., was knocked down to J. W. Raitt for $2550; and the lot in the rear, on Treat's Court, brought $252.50.

The Treat field on Islington Road brought $1200, and was purchased by Allen Treat. The price was thought by many present to be a high one.

NUISANCES—the ill mannered people of both sexes who regularly appear at the Stone Church every Sunday evening and keep up a continual clattering of tongues and tittering, which prevents those nearest them from listening quietly to the services, and annoys all within hearing or sight of the disturbers. If they have no respect for themselves it would seem that they would at least respect the place and occasion, or remain away until they can improve their manners, and learn to have some regard for common decency.

THE RAILROAD AND MAIL CHANGES.—The Express train from Boston to Portland which arrives in Portsmouth at 8 o'clock, will leave Boston at 6 o'clock, P. M., on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, instead of Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays as heretofore. As the first mail train to Boston leaves this city at 8.30, A. M., instead of 9 o'clock, the mails for that train will close at quarter past 8 o'clock, hereafter, instead of at 8.40.

☞ The performers at the Concert advertised by Mrs. McAwley for Wednesday, come highly recommended from Boston. The lady herself is well known here as formerly Miss Ellen Holland, and is reported to have greatly improved as a vocalist; and her assistants are strongly recommended.

Morning Chronicle.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

BOSTON, May 1.

A week since Eliot Hall, Newton, was filled in every part by a highly appreciative and fashionable audience, to witness the fourth representation of the operetta of "The Doctor of Alcantara," by Newton Amateurs. The number in attendance from Boston was very large, and those who had not previously witnessed a performance by the Amateurs were most happily surprised by the excellence of the entertainment. The costumes were elegant, and the singing was of high order, while the various performers entered into the spirit of their impersonations in such a manner as to leave no possible chance for aught but success, and the wealth of floral offerings that greeted the fair lady performers evinced that their efforts were appreciated. As you have editorially noticed a previous presentation of this same opera by the Amateurs (Mr. J. G. Tompson Jr., Miss Stetson, and others,) I will not enter into details. The drop scene, "The Old Pier at Littlehampton," carried me in fancy to your vicinity.

That the fools are not all dead yet, is evinced by the great success (pecuniarily) of the Davenport Brothers at Music Hall, and I'm one of the fools, for I attended an exhibition of their manifestations an evening or two since. People who pooh-poohed at the whole thing came stealthily into the hall, expecting to remain unrecognized among a few deluded followers of an ism shorn of its glory, but were surprised and disgusted to find themselve confronted by a vast concourse that filled the great hall with the exception of the upper balcony. At the admission rates of 50 and 75 cents, this audience must have been a very profitable one, yet you will see hereafter that yet other rich revenue was derived from the gullible or the curious.

For an hour or more the old performances with the cabinet were re-enacted, the lights as ever being turned down to obtain the manifestations. The playing upon various instruments, and throwing miscellaneous articles out of an aperture in the door of a cabinet, the appearance of hands and arms at the same aperture, the tests of flour upon the hands and the presence of a party from the audience inside the cabinet where the brothers were apparently securely tied, were all gone through with, ending with the untying of the ropes which bound the Davenports;—but the most entertaining part of the exhibition was the decided negative which one and all the performers and manipulators of the show opposed to the request of a gentleman in the audience that he be allowed the privilege of tying the Davenports with his own ropes (which he had brought for the purpose) in his own fashion. He was threatened with expulsion and the police, and was unable to make his plea heard except to that portion of the audience at the very front.

When the brother came from the cabinet it was announced there would be a "dark seance," to which a limited number could remain upon the payment of the trifling sum of one dollar. The number was "limited" only by the number who could be induced to purchase tickets. Would you believe it? four or five hundred fools remained, and more astonishing still, I was one of those fools, also.

At this exhibition the performers, Mr. Fay and one of the Davenports, sat in chairs near the front of the stage, with a table between, their hands tied together behind their backs, the rope then passed around the rounds of the chair and thence to a leg of the table. The instruments placed on the table were played in the darkness; phosphorescent oil being placed upon them they were seen to describe such circles in the air as if a man were to swing them one in each hand, and were hurled with much violence among the audience, giving me much uneasiness respecting the safety of my new castor, as I had no desire for it to be smashed as was that of a gentleman near me, and did not dare to place it on the floor lest some one might use it as a spitoon in the darkness.

Between each new feat the light was turned on. In one time of darkness Mr. Fay's coat was removed from his body and thrown into the audience, he being still tied with his hands crossed behind him. Wyzeman Marshall, Esq., was upon the stage, and free from any suspicion of collusion with the performers. Mr. Marshall's coat, which he had laid off for the purpose, in the next interval of darkness was placed upon the body of Mr. Fay, still bound as at first. These tests were very quickly performed, and to my mind worth all the rest. The feats are well done and the performance as a whole worth seeing once.

Admitting that all these things are done by spirits:—cui bono? Good, certainly, for the performers, if they can take $1000 or $1500 a night. The music played by the spirits would not seem to indicate a high order of talent, as it would hardly pass muster for a side show at a circus, but perhaps I'm not cultivated up to "the music of the spheres," and I can't perceive any utility in thrusting bare arms through a diamond shaped hole or hurling guitars and tamborines among an audience of ladies and gentlemen, with sufficient force to break the instruments. It may be that these spirits love darkness better than light because their deeds are evil.

If you ask me on what grounds I account for these performances? I give it up. I don't care to struggle with anything more abstruse than a simple conundrum. I can't even tell you how Signor Blitz removed some pennies from my hand, in the broad glare of the oil lamps which illuminated the Temple stage, twenty years or more ago; I don't generally let such things go without some quid pro quo.

Seriously, I would not wish to hurt the feeling of any of the many estimable people who believe these things to be the work of disembodied spirits, but I think the spirits might find a much better occupation, as I have yet to learn of the first case where they have accomplished any good, and if they will leave me unmolested I am content not to seek to pry into their mysteries. M.

—The town of Amesbury has asked legislative permission to take stock in the West Amesbury Branch Railroad.—The road will be entirely within and for the benefit of that town, and there is no reason why the town should not build it, as a common road, if they desire it.

MAGDALEN.

BY HARRIET PRESCOTT SPOFFORD.

If any woman of us all,
If any woman of the street,
Before the Lord should pause and fall,
And with her long hair wipe his feet—

He whom with yearning hearts we love,
And fain would see with human eyes
Around our living pathway move,
And underneath our daily skies—

The Maker of the heavens and earth,
The Lord of life, the Lord of death,
In whom the universe had birth,
But breathing of our breath one breath—

If any woman of the street
Should kneel, and with the lifted mesh
Of her long tresses wipe his feet,
And with her kisses kiss their flesh—

How round that woman would we throng,
How willingly would clasp her hands
Fresh from that touch divine, and long
To gather up the twice-blest strands!

How eagerly with her would change
Our idle innocence, nor heed
Her shameful memories and strange,
Could we but also claim that deed!

Harper's Mag.

Fashion Gossip.

The fashion of the season is to present baskets of fruit instead of flowers.

A fastidious bridegroom in New York has sent to Paris to have his wedding cards engraved.

The Princess Metternich decides that dresses shall be lower in the neck and longer in the train.

"Straddle dresses," is the name given to the costumes which female velocipede maniacs are to wear in public when riding their machines for people's delectation, when the fine weather sets in.

The Empress of Austria appeared at the last State Ball at Vienna, in a new dress composed of the green and golden wings of South American beetles, sewn with gold thread on a tissue of white silk. A splendid suite of diamond and emerald completed this costume.

HOOPED SKIRTS.— The votaries of fashion in New York will be struck with the positive intelligence that crinoline holds sway as before, and that hooped skirts have successfully resisted all attempts to dethrone them. The beautiful blonde, the Marquis de Caulay, known also as the Madonna des Roses, from her profuse floral adornments, rules the charm-circle at Compiegen, and basks in the smiles of the Empress. Her august friend and she have both retained the old drapery.—The New York Mercantile Journal.

WOOD ASHES AS A FERTILIZER.—It is the opinion of agricultural papers and books that wood ashes are a benefit to the land. For grass and clover they are excellent. For fruit trees of almost or quite all kinds, they are of great value. They will do for the grains. Plow in and mix with the soil; but better, apply to the surface.

Ashes, like plaster, attract moisture. It is the potash in them that does this as well as other materials, of which gypsum is one. They are therefore excellent as mulch or top-dressing for other mulches. Fruit trees should be treated this way. Grapevines and berry bushes the same. If the soil is a stiff clay, there will be less effect. A loose somewhat leachy soil will be at once benefited, and so will any light soil readily affected by a drouth. Where ashes are used largely, it is not necessary to use plaster, as they contain a certain percentage of this valuable fertilizer. They have many properties, and unless plenty in the soil, should be used, even at a pretty high price. In the winter is a good time to gather them.

Leached ashes are also good. They form an excellent covering for tree soil, and around berry bushes and grapevines.—Country Gentleman.

THE PROPHETS—where are they?—The Laconia Democrat of Feb. 5, had this item:—

In Connecticut, the Democrats have re-nominated the ticket they elected last spring. The Hartford Times says the contest of last spring more clearly showed the strength of the respective parties in Connecticut than that of last fall. The November election went by default after the defeat in Indiana and Pennsylvania. The coming State election will be a different contest, and the Democrats will win.

Well: they did not win much. The Dover Gazette of Feb 26, said:

It is, then, a duty which the Democracy owe to themselves, to the State and the country, to carry this State at the approaching election, and we believe they can do it, and have an abiding confidence that they will.

Well; they did not.

—A family of emigrants from Maine reached Osage, Iowa, on a Friday, and on the same day took possession of a tract of unimproved land. On Saturday they went to housekeeping, and on Monday were busy sowing wheat.

—There are still over a million acres of swamp land in Arkansas unsold.

MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM

IS A SPEEDY and certain remedy for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influenza, Hooping Cough, Asthma and the various Affections of the Lungs.

☞ The attention of those afflicted with COLDS, COUGHS, and with any disease of the lungs, is directed to this valuable remedy. On account of sudden changes in the weather, colds and coughs are easily taken, and if neglected may lead to disease of the lungs. What is needed under such circumstances is a reliable remedy—speedy in affording relief, and effectual in arresting further progress of the disease.

☞ To arrest the existing irritation of the air-passages and the lungs, speedily and effectually, the seat and cause of cough is an important step gained toward relief and cure in the first stages of the disease. MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM possesses this important power, and while it promptly and effectually arrests all existing irritation, and rapidly relieves cough, it renders the lungs further relief by promoting a free discharge of the accumulated mucus in the air-passages, imparting a healthy action and vigor to the chest at the same time.

☞ Those suffering with cough and the first stages of lung disease, will therefore find in this valuable preparation a speedy and decided relief. Even those whose condition is beyond recovery, will derive from its use great benefit as well as comfort. For the class of diseases it is designed to relieve, the general commendation it has received has proved its efficacy beyond question. For the past ten years have been speedily and effectually cured by its timely use while suffering from severe colds, protracted coughs, and from other forms of lung disease. It is prepared from vegetable balsams and the medicinal properties of roots and herbs, with no minerals nor poisonous acids; simple and safe in the material used, it can be taken at any time.

DYSPEPSIA AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LISBY,

TUESDAY, MAY 4, 1869.

The News.

Hon. H. L. Dawes has declined the Judgeship on the Supreme Bench tendered him by Gov. Claflin of Massachusetts.

Russia proposes to enlarge the number of voters throughout the Empire, and to modify the press law.

Senator Sumner's speech has created great anxiety in Great Britain.

The French Atlantic cable will be finished and on ship-board by the middle of this month. The intention is to have it in working order by the 4th of July if success attends the first efforts at putting it down.

The Central Pacific Railroad Company finished their portion of the road on Saturday, with the exception of two connecting rails, which Governor Stanford will lay on Friday or Saturday of the present week. Celebrations of the event will be held in San Francisco and at Sacramento, for which extensive preparations have been made.

The instructions of this government to Mr. Motley, our minister to England, do not suggest any mode of adjusting the pending questions between the United States and Great Britain, nor do they require him at present to propose the re-opening of negotiations for the settlement of the Alabama and other claims. Our government will act with the deliberation due to this important subject, and carefully avoid any cause of offence, while firmly presenting the American side of the question to her Majesty's government when occasion shall require.

Advices from Alaska state that Indian villages have been destroyed by the settlers. Extensive coal fields have been discovered in that region.

Mr. Sumner thinks there will be no war on account of the Alabama question.

Gold has gone up to 135 3-4.

The public debt was decreased $6,500,000 in April.

☞ The New York Tribune of Saturday contains an article on the Dana-Young case, over the well-known signature "H. G." Mr. Greeley makes three classes of the charges against Mr. Young,—conceit, using his position for purposes of private gain, and dishonestly furnishing news to the Philadelphia papers. With the first, he says, the public has no concern. The second he does not believe, and he has strong hopes that the third will prove unfounded. But he calls on the Associated Press to investigate the matter rigidly, proposing to take no part himself in the inquiry unless by compulsion, and concludes his long article as follows:

"But, pending such scrutiny, we beg that it be understood that Mr. Young has not been removed, nor suspended, nor in any manner condemned by us, as has been mistakenly asserted by the Sun and telegraphed all over the country. It is not our custom to pass judgment on any one on the strength of a mere indictment, especially when the finding of it was plainly impelled by envy, malice, and blighted aspirations."

AUSTRALIA.— A nugget, weighing two hundred and ten pounds troy, was unearthed by a couple of dead-broke miners at Dundly. It is believed to be the largest mass of gold ever discovered.

The war has about ended in New Zealand, the Kaoti having died from the effects of his wound and the Hanhans being dispersed.

Capt. Brown, of the American whaling barque Callao of New Bedford, is held by the Consul at Auckland on a charge of shooting a seaman named Brennan and leaving another named Connolly among the natives on Lynx Island.

☞ The rain storm which began in this city on Saturday afternoon, extended as far South as Philadelphia, and in New York it was very severe. In the former city it ended in a snowfall, lasting nearly an hour.

In this city on Sunday the rain fell in torrents from daylight till midnight, and the wind blew heavily from the northeast. It was almost next to impossible to carry umbrellas for protection in the streets and the churches were almost deserted.

We hear that the roof of a new house being erected for Mr. Hardison Foss at Foss' Beach, Rye, was blown off during the gale.

—Incomes in Wisconsin are heavier this year than last.

Written for the Chronicle and Gazette.

EXETER, May 3.

Somebody has written very finely on the music of labor;—

"The banging of the hammer,
The whirring of the plane,
The crashing of the busy saw,
The creaking of the crane,
The ringing of the anvil,
The grating of the drill,
The clattering of the turning-lathe,
The whirling of the mill,"

are cheerful sounds; and the more such sounds heard in every community, the better for the prosperity of all.—The establishment of a new branch of industry not only benefits all connected with it, but extends its benefits to many others, both at home and abroad.

I take great pleasure in recording the fact that the extensive carriage establishment occupied so many years by Orin Head, either alone or in company with others, has been reopened under the proprietorship of Mr. Head and Asa Jewell. The establishment was purchased of Mr. Head a little over a year ago, but the purchaser either from lack of capital or knowledge of the business, or both, suspended at the end of six months.

The carriages produced at this place have ever borne an excellent reputation for their neat and tasty appearance, and the thoroughness of the work. The buildings, which are large and commodious, have been improved and repaired, and new machinery added. A powerful steam engine greatly facilitates the production of much of the work, blowing the fires for the blacksmiths, grinding paint for the painters, and, in cold weather, heating the work.

Planing machines, saws, etc., for the preparation of boards and carriage stuff, have been added, supplying a want that has long been greatly felt by the public.

The new firm, or rather the old one revived, have now fifteen or twenty hands employed, and are increasing their force as fast as first-class workmen can be procured.

The annual May Festival, by the ladies of the Unitarian Society, is announced for Wednesday, 5th inst., day and evening. Many of your Portsmouth residents can testify to the excellence of these annual gatherings. The proceeds are to be applied towards discharging the debt on the new church, and the ladies of the Society hope to see or hear from all their friends. Music for the occasion will be furnished by an excellent band from Boston.

Two Portsmouth young men bicyculated from your city to this town, one day last week, stating that they were but two hours and twenty minutes on the road. I hear that one of them wore through that portion of his pants that came in contact with the saddle.

I learn that Wm. Burlingame, of the Exeter Machine Works, came from the Union Hotel in Hampton to this village, on Friday last, in one hour and four minutes, on a bicycle.

A hen was killed on Friday, by J. N. Head, of this town, that contained sixteen full-sized, soft shelled eggs, and numerous smaller ones! Wasn't that eggs-traordinary? H.

☞ The Massachusetts Legislature while considering the new prohibitory bill has quietly passed a bill "concerning licenses" by which the license law is shorn of its privileges, (as nobody can be licensed under it,) while its penalties remain in full force. The law goes into effect immediately, and by its provisions no bar-keeper can sell whiskey over his counter, no publican can sell wine to his guests, no apothecary can put up a prescription with stimulants, no brewer can supply his customers, no farmer can sell cider to his neighbor, without being liable to a fine of five hundred dollars and confinement at hard labor in the house of correction for six months.

BENNETT BELLICOSE.— The N. Y. Herald of Saturday says:—

"It will be seen, that the Alabama claims difficulty must soon come to an issue—an issue either by peaceful arbitration and the footing up and prompt payment of our bill of damages, or war. To England we tender the choice. Which will she accept? Our people are aggrieved, but prepared to settle the dispute either way."

IT IS NOT YOUR BUSINESS WHY.

The following lines are not limited to any particular locality, but are applicable to every neighborhood.

Would you like to know the secrets
Of your neighbor's house and life?
How he lives or how he doesn't,
And just how he treats his wife?
How he spends his time of leisure,
Whether sorrowful or gay,
And where he goes for pleasure,
To the concert or the play?
If you wish it I will tell you—
Let me whisper to you sly—
If your neighbor is bad civil,
It is not your business why.

In short, instead of prying
Into other men's affairs,
If you do your own but justice,
You will have no time for their's
Be attentive to such matters
As concern yourself alone,
And whatever fortune flatters
Let your business be your own.
One word by way of finish—
Let me whisper to you sly—
If you wish to be respected,
You must cease to be a pry.

—By the wise policy of Iowa, a large part of that state which was covered with hazel shrubs and prairie grass fifteen years ago is now clothed with forest. Planting forest trees exempts a certain amount of valuation for ten years.

—Letters have been received in Chicago detailing the terrible sufferings by famine of the Jewish villages in Russia near the Prussian line, and contributions to relieve the distressed are flowing in.

—The Post Office Department requires Patrick H. Jones, recently appointed postmaster at New York, to give bonds in the sum of $750,000.

—In the near neighborhood of Goldsborough, North Carolina, there are one hundred acres of land devoted to the cultivation of strawberries.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞ It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "thousand and one" articles known as Patent Medicines." We, however vary from our rule in the present case, that we may call attention to the article known as "S. T.—1860—X, Plantation Bitters." We desire it understood that we do so without any solicitation or promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty towards those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and, we confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a most valuable medical compound, and to our great satisfaction accomplished the object for which they were used. 3a

RICHES HAVE WINGS, and families travelling should deposit their plate, laces, bonds, and other valuables in the UNION SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS, 40 State street, Boston, to insure them from loss by abstraction or destruction by fire. The vaults are not only fire and burglar proof, but an outer and inner guard is unceasingly kept, with constant communication between the two sets of guards. The depositor retains the key to the safe selected by him, the yearly rental of which will vary from $20 to $100, according to size and location, the lock of a safe being changed whenever it is re-leased. Send to Henry Lee, Manager, for circulars containing full particulars.

Common Sense

Rules the mass of the people, whatever the misnamed and misanthropic philosophers may say to the contrary. Show them a good thing, let its merits be clearly demonstrated, and they will not hesitate to give it their most cordial patronage.—The masses have already ratified the judgment of a physician concerning the virtues of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, as may be seen in the immense quantities of this medicine that are annually sold. This preparation is now recognized as greatly superior to all other remedies yet devised for diseases of the digestive organs, such as diarrhoea, dysentery, dyspepsia, and for the various fevers that arise from derangement of those portions of the system. Hostetter's name is rapidly becoming a household word, from Maine to Texas, from the shores of the Atlantic to the Pacific.

These celebrated STOMACH BITTERS have doubtless created as much sensation in the community for their remarkable cures as any other medicine extant. It is a fact that in the minds of many persons a prejudice exists against what are called patent medicines; but why should this prevent you resorting to an article that has such an array of testimony to support it as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Physicians prescribe it; why should you discard it? Judges, usually considered men of talent, have and do use it in their families; why should you neglect it? Let not your prejudice usurp your reason, to the everlasting injury of your health. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it is therefore worthy of the consideration of the afflicted.—The BITTERS are pleasant to the taste, agreeable in their effects, and altogether valuable as a tonic or remedy for indigestion. a28

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. There is this consolation, however, that for almost every pain there is a remedy that should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "PAIN KILLER," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, the "Pain Killer" is known and appreciated. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relaxe the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this syrup is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient starves and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesions, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 38 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

A CAPITAL APPOINTMENT.—A Washington dispatch to the Boston Transcript states that Maj. Daniel J. Vaughan, of this city has been appointed Pension Agent, by President Grant. Mr. Vaughan enlisted in the 57th New York Regiment in 1861, fought in the ranks for nearly four years, and received a severe wound in the face at Antietam, by a large grape shot which passed through into his mouth and was afterwards taken therefrom. The wound was a serious one, but with good care Maj. Vaughan was ready for duty again in two months, remained in the army until the expiration of his term of service (just before the collapse of the rebellion,) and bears upon his face to-day the scar as a memento of the fearful wound—the proudest record of a soldier's patriotism.

Major Vaughan participated in 23 battles in the Army of the Potomac, including nearly all of the fiercest fights that grand old organization was in. He was with Gen. McClellan at Antietam,—Fighting Joe Hooker, (the bravest of the brave,) at the Second Bull Run battle, and at Chancellorsville,—Gen. Meade at Gettysburg,—and afterwards went through the Wilderness with Gen. Grant, actively participating at the Coal Harbor battle and the siege of Petersburg.

It seems that no man could be selected for this position whose record of loyalty and patriotism is superior to that of Maj. Vaughan, and certainly our soldier President could not have made an appointment which would have given more general satisfaction. A braver soldier never fought, a truer man never gave more hearty support to the loyal cause, than he, and the Pension Agency while he administers it, will be in the hands of a thorough gentlemen and efficient business man. We heartily offer our congratulations to the gallant soldier and true friend, and to his brother soldiers, at this merited recognition of the claims of the Boys in Blue, who heartily espoused his cause and warmly urged the appointment of their comrade.

Communication.

The Masquerade Ball given at Irving Hall on Thursday evening last, proved one of the most successful and pleasant of times, and went far beyond the expectations of all those concerned therein. It was not the intention of the manager to make it an expensive or a gaudy dress Ball, but simply a private affair in closing up a series of Assemblies in a pleasant and agreeable manner.

It was amusing to see some of the ridiculous costumes worn on this occasion and yet so completely were all disguised that it was impossible to find out who they were. No one knew the dress of the others, all communications with each other was made by signs, and talking was out of the question for that evening. The Company numbered 30 couple, all of whom were masqued and in full costume. Turner's Quadrille Band (4 pieces) furnished the Music and at 1-2 past 9 Monsieur Doffenhoff led off in the grand Introductory March. At 11 P. M. the entire company unmasked and partook of a bountiful supper served in the Hall, after which dancing was again resumed until about 3 A. M. A VISITOR.

U. S. COMMISSIONERS' COURT.—John W. Grant, who resides in Water Street, was brought before U. S. Commissioner Hackett on Monday, on complaint of U. S. Detective Kent, charged with taking letters from the Post Office, containing money belonging to John W. Grant, the butcher. He waved examination and gave bail to appear before the U. S. Court in this city next Saturday.

SWIMMING FOR LOVE.

"Mercy! The horrid thing! What shall we do with him now?"

Miss Gardner applied the remark to a wretched crab, which we had discovered in our peregrinations along the beach, and had succeeded, after half an hour's patient labor, in extricating from between the huge stones.

"I'm sure I don't know," said I.—"Can't we put him into the boat?"

"Oh dear, no. He'd crawl all about. Besides, we've got the boat half full of shells and things already."

"Well, then, we've got to leave him behind."

"No, we mustn't. I want to keep him. I'll tell you what. You run up to the house and get a basket—that's a dear."

Miss Gardner turned her blue eyes toward me in a way that was not to be resisted. She had never called me a dear before; and I became so exhilerated at the sound that I immediately put my hat over the unfortunate crab, told the young lady to put her foot on it, and started away bareheaded toward the house, at the top of my speed.

I had run a dozen yards when the conviction that I was making a fool of myself made me stop and look back.—Miss Gardner sat on the boat, laughing merrily, with her bewitching little foot on the rim of my hat, and waving me on with her hand. So I dashed forward again.

For two months I had been pondering what mysterious attraction it was that drew me toward this girl. She was very pretty, but this was no enchantment in my eyes. In fact, I was very chary of pretty faces, and never approached one without a certain degree of suspicion.

My first meeting with Miss Gardner was unpleasant. I felt that I almost disliked her. She had such a grand hauteur, and seemed to feel such a serene indifference to my presence that my self-love was hurt. But at that time I was a victim to an unbounded admiration for my cousin Nellie, a fancy which, as the summer wore on, melted away under Miss Gardner's magnetic influence like snow beneath the sunbeams.

She had come to us in early June in the capacity of a school teacher, when the meadows were green and covered with a golden duet of dandelions. She carried her reserve into the school room with her, too; and yet the children, by a potent spell, were drawn to her at once. Whitburg had as wild a set of boys as any village in the country, but I don't believe there was one of them who would not have gone through fire and water for Miss Gardner.

In consequence of this, the female portion of the community called her "stuck-up;" and little Polly Smith, whose mother kept the post office at the Corners, told me quite confidently one day that she thought Miss Gardner was awfully conceited, "and put on a great many airs for a school-mistress." But when I came to know Miss Gardner better, I found a blithesome heart under this cold exterior, and discovered after all that she was as merry a minx when occasion required as any other girl in Whitburg. So by degrees I learned to like her, and it soon became quite a regular thing for Nellie to ask her to join us in our afternoon strolls. Alas! before the summer was gone, poor Nellie herself was left entirely on of our calculations.

I had a dim suspicion,—I know not how it came, or upon what it rested,—that Miss Gardner had passed through the ordeal of what the French call an affair of the heart. About the middle of July, my suspicions were verified by the appearance of a dark complexioned cavalry captain, who registered his name on the tavern books as plain John Smith. This interloper on my rightful domain no sooner established himself, than he commenced courting the school mistress with all his military might and ferocity. His advent brought home to me the knowledge that I had a deeper feeling for Miss Gardner than mere regard. I met them one moonlight night returning from a drive along the beach; and as they rolled past, a great throb of my heart told me that thenceforward there was to be a struggle for victory between myself and the cavalry captain.

Thus matters stood at present, and I turned them over in my mind as I waded through the clover-tops and crossed the long meadow below the house. It was a sunny, dreamy August day.—The elms along the road drooped their branches listlessly in the heat, and the sun shone like a burnished shield. The captain had gone fishing and I had taken advantage of this glorious opportunity to ask the little school-mistress to go rowing with me. She assented, for it was her half holiday; and so we rowed leisurely around the point to the beach, where we had just now found the crab, and where, incredible as it may seem, she had actually called me a dear.

"Aunt Mary," said I, when I reached the door, "I want a basket."

"What for?" she asked.

No one ever laid down a proposition to Aunt Mary that she did not reply to by asking either "what for" or "which?" It was a weakness she had.

This time I laughed in her face.

"Well," said she, snappishly, "the only one I know of that ain't in use Uncle Hezekiah's got down to the cove, clammin'. That one's in use, tew."

I turned away, and rummaged successively the barn, the corn-cribs, and the carriage shed, in a fruitless search for something that would answer my purpose.

I had offended Aunt Mary by not answering her question, and she would give me no assistance. Finally, after nearly an hour's delay, I seized as a last resort the water-pail, and started down to the beach.

When I had arrived at the spot I had left, I looked up and down the shore but I could see nothing but my hat, which, propelled by some unseen power, was slowly and laboriously traveling up the beach. The boat, too, was gone. I recovered my tile, and in so doing liberated our ugly captive, on whose account I had already been put to so much trouble. But where was Miss Gardner? Was she playing me some trick? And the cavalry captain had he made a coup d'-etat in my absence, and carried her off? Neither of these things seemed likely, but where was she?

I ran along the sand and mounted a great rock which jutted out into the water. In a great deal of distress I shaded my eyes with my hand, and gazed earnestly far and near over the sleepy, shining sea. Ah! could that be her? that black speck upon the water? Yes, for in a moment more I could distinguish the waving of the handkerchief. There could be no one with her, and it needed but little reflection to convince me that the school-mistress was alone in the boat, and was drifting out to sea.

Still I was puzzled to know how it was that she had let herself float helplessly away from the shore without making an effort to save herself; for I knew that Miss Gardner was almost as good a sailor as I. However, there she was at all events; and I ran up and down the shore several times in a state of semi-distraction. There was not another boat within miles, and every second of delay separated me farther from my life. At that moment I knew how much I loved her.

Concluded To-morrow.

AMERICAN
BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING, —AND— SEWING MACHINE!
H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street,

The Reasons Why
This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do—the finest of sewing, hemming, filling, cording, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.
2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, as by hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)
3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine can.)
4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)
5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "over and over." (No other Machine can do it.)

Caution.

We would hereby warn the Public against all bogus advertisements of Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.

THREE BUGS.

Three little bugs in a basket,
And hardly room for two!
And one was yellow, and one was black,
And one like me or you—
The space was small, no doubt, for all;
But what should three bugs do?

Three little bugs in a basket,
And hardly crumbs for two;
And all were selfish in their hearts,
The same as I or you.
So the strong one said, "We will eat the bread,
And that is what we'll do."

Three little bugs in a basket,
And the beds but two would hold;
So they all fell to quarrelling—
The white, the black and gold;
And two of the bugs went under the rags;
And one was out in the cold!

So he that was left in the basket,
Without a crumb to chew,
Or a thread to wrap himself within,
When the wind across him blew,
Pulled one of the rags from one of the bugs,
And so the quarrel grew!

And so there was war in the basket,
A pity 'tis, 'tis true!
But he was frozen and starved, at last
A strength from his weakness drew,
And pulled the rags from both the bugs,
And killed and ate them too!

Now when bugs live in a basket,
Though more than it well could hold,
It seems to me they had better agree;
The white, the black, the gold—
And share what comes of the beds and crumbs
And leave no bugs in the cold!

WONDER BOY'S COMPOSITION.— By Mrs. A. M. Diaz. Heads. Heads are of different shapes and different sizes. They are full of notions. Large heads do not always hold the most. Some persons can tell just what a man is by the shape of his head. High heads are the best kind. Very knowing people are called long-headed. A fellow that won't stop for anything or anybody is called hot-headed. If he isn't quite so bright they call him soft-headed; if he won't be coaxed nor turned, they call him pig-headed. Animals have very small heads. The heads of fools slant back. When your head is cut off you are beheaded. Our heads are all covered with hair, except bald-heads. There are other kinds of heads besides our heads.

First, there are Barrel-heads. Second, there are Pin-heads. Third, Heads of sermons,—sometimes a minister used to have fifteen heads to one sermon.—Fourth, Headwind. Fifth, Head of cattle,—when a farmer reckons up his cows and oxen he calls them so many head of cattle. Sixth, Drumheads,—drumheads are made of sheepskin.—Seventh, Heads or tails,—when you toss up pennies. Eight, Doubleheaders,—when you let off rockets. Ninth, Come to a head like a boil or a rebellion. Tenth, Cabbageheads,—dunces are called cabbageheads, and good enough for them. Eleventh, At Loggerheads,—when you don't agree.—Twelfth, Heads of chapters. Thirteenth, Head him off,—when you want to stop a horse, or a boy. Fourteenth, Head of the family. Fifteenth, A blunderhead. Sixteenth, The Masthead,—where they send sailors to punish them. Seventeenth, get up to the head, when you spell a word right.—Eighteenth, The head of a stream,—where it begins. Nineteenth, Down by the head,—when a vessel is deep loaded at the bows. Twentieth, a figure-head carved on a vessel. Twenty-first, The Cathead, and that's the end of a stick of timber that a ship's anchor hangs by. Twenty-second, A headland, or cape. Twenty-third, A head of tobacco. Twenty-fourth. A Bulkhead, which is a partition in a ship. Twenty-fifth, Go ahead,—but first be sure you are right.

THE EARLY ROSE.—Having heard a good deal about the Rose Potato, I wish to ask if it is as good for the table as the Goodrich Early, Harrison, and Garnet Chili? Is it free from the potato rot? Does it yield so much more than other varieties as to make it worth so much as they ask for it? Is it as early as has been claimed?

It is a good table potato,—far better with us the past season than either of the sorts named. It was generally free from rot, except when highly forced or planted late. We have never seen a decayed specimen among those we raised on dry soil. It yields largely; we know of none that gives a better. Whether it is worth while for every farmer to pay the present price for it, we cannot say; but will say, that if we had not got it, we should pay even a higher price, rather than not have it.

It is early. We planted the Early Rose, Goodrich Early, Harrison, Orono, and Vanderveer's Seedling, side by side the same day, all having the same treatment; and the stocks of the Early Rose were three inches high before either of the others showed their noses. They ripened much earlier than either of the others. The Goodrich Early is almost a late variety compared with the Rose.—Journal of Agr.

—A lady in Schenectady, one day last week, having occasion to replenish the coal in her stove, picked up the scuttle and dumped in a black cat which was taking a nap in that receptacle. The way that cat got up and got, was lively for to see.

MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM
IS A SPEEDY and certain remedy for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influenza, Hooping Cough, Asthma and the various Affections of the Lungs.
☞ The attention of those afflicted with COLDS, COUGHS, and with any disease of the lungs, is directed to this valuable remedy. On account of sudden changes in the weather, colds and coughs are easily taken, and if neglected may lead to disease of the lungs. What is needed under such circumstances is a reliable remedy—speedy in affording relief, and effectual in arresting further progress of the disease.
☞ To arrest the existing irritation of the air-passages and the lungs, speedily and effectually, the seat and cause of cough is an important step gained toward relief and cure in the first stages of the disease. MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM possesses this important power, and while it promptly and effectually arrests all existing irritation, and rapidly relieves cough, it renders the lungs further relief by promoting a free discharge of the accumulated mucus in the air-passages, imparting a healthy action and vigor to the chest at the same time.
☞ Those suffering with cough and the first stages of lung disease, will therefore find in this valuable preparation a speedy and decided relief. Even those whose condition is beyond recovery, will derive from its use great benefit as well as comfort. For the class of diseases it is designed to relieve, the general commendation it has received has proved its efficacy beyond question. For the past ten years have been speedily and effectually cured by its timely use while suffering from severe colds, protracted coughs, and from other forms of lung disease. It is prepared from vegetable balsams and the medicinal properties of roots and herbs, with no minerals nor poisonous acids; simple and safe in the material used, it can be taken at any time.

DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

The News.

Mumler, the spirit-photographer, who has been on trial at New York, has been discharged.

The revolutionary party in Cuba have held a grand congress. Cespedes presided, and over thirty representatives were present, coming from all parts of the island. Resolutions declaring that the revolutionary party is fighting for independence from Spain and annexation to the United States, were unanimously adopted. General Quesada was again elected Generalissimo of the revolutionary armies. The delegates were enthusiastic, sanguine and determined.

The public debt reached its maximum in August, 1865, when it was $2,757,689,571. At present it is $2,529,157,885, a decrease in three years and eight months of $228,531,686. In August, 1865, there were but $1,258,000 in Pacific Railroad bonds out, while there are now $56,852,000 issued, so that the decrease of the debt, exclusive of these railroad bonds, is $284,125,686, being at the rate of nearly $80,000,000 a year.

The Rochester Courier says Mr. Everett Parsons, of that town, "since the first of December, has averaged sawing two and a half cords of hard wood a day! He has frequently sawed three cords of hard wood, three runs, in a day, and has sawed four cords in one day, of two runs. Mr. Parsons has not done his best, but has worked every day at wood-sawing, while his evenings have been devoted to another branch of labor. He is a very rugged man, and is a tremendous worker, or he never could have performed so large a winter's work."

Senator Sumner, in conversation with a New York Herald correspondent, says of Great Britain and the United States, says;

"Now as regards my speech,—that was delivered, as you know, in the presence of a full Senate. I think it was rather pacific in its tone, but it reflects the almost unanimous opinion of the Senate, and indeed of the administration. So far as the President of the United States had considered the subject he coincided with my views exactly. I happen to know this because I talked with him on the question before my speech was delivered.

When I had finished speaking, the leading men of the Senate took the trouble to endorse all I had said. Such men as Mr. Sherman and Mr. Howard said that the speech met their entire approbation. Mr. Chandler was quite enthusiastic over it. What followed? The injunction of secrecy was unanimously removed and the speech was spread before the country. It met with a response from the press and the people almost as unanimous as it had received from the Senate. What next? On that same day, after my speech was delivered and the treaty rejected, I moved to take up and considered the nomination of Mr. Motley. It was taken up out of its course, not as it stood on the calender, and that without a dissenting voice. The "no" of Mr. McCreery was not even heard on this question. Mr. Motley was unanimously confirmed. Now this was all done on one day, and it was all of a piece. It was all one thing—one act, as it were. The English ministry does not seem to understand this.

The injury Great Britain has inflicted on us is greater than it was in the war of 1812, much greater. We have defined our position now, and I have reason to know there will be no yielding. We ask nothing but what is fair, and our people mean to have justice at least.

The Merchant Service,—No. VIII.

In these articles on the abuses existing in our merchant service, I have softened down or wholly suppressed much that I have seen, lest I should be suspected of exaggeration, if I told the whole truth, by those whose ideas of ocean life have been formed by reading "Romances of the Sea," or listening (in the parlor or at the theatre, — the only places where 'tis sung,) to the soul-stirring song, "A Life on the Ocean Wave." That the truth of the picture I have shadowed forth will be openly disputed by any who know sught of the subject I do not fear. Yet I have not wholly escaped suspicion. Several people (not seamen) have told me that my accounts are incredible; and one lady friend advised me to try my hand as a writer of "sensation stories," assuring me of success in such a case.

Incredible and sensational my accounts may be,—they are none the less true, for all that; lacking truth only in that a part,—and not a small part,—has been kept back. I have no ambition to be known as a writer of sensational stories; but I should be proud indeed if my writings had the effect of inducing some influential friend of justice and liberty to investigate the condition of our seamen and the working of the laws that keep them where they are. If any consider my statements incredible, let them read of the James Foster, jr.; of the captain who has just been virtually convicted by a San Francisco jury of "brutal inhumanity to his crew, and finally sending one of them adrift in an open boat," to probably perish; and of the more recent trip of the Richard Robinson, where "two of the seamen were so dreadfully beaten, that they jumped oveboard off Holyhead, and one of them was drowned," — all of which affairs have been made public within a few weeks.

At this moment, on board hundreds of our ships, crowds of wretched, beaten, cowed, heart-sick men are praying for two things,—that their ships may soon get to port, and that they may have a chance of escape after arrival. This is all they look forward to. They know they have no legal right to leave.—What if they have been crushed and bruised, until their features bear little resemblance to the human face, and the last vestige of manhood and self-respect has disappeared? "Property has its rights"—the sailor has none. He must desert if he leaves the ship at all, —and he looks forward to the time when he shall be able to do this, with a weary hope that can be imagined only by one who has felt it himself,—giving not so much as a thought to the inevitable loss of his earnings.

It is said that the despotic power vested in the captain of a ship is necessary, to secure that prompt obedience to every command which is indispensable to order and safety on board ship. Granting this, I fail to see that it is any reason why brutes who would not be trusted with a horse or an ox on shore, should be allowed to exercise their devilish tyranny by abusing this power, and practically held guiltless. I have held on to a becket on a yard, and seen the man next me receive a crushing blow in the face from a belaying-pin, which spattered the blood over my own cheek,—because, though straining every nerve, he did not do what no man living had strength to perform. But he was only a Dutchman. In the same ship, I saw an officer, with a handspike, force a man out to re-pass the gasket on the main yard, when the yard was swinging so that a monkey could not have held on,—and the only response to the man's entreaty, "Won't you have the braces hauled taut, sir," was a savage "Out you go, d—n you,—I'm mate here." Out he did go, and down on deck he went, and was carried below. The yard was then braced taut, and the writer went up and performed the required duty in safety. Two days after his fall the man died, and we tumbled him overboard like a dead dog,—only we did make fast a piece of kentledge to his feet. That man lost his life doing necessary ship's duty! but, even if he was murdered, what matter? He was only a sailor. I, like a fool, made myself officious when we got in, actually expecting to bring the murderer to justice! My success was not brilliant, —I know better than to be such a fool again.

PAKEHA.

☞ How beautiful, convenient, graceful and neat it must be, for a woman to trail half a yard of her dress in the dirty streets! Why, hostlers keep horses' extra long tails in a bag, in the stalls, so they sha'n't touch the floor; and in wet weather, tie knots in them when going on the street.

And what a manly spectacle it is, to see a man sucking a pipe or a cigar, or chewing a cud of tobacco, isn't it?

What is a Tonic?

Bear this in mind,—that although a tonic is, to a certain extent, a stimulant,—a stimulant, unmodified by any medicinal substances, is not a tonic, but A DEBILITANT. In HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS there is a stimulating element of the purest grade manufactured in this or any other country. Every fiery and corrosive oil or acid which contaminates the ordinary liquors of commerce, is expelled from the ye spirit which forms the alcoholic basis of the BITTERS, by careful and repeated rectification. The juices of the valuable roots, barks and herbs, infused into this wholesome product of the finest rye, still further modify its nature; so that it becomes, in fact, a simple diffusive agent, minus all the heavy and brain exciting properties which belong, more or less, to all liquors in a raw state.

It is merely the safe and harmless vehicle which renders the medicinal virtues of the preparation effective,—increasing their active power, and diffusing them through the system. Hence the pleasant and gentle glow which is experienced after taking a dose of the BITTERS. Instead of creating headache, as unmediated stimulants are apt to do, this salubrious tonic is the best known remedy for that complaint. It calms and soothes cerebral excitement, strengthens the nerves, promotes the secretion of the gastric juice, invigorates the liver, regulates the bowels, determines the fluids to the surface, improves the appetite, increases the animal vigor, regulates organic action, and, from its mild yet effective alterative qualities, is the very best preparation that can be administered to the weaker sex in the peculiar difficulties to which their organization subjects them. my5

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "PAIN KILLER," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. And the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the system, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medicinal preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient sees plainly that the disease and pain are going to be cured. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has been invented except calomel, (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach in throwing the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they disarrange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Cankers, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and tubercles. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest well and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence healing, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements To-Day.

Two Columns of Miscellaneous on the 4th page from the Advertising Agency of Geo. P. Rowell & Co., New York.

ROCKINGHAM TROTTING PARK.—At the meeting of stockholders, April 30, at the National Hotel, it was voted that the Trustees be authorized to grade the track and put it in proper condition for use. Also to floor and seal up the sides of the stalls in the stable; and that Mr. Geo. H. Shannon be allowed the use of the premises until otherwise ordered, for training horses.

An Act of Incorporation under the general State law was reported, adopted, and signed by all present, the name to be Piscataqua Fair Grounds. Of the fifty Shares at $100, three were reported unsold, and two others unpaid for. The next meeting will be held at the National Hotel on Saturday evening, May 8th.

☞ The Norwich (Conn.) Daily Advertiser notices that Messrs. Job Jenness & Son, proprietors of the Waurengan House, in that city, are about to open ladies' and gentlemen's first class dining rooms, in the building adjoining their hotel; and the editor well adds that "the reputation which the Messrs. Jenness have won as landlords, both in Norwich and at Rye Beach, is sufficient to put at rest at once all doubts as to the character and success of their undertaking."

☞ Mr. H. M. Clark, one of the Trustees for the Common or Mall, spent an hour or two one afternoon a few days since, and secured subscriptions to the amount of $3000, and promise of the South Pond and much of the land on its borders. His plan is to secure most of the unoccupied land between South Road, Richards Avenue, Pleasant Street and the Court House. This would make one of the finest Parks in New England.

☞ The body of Benjamin Williams of Newmarket, who has been missing since the middle of December last, and who is supposed to have fallen overboard near the Spring Market, was found on the Newington shore on Monday by Mr. Ephraim Pickering. The remains were very much decomposed, and the body was only identified by the clothing, and by papers found in the pockets. The remains were taken to Newmarket for burial.

JUSTLY MERITED—the compliments bestowed on the Davis Bros. by Prof. Cromwell, the Stereopticon lecturer, for the beautiful pictures taken at their establishment. They rank high among the best of artists and the large and beautiful assortment of local Stereoscopic Views they have for sale will testify to the truth of Prof. Cromwell's statements.

THE CONCERT this evening by Mrs. McAwley and other fine vocalists, comes well recommended from Boston; and as it is the first entertainment of the kind which we have had for a long while, we should suppose the old friends of the lady beneficiary, and the lovers of good music, would give her a good house.

☞ We learn that the Masquerade Ball at Irving Hall, last Thursday evening, was so productive of enjoyment to those who attended, that in accordance with the general desire, the Manager has decided to have another at the same place on Thursday evening, May 13th.

—"He who waits to do a great deal of good at once, will never do any."—Anonymous.

True enough—as it is also, Mr. Journal and other objectors, that if you wait till every lion and bugbear gets out of the way, we shall never have a Common, better Street, or any other improvement.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

☞ There was a considerable fall of snow on Saturday night, May 1, and Sunday morning, at Lancaster, and at Concord. Some snow also fell within 20 miles to the west of this city.

ROUGH on the new Post Master and Pension Agent,—the complimentary allusions of the rebel hand-organ.

☞ The new fishing firm of Harding & Doane of this city will put a fleet of fifteen vessels afloat this season.

☞ Meeting of Mercantile Library Association this (Wednesday) evening at half-past 7.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

RYE, May 3.

The Town Farm, it appears, still remains the property of the town,—the parties who bid it off at auction, a short time since, having concluded not to take it. The reason why is not as yet fully understood by the citizens generally; but it is the impression of most of those who have an interest in the farm, that the next time it is put up at auction it will be a good idea to have the terms so arranged that whoever may happen to bid it off will be invited to pay enough cash down to pay for advertising and the auctioneer's commission. It will not probably be sold this year, and it is understood that the selectmen are willing to rent it to the right party. It is undoubtedly a good farm, and any man could do as well there as on any other farm in town, if it was only managed right.

The furious northeast storm yesterday prevented the citizens from going to church in such numbers as is usually seen on fair Sundays,—only about a dozen, including three ladies, venturing out. On a pleasant Sabbath, the attendance at the two churches now open, (the Congregationalist and Baptist,) is quite large, and at noon,—most of the people remaining to attend the afternoon service,—the street between the Post Office and Rand's Corner presents quite an animated appearance, for here, as in other fashionable places, the young folks put on their "good things" when they go to meeting. And, of course, they do it to have other folks see them, as well as for other reasons, perhaps. No body doubts, who has had an opportunity of personal inspection, that there are many very good-looking girls in Rye, and that they are not at all to blame for going to meeting every Sunday when the weather is propitious,—as it affords the only opportunity for them to come together, see each other—and what they have on,—besides listening attentively to the two discourses in the church and going without their dinners until three o'clock.

Rev. Mr. Leach has been retained by the Congregational church, to preach for a term of six months more, and it is understood that the Baptist Society have re-engaged Rev. Mr. Pierce, who has preached for them since last summer, for some months longer. The Methodist house still remains closed.

The farmers are getting along finely with their Spring work, and considerable ploughing and planting have already been done. The usual space will probably be allotted to corn and potatoes, although the rot in the latter crop last year was not very encouraging, and the price the present spring not such as to lead farmers to think there is much made in raising them unless they have better luck than last year.

P. S. I did not mean to have it understood that the Surf House is at Locke's Neck, or that Mr. Waldron's new house is at Foss' Beach, as the types, or rather the punctuation, made me say in my letter last week,—but mistakes will happen. R.

☞ Some of our coppery exchanges are great sticklers sometimes for State Rights, by which they really mean State Sovereignty; tho' that sovereignty was resigned when the U. S. Constitution was formed. And yet the same papers now and then complain of that inequality, by which New Hampshire has as much power in the Senate as New York has; tho' this is a real State power and privilege, by which the smaller States are preserved from being swallowed up by the larger ones, and so the balance of power is in some degree preserved.

HOME.

Home's not merely four square walls,
Though with pictures hung and gilded,
Home is where Affection calls—
Filled with shrines the Heart hath builded!
Home!—go watch the faithful dove
Sailing 'neath the heaven above us,—
Home is where there's one to love!
Home is where there's one to love us!

Home's not merely roof and room,
It needs something to endear it;
Home is where the heart can bloom;
Where there's some kind lip to cheer it!
What is home with none to meet?
None to welcome, none to greet us?
Home is sweet—and only sweet—
Where there's one we love to meet us!

—A promising young shaver of five or six years was reading his lesson at school, one day, in that deliberate manner for which urchins of that age are somewhat remarkable. As he proceeded with the task he came upon the passage, "Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from guile." Master Hopeful drawled out, "Keep—thy—tongue—from—evil—and—thy—lips—from—girls."

SWIMMING FOR LOVE.

Concluded.

At last, in utter desperation I threw off my coat and boots, and waded into the water. I had been an excellent swimmer from boyhood, and with so smooth a sea, and the tide running out, I felt hopeful of gaining the boat.

I swam steadily on until I was tired, and then turned over on my back to rest. It seemed an age before I reached the school mistress, and I became so thoroughly exhausted that I was several times on the point of letting myself sink, in despair. Then the thought of sharks came over me, and I became seized with a wild panic, and I swam as though swimming for my life, as at last I really was. I had gone so far from shore, that to return would be impossible, and I knew that the only chance for my own salvation was to reach the boat.

As I neared it, I saw the poor little school-mistress in the agony of supplication. By my direction she retired to the farther side, while I clambered in, and then fell suddenly down at my feet, sobbing bitterly.

"There," said I, "you are quite safe now."

"Alas, no," she said. "You will be one more. What hope is there for either of us?"

I looked around the boat, and my heart sank within me. Not a thing did it contain beside ourselves. The oars had been left on shore.

"There is hope where life is," I replied. "The flood tide will surely carry us back again."

We could do nothing but sit still and await its turning. I tried to lead Miss Gardner's attention away from our fearful situation; and with that end in view, I talked of other things. I told her stories, I quoted poetry, we criticized the last books we had read, we discussed botany, geology, and philosophy; we sang songs together; and when we were tired of all these things, we made puns at each other, and laughed until tears rolled down our cheeks. The sun descended into the sea a scarlet, fiery ball; and the stars came out in countless myriads, and we saw the glittering armies form together, and take up their march through space. Under the glorious dome of night we drifted out upon the darkening sea.

I was wet and cold, and so the little school-mistress modestly removed one of her skirts and insisted on wrapping it about my shoulders. I told her that we would divide the night into watches, and that mine should be the first, but she stoutly declared that we would watch together. Before long, however, her eyelids began to droop, determination gave way to nature, and Miss Gardner leaned her head against me and fell fast asleep.

For the first time in my life I clasped her tightly in my arms. We were alone beneath the stars, drifting helplessly out upon an unknown sea, but I would not have exchanged those precious moments for the happiest ones I had ever passed on shore, nor would I for a kingdom lose my remembrance of them now.

It was nearly midnight when she unclosed her eyes and looked up into my face.

"Where are we?" she asked.

"We're afloat, we're afloat," I said, and cheerily tried to strike up "A life on the Ocean Wave."

She smiled faintly, but lay in my arms quite still.

"Has the tide turned yet?"

"I expect it has; but it don't seem to make much difference to us."

"Is there nothing before us, then?"

"I see nothing but water," said I, looking around.

"And death!"

"And death!" I repeated. "But death with you will be sweet. For me, life alone is nothing."

I bent down over her more closely. She made no reply; but her little hand stole gently into mine.

"For all time?" I asked.

"For all time," she said, "whether we live or die."

Now might the winds and waves do their worst, now might the heavens fall or the earth stand still. What would it matter to me?

We were floating, floating, silently on, but in the depth of my joy I cared not. It was intoxication — delirium. Had I the means, I would not have returned. So I sat still, holding her closely to me, and showering my kisses upon her lips.

The night seemed scarce begun before morning painted her first gray streaks across the east. By our united exertions, we succeeded in tearing off one of the long cleats from the side of the boat, and after half an hour's labor, succeeded in raising it in the bow with the white skirt stretched across it for a sale, which after all, was not so much of a sail as a signal of distress. I now began to feel the tortures of a raging thirst; but my companion was so still and uncomplaining, that I felt ashamed to say anything of my own misery.

Slowly, step by step, the sun mounted the stairs of day, and the sea became hot, and burned our eyes. The land had vanished in the night, and we were alone upon the barren waste of waters.

At last, toward noon, I espied far upon the horizon, a tiny, snow-white speck, and we sat watching breathlessly as it came nearer and nearer. In an hour my straining eyes detected the white wings of a yacht, and the little school-mistress plied me with a hundred eager questions.

Did I think they would see us? Was our sail big enough, or our mast high enough? Would they not be likely to pass by and leave us? How far off were, they? How long would it take them to reach us?

Our fears were soon put to rest, for the yacht suddenly altered her course a little; and bore straight down upon us. The wind was very light, and it seemed a year before it came within hailing distance. On the forward deck stood a tall man, whom I recognized at once as the cavalry captain. Strange as it may seem, the old feeling came back to me in a quick hot flush, and I wished him and his yacht at the bottom of the sea.

"Hallo, my boy! Take this line," he shouted cheerily, throwing a coil of rope across to me, while the vessel luffed up into the wind.

I made him no reply, but sat motionless.

"Zounds, man!" he continued, "are you deaf? What's the matter with you?"

The boats drifted together, and he reached down and made fast to us with a boat-hook. Then he lifted my school mistress up over the side, and, to my utter astonishment, she immediately threw her arms around his neck, and burst into tears.

"He's my brother," she said, laughing and crying together, and with this explanation I was satisfied.

I was so stiff with salt water and exposure that I could scarcely move. The captain helped me tenderly into the cabin and put me to bed, while I resigned my companion to his care with confidence as sudden as it was implicit.

It is nearly three years since I made my memorable voyage with the school-mistress.

We live together now, in a little cottage overlooking the beach where she first called me a dear; and the incidents of that eventful afternoon and following night have to-day been vividly brought back to my remembrance, by the reception of two neatly engraven wedding-cards, whereon was inscribed the names of the cavalry captain and my cousin Nellie.

Our Own for May is received from the Philadelphia Publishers, Gillian, M'Guigan & Griffin. A very readable Magazine.

Merry's Museum for May opens with a short war story, complete, by Miss Louisa M. Alcott, one of its editors.

Woman as God Made Her; The True Woman: by Rev. J. D. Fulton, (Tremont Temple, Boston:) to which is added Woman vs. Ballot. This is the title of a new book of 260 pages, on an interesting subject, written by a popular preacher; and, as may be inferred from the title page, he opposes giving women the power to vote. He endeavors, in a scriptural and reasonable way, to set forth the divine ideal for woman in her various relations, and under such heads as Woman as God made Her, Woman a Helpmeet, The Glory of Motherhood, Woman's Work and Woman's Mission. He believes that woman's mission is different from that of man; that the position assigned to her by the Bible is the only one in which she can attain a symmetrical development, and meet all the obligations devolving upon her.—The book will repay perusal by those who oppose his views, as well as by those who adopt them.—The volume will be sent by mail, post-paid, by the publishers, Lee & Shepard, Boston, on receipt of 50 cts. for the paper edition, or $1.00 for the cloth.

The Controversy, between True and Pretended Christianity, is a little book of 60 pages, published also by Lee & Shepard, Boston, for 25 cts. in paper covers, and 50 cts. in cloth.—It is an essay, which was read before the Massachusetts Methodist Convention in Boston, Oct. 1868, by Rev. L. T. Townsend, a professor in their Theological Seminary,—and published by a vote of the Convention. The author earnestly desires a sharp controversy between those whom he classes as true Christians, and those whom he classes as false pretenders. He says:—

During the controversy, therefore, the Orthodox Congregationalists, Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Baptists (Calvinistic and Freewill), and Methodists meet on a common platform. All these collectively, with perhaps individual additions from other sects, will be found rallying at a common point, as if to defend a common homestead. On the other hand, the representatives of False Christianity are the conservative and radical wings of the Unitarian and Universalist societies, re-enforced by organized bodies of Medium Spiritualists, together with certain Materialistic, Naturalistic, and Pantheistic philosophers.

It is rather remarkable, (says Uncle Toby,) that he does not count in the Christian Societies, either among the true or the false;—and that he does not include the Catholics in the true, tho' they are strict trinitarians; nor in the false, tho' they are not evangelical in his sense.—The essay is particularly sharp and severe on James Freeman Clarke, and says "one of the most dangerous tracts now in circulation is from the pen of Rev. Dr. Peabody." As a matter of course the book will be reviewed, and the author's wish for controversy will be gratified.

SWEET ANSWERS.—A little boy and girl, each probably five years old, were by the roadside. As we came up, the boy became angry at something, and struck his playmate a sharp blow on the cheek, whereupon she sat down and began to cry piteously. The boy stood looking on sullenly for a minute, and then said: "I didn't mean to hurt you, Katie; I am sorry." The little rosy face brightened instantly. The sobs hushed, and she said: "Well, if you are sorry, it don't hurt me."

—Why is kissing your sweetheart like eating soup with a fork? Because it takes a long time to get enough of it.

DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. The Buenaventurans have been insulting the American flag by tearing it down and dragging it through the streets on New Year's Day. It seems that Eder, the American consul, narrowly escaped assassination previously, by a man who had stolen property from him. Upon examining this lump it was found to resemble the toe of a human being, very much shrivelled, but bearing a portion of a nail. In the keg from which the beer had been drawn was found the little finger of a man's hand. Though shrivelled by contact with the fluid in which it had been immersed, it had evidently been cut from the hand to which it had belonged.

The charge was properly appreciated by the cat, and she is now bringing up the young strangers in the most approved manner.

John Witham, employed in Elwell's furniture shop in Concord, was thrown from an elevator, and though the fall was but eight feet, his back was badly injured and a rib broken on the left side. He has a bullet in his chest, which he received during the war, and he says that when he fell, he distinctly felt the bullet change place. Speaking of the Exeter News Letter's statement of Mr. Ela's being "a guillotined U. S. ☞ The French medical profession have been in a ferment over a very remarkable case of somnolency. According to the Paris correspondent of the Illustrated London News, a young man who had been asleep for several days was brought from his lodgings to a Paris hospital, and there slept on, all efforts to waken him being fruitless, and life being kept up by food administered through the nostrils. The ingenious doctors whipped the patient with nettles until he was blistered from head to foot, and when this proved vain, gave him shocks with the most powerful batteries. At last, after seven months, the comatose gentleman partially woke up, murmured a few words in Italian, his native language, and immediately died,—whether from the effects of his long nap or from the efforts made to rouse him, the world may never know.

THE ORCHESTRAL GRAND PIANO is the name of a new instrument which Messrs. Hallet, Davis & Co., of Boston have just produced, which has commanded the admiration of all artists and critics who have examined it. The private friends of the manufacturers have been privileged to inspect this instrument, of which a public exhibition will shortly be made. It is a grand piano, but the case, instead of being hollowed out on one side is made straight, so that both sides are alike. This brings the bridges into the centre of the board, securing nearly one third more of the sounding board than has ever been attained heretofore. Its action is light, delicate and artistic, while its power is tremendous. Its tone is remarkable for sweetness, clearness and brilliancy; its singing qualities are more like an organ than a piano, and its tenor surpasses that of any instrument we have heard. The Orchestral Piano is an entirely new thing, differing at once in arrangement of case, scale and action from anything attempted hitherto. We think it will certainly make a noise in the musical world.

What is a Tonic?

Bear this in mind,—that although a tonic is, to a certain extent, a stimulant,—a stimulant, unmodified by any medicinal substances, is not a tonic, but a DEBILITANT. In HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS there is a stimulating element of the purest grade manufactured in this or any other country. Every fiery and corrosive oil or acid which contaminates the ordinary liquors of commerce, is expelled from the ye spirit which forms the alcoholic basis of the BITTERS, by careful and repeated rectification. The juices of the valuable roots, barks and herbs, infused into this wholesome product of the finest grain, still further modify its nature; so that it becomes, in fact, a simple diffusive agent, minus all the heavy and brain exciting properties which belong, more or less, to all liquors in a raw state.

It is merely the safe and harmless vehicle which renders the medicinal virtues of the preparation effective,—increasing their active power, and diffusing them through the system. Hence the pleasant gentle glow which is experienced after taking a dose of the BITTERS. Instead of creating headache, as unmedicated stimulants are apt to do, this salubrious tonic is the best known remedy for that complaint. It calms and soothes cerebral excitement, strengthens the nerves, promotes the secretion of the gastric juice, invigorates the bowels, determines the fluids to the surface, improves the appetite, increases the animal vigor, regulates organic action, and, from its mild yet effective alterative qualities, is the very best preparation that can be administered to the weaker sex in the peculiar difficulties to which their organization subjects them. my5

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "PAIN KILLER," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The office of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the systems, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing the obstructions, relaxing the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing have ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to digest food, relieves the heart, gives the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to Burn, Blister, Sweat, Puke, Purge, and to do everything derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks into death.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation, or tubercle softening. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professional at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yjal

New Advertisements To-Day.

La Rue's Carnival Minstrels, Thursday, May 13.
To Let—One or two Rooms to a Lady.

NEAT AND TROTTING STOCK.—The Portsmouth correspondent of the Manchester Mirror states that Charles Hayes & Son, the well-known agriculturists and breeders of fine cattle, have, within a short time, sent to a party in Waltham, Mass., thirty grade Ayrshire cows, fourteen of which averaged $150 each; they send fifteen more immediately.

Hon. William Simes, of this city, has a very promising grade Durham heifer, four years old; which weighs nearly fifteen hundred pounds. [Yes, and instead of a grade Jersey heifer, as he lately hoped from her, she made a sad Irish bull of it for him.]

Hayes & Son have already put in seed for vegetables for the purpose of competition at the next State Fair. They will have an excellent show of all kinds.

Mr. Geo. H. Shannon is soon to locate at the Trotting Park near this city, to train horses for the track, and will probably have M. Eldridge's black mare Lady Palmer, Capt. H. Eldridge's bay filly, Woodbury Locke's gray mare Nellie Locke and roan gelding Yankee Locke, F. W. Miller's black mare "Jill," Nat. Wiggin's brown three-year old stallion, S. W. Webber's Fearnaught filly, E. Haines' iron gray gelding, E. D. Coffin's sorrel gelding "Gen. Scott," and others.

PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY.—The Annual Election of Officers was held on Tuesday evening; and the following were chosen: President, J. C. Butler; Vice President, John P. Hart; Sec. and Treasurer, L. V. Newell; Musical Director, E. A. Tilton; Executive Committee, F. W. Miller, W. N. Ilsley, L. E. Martin. Committee in charge of Piano, L. S. Butler, E. M. Brown, A. A. Fernald.

The receipts of the fourth season have been $640, and the expenses, including rent of Hall for rehearsals all winter, something more than $700.

The property of the Society consists of a fine Concert Piano worth $400 or more, on which they owe about $100.

The thanks of the Society were voted to the past officers, to the press, Supt. Prescott of the Eastern Railroad, to Mr. E. Tripp for loan of rich paper hangings, and to all others who have conferred favors, as heretofore mentioned. Monthly rehearsals are to be held during the warm season, at Mr. Tilton's Music Room on Daniel street.

TO THE CITIZENS OF PORTSMOUTH.—The members of Post No. 1. G. A. R. of this city, purpose to celebrate "Memorial Day," upon its annual recurrence the 30th of May, inst., and earnestly invite the co-operation of U. S. Officers, of all organized bodies, and the citizens generally. As Memorial Day falls upon Sunday, the Commander-in-Chief has accorded to all Posts of the Order the privilege of observing the 29th or 30th day of the month. As various opinions exist relative to the propriety of such selection, the Committee respectively request that the citizens will discuss the matter in public assembly, and the Post will cheerfully defer to their decision.

EDWIN A. TILTON, For the Com.

☞ But $1.10 in money was found on the body of Mr. Benj. Williams of Durham, picked up, on the shore at the Fox Point farm, Newington, on Monday. Mrs. W. states that he left home on the 16th of December for Hampton, with the intention of returning at night, and that he had about one hundred dollars with him at the time. He visited Hampton and Portsmouth where he was last seen, a day or two after leaving home. If he came to his death by violence it cannot now be proved by the condition of the body. He is spoken of as a good mechanic, a kind husband and worthy citizen.

☞ We hear it stated that Mr. J. F. C. Ryder of South Newmarket is contemplating the establishment of an extensive machine shop and foundry in Portsmouth, in case of proper encouragement from our citizens. Mr. Ryder is the owner of the machine shop lately burned at South Newmarket, and intends to employ 70 or 80 hands. We hope he will meet with sufficient encouragement from our citizens.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

☞ The many friends of Gustavus V. Rowe, Esq., will regret to hear that he is dangerously ill at Brandon, Vt.

If You Want a Kiss Why Take It.

There's a jolly Saxon proverb
That is pretty much like this:
That a man is half in Heaven
When he has a woman's kiss.
But there is danger in delaying,
And the sweetness may forsake it;
So I tell you bashful lover,
If you want a kiss why, take it.

Never let another fellow
Steal a march on you in this;
Never let a laughing maiden
See you spoiling for a kiss.
There's a royal way of kissing,
And the jolly ones who make it
Have a motto that is winning;
If you want a kiss, why, take it.

Any fool may face a cannon—
Anybody wear a crown—
But a man must win a woman,
If he'd have her for his own.
Would you have the golden apple,
You must find the tree and shake it.
If the thing is worth the having,
And you want a kiss, why, take it.

Who would burn upon a desert,
With a forest smiling by?
Who would give his sunny summer
For a bleak and wintry sky?
Oh! I tell you there is music,
And you cannot, cannot break it;
For the sweetest part of loving
Is to want a kiss and—take it.

☞ But we hear it stated that Mr. J. F. C. Ryder of South Newmarket is contemplating the establishment of an extensive machine shop and foundry in Portsmouth, in case of proper encouragement from our citizens. Mr. Ryder is the owner of the machine shop lately burned at South Newmarket, and intends to employ 70 or 80 hands. We hope he will meet with sufficient encouragement from our citizens.

☞ The many friends of Gustavus V. Rowe, Esq., will regret to hear that he is dangerously ill at Brandon, Vt.

THE BEAUTY'S CHOICE.

BY ESTHER.

Mrs. Hawley's prettiest boarder was the bit of a blonde girl named Florence Castleton. It was a romantic name, and she had a romantic history. Her parents were dead; she was the heiress of their property, and had a guardian. He had been in love with her mother, and was very jealous of the daughter's guardianship, treating her with arbitrary power, and teasing her quite as much as pleasing her by his affections. Yet it was quite as exasperating to the young men to see her lounging on his arm, and he a handsome bachelor of hardly forty. He boarded at a hotel; she had Mrs. Hawley's prettiest set of rooms. They were furnished by herself, and most charmingly, in rosewood and blue damask. She had canaries, and a paroquet, and a King Charles spaniel, and a maid under her authority; and it was but a short time after her arrival before every young man in the house was markedly subservient to her.

She was very pretty. Her hair was of a bright gold color, her cheeks rose pink, and her eyes always made me think of blue larkspur, they were so deeply and glowingly blue. I have seen the sea show such a color, but seldom anything else; and they did not change like the sea from blue to gray and Tyrean purple; they were always that deep steady, unaltered blue. I have seen her wear dresses and saques of the same shade.

She was a living romance heroine, and I used to observe the little episodes she occasioned in the house, with the expectation that she would finally occasion some serious rivalry or elopement, or break somebody's heart, and so give the material for a story. But for several months she pursued the even tenor of her pretty way and brought no one grief, and I began to think no one was going to break his heart for her, after all, and that the beauty of the boarding house would not furnish me with a story.

There were four young men in the house. Charley Childs, Fred Grove, Leonard Martin and Dick Manchester—all bright, agreeable, marriageable young men—and all admirers of Florence Castleton. Finally there was another, but he was too plain and bashful to be admitted to the elegant ranks of Miss Castleton's galaxy of beaux, and no one thought of his being any one's lover. His name was David Atwood. He was a book-keeper, was plain of dress, and evidently straightened means. He had one of the smallest of Mrs. Hawley's side rooms, spent all his days and most of his evenings in the office where he was employed, never went to the theatres or the opera, and possessed not the slightest style of manners.

Yet I noticed him from the first, as having a face of great sense and kindness—a face pleasant to see, having so much seriousness and strength with its youth. Yet it was very plain—the thin light hair falling lankly about the large, pale forehead, the eye-brows being almost imperceptible, the eyes of a light-yellowish gray, the nose and mouth large, and a characteristic blush raising and paling continually. His smile was sweet and pleasant; he looked good; and many a time have I turned from the shallow brilliancy of Fred Grove and the rattling gayety of Dick Manchester, to observe David Atwood, quietly reading, with a relief that there was yet some sound sense and real worth left in the world.

The others laughed at him—he was so shy, and awkward, and bashful. And Florence Castleton had a pretty voice for singing, and used to play upon a guitar, a beautiful one inlaid with pearl, which her guardian had given her. One evening after David Atwood had been at the house about six weeks, she bro't it down to play. The young men gathered to sing with her. Leonard Martin sang very well, and Charley Childs sang better. While they were engaged in singing, David Atwood came in.

He slipped into a corner and sat down in his shy way, and was unnoticed until Dick Manchester, who was restless for mischief, called out—"Mr. Atwood, won't you come and sing with us?"

Every one looked at Atwood. I expected to see him blush and stammer, and murmur an inaudible reply, but a new expression had come upon his face since he had entered the room.

"I do not sing," he said quietly.

"Nor play?" asked Dick.

"Only upon the violin."

Florence was thumming her guitar carelessly.

"Won't Mr. Atwood let us hear him play upon his violin?" asked Dick, glancing slyly at Martin, as if he was starting game. I waited Atwood's answer with a certain degree of interest.

"I have not used my violin since I came here. I will unpack it, and if none of the strings are broken I will play," said Atwood; and he rose quietly and went out of the room.

"How could you say that, Dick? He probably plays execrably," said Miss Jeannette Manchester, Dick's sister.

"I never knew a country Pumpkin who hadn't a fantasy for a fiddle," said Martin. "There, he's coming back! Now if any one has fastidious musical sensibilities, I'd advise him to decamp."

"I shall stay," answered Dick.

"We'll all stay and see the fun," said Grover, sitting down by Miss Castleton.

David came in; I began to understand what was coming, as he bent his head over the violin and drew the bow lightly across the strings. In a moment he glided softly into an air of Verdi's, so light and graceful that it was like the fall of sea spray. Every eye and ear was given in wrapt attention; some in troubled doubt, as if they did not believe their own senses, some in spleen or envy, and all in astonishment. Astonishment was the prevailing emotion.

When he finished the opera air, he asked—"Is there any tune you would particularly like?" and he glanced toward the side of the room where Florence Castleton sat, rather than at Dick and Martin.

"Will you play the 'Phantom Chorus' from Faust?" asked Florence, quickly; and the mild, sweet tones came forth obediently, in beautiful perfection. Air followed air. The company sat spellbound, until the suddenly revealed musician laid down his bow. A chorus of eulogistic praises and expressions of gratitude followed, but David Atwood smiled only at Florence Castleton's simple,—"We thank you!"

"You surprised and delighted us all with your performance, Mr. Atwood," I said.

He smiled.

"I learned to play to please a little sick sister I had once," he answered.—"Since she died I do not care to play much, although I love music."

Just then Florence Castleton flitted by and went up stairs. I thought she had heard what he said.

"Do you think she liked it?" he said, with amusing simplicity and directness.

"Yes, I am sure she did," I answered.

"She's pretty, isn't she?" cried he, with the same amusing naïvette.

"Yes," I answered.

"Good night," I said.

"Good night," he responded, and went into his room.

I smiled at my thoughts as I let down my hair before my dressing glass. Yet it might prove hardly a smiling matter, for a poor honest fellow like David Atwood to get in love with Florence Castleton, the beauty and heiress.

Concluded To-morrow.

The large and increasing sales of these is a sure proof of their superiority. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses, viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight, and the brilliant assistance they give in all cases, were in themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our Celebrated Perfected Spectacles by the residents of this locality.

With a full knowledge of the value of the assertion, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To those needing Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.

LIVE DUST.—Mr. Dancer, a Fellow of the Royal Society, has been making a microscopical examination of the dust of English cities, and reveals some unpleasant facts about the same. City dust is generally regarded as a nuisance, from the irritation which it produces on the lungs, and the impossibility of keeping it off from the person or out of houses. But according to Mr. D. there is another circumstance which will increase the aversion with which it is already held. In every specimen examined by him, animal life was abundant, the "molecular activity" varying according to the hight at which the dust is collected. And of all hights which these molecular wretches could select for the display of their activity, the hight of five feet is that which has been found to be the favorite.

Just at the average hight of the foot passenger's mouth, these floating, moving organisms are always waiting to be devoured and make us ill. Furthermore, as if animal abomination were not enough, a large proportion of vegetable matter also disports itself in the light dust of our streets. And the observations show that in thoroughfares where there are many animals engaged in the traffic, the greater part of the vegetable matter thus floating about "consists of what has passed through the stomachs of animals," or has suffered decomposition in some way or other. This unpleasing matter, like the "molecular activity," floats about at a height of five feet, or thereabouts.—Bos. Jour.

BIRDS AND THEIR USES.—The following facts are derived from correct sources of information, of the question how to get rid of the worms. Baron Von Tschudi, the well-known Swiss naturalist, says: "Without birds, successful agriculture is impossible. They annihilate in a few months a greater number of destructive insects, than human hands can accomplish in the same number of years. Amongst the most useful birds for this purpose may be classed the swallow, wren, robin redbreast, titmouse, sparrow and finch." Tschudi tested a titmouse upon the rose bushes of his neighbor, and rid the same in a few hours of innumerable lice.

A robin red-breast killed in the neighborhood of eight hundred flies in an hour. A pair of night swallows destroyed in fifteen minutes an immense swarm of gnats. A pair of wrens flew thirty-six times in an hour, with insects in their bill, to their nests. He considers the sparrow very important, a pair of them carrying in a single day 300 worms or caterpillars to their nests—certainly a good compensation for the few cherries they pluck from the trees. The generality of small birds carry to their young ones, during the feeding period, nothing but insects, worms, snails, spiders, &c. Sufficient interest should be manifested by all to prevent the discharge of fire-arms in the vicinity of orchards, vineyards and flower gardens, as thereby the useful birds become frightened.—London Farmer's Advocate.

POTATOES are the plant of a temperate climate, and will not thrive in the tropics. They do best in our cooler years, and they will not make much root growth in midsummer. They must be either early or late; that is, they must make their growth in the cool weather of spring, or in the early autumn. Sometimes owing to the cold and wet, they cannot be planted sufficiently early in the spring to make their growth before the hot weather comes on. Then the crop will be small.

If they are planted so late that the tubers begin to form about the coming on of the hot weather, the tubers cease to grow for some time at least, and the result will probably be a crop of numerous small potatoes. If they are planted still later, so that the tubers have not formed when the heated term arrives, if there is sufficient moisture to enable them to maintain the vitality of the stem and leaf till this term is over, they will go on and form tubers in August and September, and there will be a good crop. All these facts have been illustrated during the past season, and are worth remembering.—N. E. Farm.

TO RID FRUIT-TREES OF THE CANKER-WORM AND CATERPILLAR EFFECTUALLY. — One Application Sufficient.— Bore with a half-inch bit into the body of the tree to the depth of two inches, and pack the hole full of calcined sulphur, and stop tight with a short plug, sawing it off even with the bark of the tree. Do this in the month of February. When the sap starts, it will be carried into the circulation, and prove fatal to the worms as soon as they commence feeding upon the foliage. The remedy will not succeed applied at any other season. Applied as directed here, it will not fail, and will not injure the trees. I have tried it and know whereof I speak.

Query.—Will not the same remedy apply when shade-trees are infested with other troublesome worms?

Plum trees set in a yard by themselves, and the ground under the trees made the feeding-place for pigs, will not suffer from curculio.

DYSPEPSIA AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life a most wretched ed. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. S. LIBBY.

The fire was the work of an incendiary.

A dirt-eating snob in New Hampshire applauds the Mayor, and spits out a little venomous bitterness, showing the race to which he belongs, but hurting nobody but himself.

—A resident of one of the suburban towns found the services very quieting and fell asleep. He was finally disturbed by the touch of a contribution box in the hands of one of the deacons, who was taking up a collection; but, without opening his eyes, the sleeper ejaculated "Season," and sunk back to resume his nap. It is unnecessary to say that he was a season ticket passenger on a railroad.—Boston Advertiser.

The Merchant Service,—No. IX.

I do not suppose that a repeal of the laws for enslaving sailors would make angels of devils, or good men of bad ones; but I know that most—if not all—of the oppression of seamen which I have seen, has been the direct result of the laws which make them ship's property,—not men,—and declare them to have no legal right to their earnings.—Are there any reasons why these laws should exist? Setting aside the plain moral truth that no reasoning can justify injustice or make wrong right, I maintain that there is no reason for their existence, and that their abolition would not only benefit the sailor, but would accrue to the advantage of the shipowner and shipmaster, by elevating and improving the great mass of seamen.—I do not imagine that the effects of many years of oppression would be swept away in a day by one simple act of justice,—and all sailors become moral and trustworthy as soon as they are set free; but I believe, — I know, — that liberty would do more to regenerate the seaman than all the robbery and murder ever commited on board ship, or the contempt or the religious instruction he receives on shore.

One reason given for binding sailors to their ships is, that the vessels may not be deserted in foreign ports. But they are deserted; and the ships that lose the most men are the very ones where "the law," is most strictly enforced. Would it not be regarded as a peculiarly brilliant idea, were any one to advance the theory that it is necessary to give farmers the right to beat their men and withhold their wages, lest they should "desert?" Suppose such a law was to be passed,—and enforced,—does anybody think it would elevate either the farmers or their men,—or be very conducive of harmony and content? I don't. But I am arguing just as though the sailor was like other men,—which he cannot be, or the legislators and people of America would have found it out before this time.

The British colonies in New Zealand are blessed with a "Masters & Servants Act," under the wise provisions of which a dissatisfied employer cannot discharge a worthless man or maid-servant, nor a dissatisfied employee leave a harsh master or mistress,—"until the term of service expires." As a consequence, a large per centage of the complaints before their courts are for "absconding from hired service," with a few for "being illegally discharged." I was ridiculing this good old British law to a very intelligent farmer, one evening, and informed him that we had nothing of the kind (ashore) in America. "How in the world," said he, "do the people ever get anything done?" He couldn't understand how "servants" could be kept, or made to work, without good strong laws to bind them.—We need no such laws on shore, but for our sailors we do.

I have seen the experiment tried, by several shipmastnrs, of treating sailors like men,—man entitled to their liberty and their property; and whatever the result may have been, it certainly did not take the form of desertion of the ships by the sailors. I firmly believe that an initial consequence of freeing the sailor would be to make him more satisfied with his condition, and less inclined to dispute just authority where he dares. That floating hells would be enabled to retain their half-murdered, wholly-cowed crews, I do not for one moment suppose; nor do I imagine that it is absolutely necessary for the interests of humanity that they should.—Something more inviting than the usual "handspike chowder" and "belaying-pin soup," even though seasoned with the most liberal allowance of ropes'-end, brass knuckles, kicks, cuffs and curses, would be required to retain free men; slaves must remain.

It is obvious that neither desertions on the part of seamen, or "running-out of sailors" by officers, could take place if shipmasters and seamen stood on the same footing as other laborers and employees of labor. And that there would be actually less leaving of ships among freed seamen than there is at present, is not only agreeable to common sense (my common sense), but is borne out by the result of every experiment in freeing sailors that I have seen tried.—In my next article I will mention three such cases,—all that have come under my own observation; and I promise myself more pleasure in commending the honorable and just dealings of a few worthy men, than I have experienced in denouncing dishonor and injustice, and the laws which encourage and reward them,—through this whole series of articles. What is a Tonic?

Bear this in mind,—that although a tonic is, to a certain extent, a stimulant,—a stimulant, so-called, is any medicinal substance, it is not a tonic, but A DEBILITANT. In HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS there is a stimulating element of the purest grade manufactured in this or any other country. Every fiery and corrosive oil or acid which contaminates the ordinary liquors of commerce, is expelled from the ye spirit which forms the alcoholic basis of the BITTERS, by careful and repeated rectification. The juices of the valuable roots, barks and herbs, infused into this wholesome product of the finest grain, still further modify its nature; so that it becomes, in fact, a simple diffusive agent, subsisting in the blood, brain and nervous properties which belong, more or less, to all liquors in a raw state.

It is merely the safe and harmless vehicle which renders the medicinal virtues of the preparation effective,—increasing their active power, and diffusing them through the system. Hence the pleasant and gentle glow which is experienced after taking a dose of the BITTERS. Instead of creating headache, as unmedicated stimulants are apt to do, this salubrious tonic is the best known remedy for that complaint. It calms and soothes cerebral excitement, strengthens the nerves, promotes the secretion of the gastric juice, invigorates the bowels, determines the fluids to the surface, improves the appetite, increases the animal vigor, regulates organic action, and, from its mild yet effective alterative qualities, is the very best preparation that can be administered to the weaker sex in the peculiar difficulties to which their organization subjects them. my5

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect SAFETY.

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "PAIN KILLER," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The effects of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Call for Perry Davis' Vegetable "Pain Killer," and take none other. Sold by all druggists and grocers. a18

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to gain in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his great success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, bleeding; but does not stop it as other expectorants do, when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the patient will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made the food will digest without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop the pain, stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulceration of Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial inflammation, ulceration, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is all the body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets healthy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case as hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 25 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. C. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

City Council, Thursday Eve. May 6.

In Board of Aldermen, The Com. on Streets reported on extension of Myrtle St., that Mr. Hanscombe paid $200 per acre ($43.50 in all) for land taken, and $1.25 per rod for remaining fence. Adopted, and Com. given power to act.

Com. on Burying Grounds reported six stones broken in the Cotton Ground by the fire kindled by Mr. Adams, the keeper; and that Treat & Donovan would replace same for $70. After much discussion, voted that Com. have stones replaced at expense of the City, and request Mr. Adams to pay one-half the cost. Also to have fences repaired to keep out cattle, and to have the growth of weeds, &c., cut at proper times.

The Appropriation Bill was reported back by Com. on Bills on 2d Reading, with amendment striking out the $2500 for repairs and addition to Franklin School-house, and adding $1000 for Watchmen, and $500 for rent and repair of School-houses. Amendments adopted.

Ald. Miller moved to increase amount for streets and sewers, from $4500 to $5000. Ald. Cotton opposed, and Ald. Spinney said if the South End members did not wish their streets repaired, he would vote with them. After discussion, the amendment was carried by yeas 4, Miller, Slater, Pendexter, Clark; nays 3, Cotton, Spinney, Nowell; Pender absent.

$1000 was added for Sewer in Vaughn St. And the Ordinance for general system of Sewerage, allowing abutters to enter on payment of 1½ per cent. of the axed valuation of their estate drained; and if situated more than 100 ft. from a sewer, to be allowed to contract a private drain thereto, and pay 1 per ct. for entrance in such cases—was passed. All drains to be built under direction of St. Commissioner.

The report of Sub-Com. of 1st Dist. Sch. Com. insisted that the proposed addition should be made to Franklin School-house.

Ald. Slater moved that water pipes be laid into the Watch-house. Discussed and negatived—yeas, 2, Slater and Miller; nays 3, Spinney, Cotton, Nowell; Clark and Pendexter not voting.

The subject of Hose Carriages was (dis)cussed considerably, but the bill for $125 or so for repairs must be paid.

Bill $15 of Dr. N. B. Sides for attendance on sick horse at City Farm in 1863, approved by ex-Mayor Dearborn, was referred to Com. on Claims.

Voted to meet at 8 o'clock in future.

In Common Council no quorum.

MAC EVOY'S HIBERNICON opens this evening at the Temple. It represents a tour in Ireland, by tableaux, illustrating scenery and song, and representing cities, mountains, lakes, towers and ruins. Chas. MacEvoy, said to be a very clever Irish Comedian, appears as Barney, the Guide, assisted by Marie Dalton MacEvoy, as Nora, and Kate Halpine, the favorite Contralto. Many important additions have been made to the Hibernicon since its first appearance here, and it is said to have improved in many respects.

RE-INSTATED.—We are glad to learn that Hon. John Dame, who was removed from the position of Foreman Blacksmith in the Steam Engineering Department at the Navy Yard a week or two ago, by order of the Secretary of the Navy, has been re-instated in his old position. No reason was given for his discharge, although it was reported that it was because Mr. Dame presided at one of the meetings of the workmen, which passed resolutions protesting against the recent reduction of wages.

NAVAL.—Passed Assistant Paymaster H. Trumbull Stanecliff is ordered to Philadelphia to be examined for promotion.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

POTATOES were selling at wholesale in our market on Thursday, at 70 cents per bushel. Three months ago the person who sold them on Thursday refused $1 per bushel for the same lot.

☞ Half a score or more of new Advertisements are unavoidably laid over until to-morrow.

—Josh Billings says: "Biles are the sorest things ov their size on rekord, and az kross tew the touch az a setting hen, or a dog with a fresh bone."

☞ The Concert by Mrs. McAwley and assistants, Wednesday evening, at the Temple, was a very creditable entertainment, for non-professional performers, and we judge gave good satisfaction to an audience, not sufficiently large, we regret to hear, to cover the expenses. Mrs. McAwley has a good strong clear voice, and sings well, and shows improvement. Mrs. Phelan's voice is sweet and birdlike, and she is a very pleasing singer. Prof. Sargent was the only regular musician in the company, and his bass voice shew good culture. Mr. Coffey, baritone, did well with his part throughout; as did also Mr. Leslie, tenor, generally with his—and the latter was especially fine in the trio "Te Sol Quest Anima," which was nicely rendered throughout, and we regarded this as the gem of the evening.

Mr. Geo. L. Cheeney, (who, by the way, though not a professional musician, is a professional newspaper man, and connected with the editorial staff of the Boston Shipping List,) proved himself quite a taking singer and actor, and his comic songs, "Goin' t' Niagara Falls, sir," and "Mrs. Watkins' Evening Party," were encored so heartily as to call from Mr. Cheeney "The Little Fat Man," (which he was almost literally himself,) and "Rheumatics in Damp Attics,"—every one of which Barnabee has given here more than once. But Mr. C. bore the incvitable and of course trying comparison much better than we supposed he could, and we congratulate him on his success. Mrs. McAwley and Mr. Coffey were also encored for their "Matrimonial Jars," in which the lady especially shew some good acting.—The Concert certainly merited better attendance.

New Hampshire Items.

George B. Roberts is Post master of Rochester.

Mr. Hurd of Keene has been tried for setting fire to his house and was found guilty. His property was attached for debt, and out of spite he set fire to his buildings.

Three freight cars on the Montreal road became detached, on Thursday near Warren Summit, and went backward at a rapid rate over the down grade as far as Wentworth. One car was destroyed and about two hundred yards of the track torn up.

Hon. Chas. H. Bell, President of the New Hampshire Historical Society, has raised funds in the eastern part of the State, which, added to the liberal donations from Concord members, will permit the society to purchase the old Merrimack County Bank building in Concord for the keeping of their records and valuable library. The society embraces many of the ablest men of the State.

A fine Leghorn rooster, who had strayed from his barnyard kingdom, got afloat on the Cocheco at Dover, recently. Unable to get away, he faced death like a Roman, went over the falls in a Sam-Patch-like leap, and sank to rise no more.

The largest flouring mill in this State is that of Barron, Dodge & Co., at Fisherville, known as the Walnut Mills. It contains five run of stones, and can turn out three hundred barrels of flour per day. The mill, which was built in 1857, is 60 by 40 feet and three stories. It gives employment to 11 hands.

—An extraordinary activity in agricultural lands in California has been a result of the building of the Pacific Railroad. Branches from that road into all the hitherto neglected regions are projected and in some cases surveyed. New towns are springing up in interior localities and the demand for money to carry on these enterprises has produced a stringency in the money market. The wildcat mining schemes meet with less favor now that it is seen that investments in farming lands, soon to have quick communication with the coast, will pay as well and much more surely.

THE BEAUTY'S CHOICE.

BY ESTHER.

Concluded.

It soon became perceptible to all observing people, how much David Atwood was in love with Miss Castleton. She divined it swiftly, and thought it did not displease her. The others railed at her, but she put off their jests lightly, and was none the worse for them. Poor David did not address her, he could hardly summon courage to approach her when necessary; and it was altogether beyond his plain, passionate heart to disguise his sensitiveness in regard to her presence.

He would turn pale every time she spoke to him, and once, when he bro't her a chair in an awkward hurry, I saw him tremble like a leaf under her beautiful blue eyes. They were together that evening, with three or four others in the parlor.

"Miss Castleton," one said who idolized Florence for her beauty, after the manner of school girls, "your eyes are just the color of the water off Half-Moon Beach, where I saw it last summer."

Miss Castleton laughe'.

"They are like the summer skies," said Charley Childs.

"I suspect they are just like the binding of 'Owen Meredith,' in blue and gold," said Dick Manchester.

His answer was involuntary.

"They are like the blue larkspur which used to grow in my mother's garden." Florence blushed; it was the only time I had ever seen her blush. Looking up, she suddenly met the eyes of her guardian, Mr. Gray, who was present. Rising, quickly, she went to the piano, and seating herself, played a light air.

That night a clang of fire-bells awoke me. I lay unaffected for a moment until I suddenly perceived the odor of smoke. The hall was filled with smoke and there was confusion in the house. The cry of "Fire! Fire!" arose.

I flung on a wrapper, drew on my slippers, and commenced putting my most valuable papers in my writing desk. While I was doing this there came a quick step on the landing. I opened my door again, and saw for the first time that the doors of all the other chambers were open and the occupants had fled. It was a servant.

"Oh, come down, for Heaven's sake" cried she. "The back part of the house is afire from cellar to roof inside!"

There were doors in the hall shutting off all the back part of the house from the front.

"Are all out?" I asked, flinging a cloak around me, and taking up my precious writing desk. "Miss Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. Blake, Miss Houston and Miss Castleton?" said I, as I went thro' the smoky hall.

"God have mercy," cried the Irish girl, "but I don't think Miss Castleton is out! I've not seen her. Oh! what'll I do?"

"Go down!" he cried out to me as he sprang past me.

He flung open the door between the two halls, a volley of smoke poured out, and I retreated. It was David Atwood. I knew instinctively that he had gone for Florence, and that she would immediately be safe.

Down the stairs the people were carrying out furniture, and the greatest confusion and consternation, mingled with much active energy, prevailed. The fire engines were coming rapidly up, and a crowd was gathering. I was preparing to go across the street to the house of a friend, finding that I could be of no assistance, when my attention was attracted by the form of Mr. Gray rushing into the hall, at the same instant that Mrs. Blake put her baby into my arms for safe keeping, while she wrapped two little shivering forms in shawls preparatory to putting them into a carriage for a friend's house.

Mr. Gray caught the arm of Mrs. Hawley, as she flew down the stairway, with a pile of valuable clothing.

"Miss Castleton! Mrs. Hawley, where is she?" he cried.

"I don't know! I don't know!" she exclaimed despairingly. Some one went for her, I have not seen—"

Mr. Gray interrupted her with an oath, sprung to the stairs, but at that instant the figure of David Atwood emerged from the smoke on the stairway, with the senseless form of Florence Castleton in his arms. She had apparently fainted with the fright, or had been overpowered by the smoke.

She was half dressed! her beautiful golden hair swept over David's arm, the white unconscious face was clasped to his breast.

They carried her out into the air, and she soon revived, and was carried to the hotel where Mr. Gray resided.

The fire was finally extinguished, but the house was very much injured, and rendered untenable until repaired.—It was spring, and I went out of town, but that summer I received the following letter from Jeannette Manchester:

"MY DEAREST ESTHER:—I've such news to tell you! Florence Castleton has married the horrid, awkward David Atwood, who is a fright, if he does play beautifully on the violin. It seems that he saved her from the fire, and she went into a passion of gratitude, and he told her that he loved her, and there was a pretty state of affairs for that aristocratic Gray, who was more than half in love with Florence himself, I believe. But they say that Florence said to him, 'Dear guardian, remember my mother,' and he gave her light up, and let her marry Atwood. I was at the wedding; she was married at Gray's country seat, and they say the bride wore blue larkspur in her hair. Horrid taste, etc. J. MANCHESTER."

I smiled. I was very glad.

THE ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY

WILL Hereafter Break Packages and sell the FINER SORTS of Black, Green and Japan Teas direct to customers, by the pound, as low as by the cargo, a saving to families of one-third to one-half.

WE DEVOTE PARTICULAR ATTENTION to FINE FLAVORED TEAS, of Full Strength, which competition among the great Importing Tea Houses has sacrificed for "low price lists."

EXPERIENCE PROVES the Finest Teas relatively the cheapest, as the Government Duty, 2 cents in Gold, or nearly 40 cents in currency, and also the freight, packing and other expenses of importing, are as much on the poorest as the finest.

OUR COFFEE DEPARTMENT is the largest on this continent, and we are now selling more Pure Coffee by several tons per week than any other house in America.

ALL OUR COFFEES are carefully selected for our trade from the best field-ripened berries, and we roast them in our establishment every day, by our new method, which removes all the acidity and renders them perfectly pure.

THROUGH OUR CLUB SYSTEM we supply families, hotels and boarding houses in every section of the county at the same low prices as at our principal warehouse.

WE PAY FREIGHT and deliver our Goods Free of expense at any railroad station East of the Rocky Mountains, on orders for $50 and upwards, when accompanied with the cash in advance, free of expense to us.

HAIR VIGOR!

FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.

The Great Desideratum of the Age.

Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth.

This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application.

Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous.

Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness.

Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it

If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable.

A COLLOQUY WITH MYSELF.

BY BERNARD BARTON.

As I walked by myself, I talked to myself,
And myself replied to me;
And the questions myself then put to myself,
With their answers, I give to thee.
Put them home to thyself, and if not thyself,
Their responses the same should be,
Oh! look well to thyself, and beware of thyself,
Or so much the worse for thee.

What are Riches? Hoarded treasures
May, indeed, thy coffers fill;
Yet, like earth's most fleeting pleasures,
Leave thee poor and heartless still.

What are pleasures? When afforded
But by gauds which pass away,
Read their fate in lines recorded
On the sea-sands yesterday.

What is Fashion? Ask of Folly,
She her worth can best express.
What is moping Melancholy?
Go and learn of Idleness.

What is Truth? Too stern a preacher
For the prosperous and the gay!
But a safe and wholesome teacher
In Adversity's dark day.

What is Friendship? If well founded,
Like some beacon's heaven-ward glow;
If one false pretension grounded,
Like the treacherous sand below.

What is Love? If earthly only,
Like a meteor of the night;
Shining but to leave more lonely
Hearts that hailed its transient light:

But when calm, refined and tender,
Purified from passion's stain,
Like the moon in gentle splendor,
Ruling o'er the peaceful main.

What are Hopes, but gleams of brightness,
Glancing darkest clouds between?
Or foam-crested waves, whose whiteness
Gladdens ocean's darksome green.

What are Fears? Grim phantoms, throwing Shadows o'er the pilgrim's way,
Every moment darker growing,
If we yield unto their sway.

What is Mirth? A flash of lightning,
Followed but by deeper gloom.
Patience? More than sunshine brightening
Sorrow's path and labor's doom.

What is Time? A river flowing
To Eternity's vast sea,
Forward, whither all are rowing,
On its bosom bearing thee.

What is Life? A bubble floating
On that silent rapid stream;
Few, too few, its progress noting,
Till it bursts, and ends the dream.

What is Death, asunder rending
Every tie we loved so well?
But the gate to life unending,
Joy, in heaven! or woe, in hell!

Can these truths, by repetition,
Lose their magnitude or weight?
Estimate thine own condition,
Ere thou pass that fearful gate.

Hast thou heard them oft repeated,
Much may still be left to do:
Be not by profession cheated;
Live—as if thou knew'st them true.

As I walked by myself, I talked to myself,
And myself replied to me;
And the question myself then put to myself,
With their answers I've given to thee.
Put them home to thyself, and if unto thyself
Their responses the same should be,
Oh! look well to thyself, and beware of thyself,
Or so much the worse for thee.

Agricultural Items.

An Australian inventor has built a machine for shearing sheep by steam, which it is hoped will prove a success.

When a ton of wheat is marketed, it leaves nothing behind but $5 worth of straw. When a ton of meat is sold, it leaves behind it a large portion of the manurial value of the food consumed in making it.

The Maine farmers in convention at Augusta decided that the Orono, as it is called, was the best potato to grow in the State. It is also called the Carter, Reed and Foote potato, but the convention held to the name—Orono.

The Portland Advertiser says that the potato crop for 1868 was the heaviest since 1862, when there were exported from the State one million bushels. As less than half the usual quantity has come forward to market, the idea of an advance in prices, under the influence of which farmers are still holding their crops, bids fair to be disappointed.

The Prairie Farmer says that the State of Indiana has at yet made no effort to establish her agricultural college. The land scrip has been sold, amounting to $212,238,50, and the proceeds invested in 5-20 bonds. Gov. Baker reports to Congress that it is believed the present legislature will act upon the subject of the location of the college.

—A Cincinnati correspondent, returning from the East, was about to file himself away in one of the railway pigeon-holes of a sleeping-car, when the somnolent passengers were roused by the voice of a huge Kentuckian, who, holding up a pillow between his thumb and finger, roared out to the attendant, "I say, you boy, come back and take this away." "What for, sir?" "Because I'm afraid the little thing will get in my ear."

A BIG FISH.—It is reported to us by letter that a lady in Brookline, by the name of Fish, weighs 358 pounds.—Talk about heavy weight of men, in comparison with the Brookline lady and the four hundred and odd pounds of the Cheshire lady lately married.—Mirror.

DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being will once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

EXETER, May 6

Yesterday afternoon brought with it the first really comfortable weather since the advent of the "merry month of May." Rain, hail and snow, and east winds, have been the rule, and it was refreshing to feel once more the genial rays of old Sol.

The May Festival, as usual, was a complete success; not only pecuniarily, but in the amount of hearty rational enjoyment afforded its patrons. I was able to be present only during the evening, when the attendance was just large enough to give all an opportunity for the full enjoyment of the occasion. The Hall was tastefully trimmed with evergreen, and a profuse display was made of flowers, useful and fancy articles. Among those from abroad who honored the festival scene with their presence, were Judge Ames of Boston, and Hon. S. M. Wheeler of Dover, both accompanied by ladies. I learn that the receipts amounted to about $600.

Chas. Kean, Jr., son of Chas. Kean the eminent tragedian, and grandson of the immortal Edward Kean, gave a very excellent Dramatic Reading on the 26th, before a not large, but highly appreciative audience. Although by birth an Englishman, Mr. Kean showed his appreciation of our American authors by making six of his eight selections from their writings,—among them Whittier's Maud Muller and Barbara Freitchie. Mr. Kean commences an engagement at the Montreal Theatre in a few weeks.

The appointment of Major Vaughan, of your city, as Pension Agent, gives the most complete satisfaction here. Major Vaughan is not personally known to many of our residents, but in his appointment we see a deserved recognition of the services of so good a soldier as his record proves him to have been, and to those who formed his acquaintance on the occasion of the Republican Mass Meeting here last fall, his appointment is peculiarly gratifying. Give us more such men in office, and the country will be better served.

In my letter of the 3rd, your types made me say that the steam engine at Head and Jewell's carriage manufactory, in cold weather, heats the work. I need scarcely say it should have been work-shops. H.

THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD FINISHED.—The last rail in the connecting link of our trans-continental highway has been laid. To-day the Central and the Union Pacific form by Government direction "one continuous road," from Omaha to Sacramento. With marvelous and magic-like rapidity have the two powerful companies brought section after section of their roads to completion, until to-day they reach the goal for which both have so vigorously contended.

Within the brief period of three years and a fraction the Union Pacific Railroad Company have crossed the prairies of Nebraska, scaled the Rocky Mountains, pushed over the great mountain plateau, passed the rugged range of the Wasatch, pierced and tunneled the cliffs they could not climb, worked their way through and across the most terrific Canyons, passed northward of the Great Salt Lake, until they have met the Central Pacific at their coming, nearly eleven hundred miles west of their initial point at Omaha. Such achievements in so short a time may justly excite the wonder and the admiration of the world.

THE BOSTON NATIONAL PEACE FESTIVAL.—A grand Chorus Organ is being built for the festival by the celebrated builders, Messrs. Hook. It is intended to be such an one as shall fully sustain the vast chorus and orchestra and properly fill the mammoth building. A description of the proposed instrument says, "Though with but one Manuale and a Pedale, and only eleven speaking stops, it is believed the immensity of tone produced by them will be such as has never been heard on this continent, if on the globe." The size of the instrument is not mentioned, so that we are unable to say whether the "great organ" is to be overshadowed or not.

The jubilee promises to be more successful than was at first anticipated. It is awakening interest all over our own country. The sale of tickets commenced on Monday, May 3d, at Music Hall. A. P. Peck, a gentleman of much experience, has been appointed ticket agent; and orders for seats, accompanied by the money, may be addressed to him.

☞ The famous breach of promise case of Belinda B. Ellms, against D. D. Kelly, an East Boston ship builder, has just been tried for the third time and resulted in a verdict for the defendant. At the first trial the plaintiff got a verdict of $7000 and at the second of $3000, which were both set aside by the Court.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ Mayor Jones had a narrow escape from serious injury or death, on Thursday about noon. He was driving home with a friend (Mr. Young of Manchester,) in an open buggy, with a trusty horse, one of his span of blacks, when the animal became startled at a very strange object, a pile of white, steaming manure, at the roadside on Christian Shore, and wheeling suddenly and entirely about, threw them both out, and horse and carriage actually rolled on and over the men—but, strange to say, neither man, horse nor carriage was harmed much, but all were soon extricated from the apparent wreck, and proceeded on their way,—though Mr. Young, whose nice tile was crushed under the horse, had a shocking bad hat thereafter, and there were some bruises and scrapes, of course.

☞ The Meeting of the Stockholders of the Rockingham Trotting Park, will be at the National Hotel, this (Saturday) evening, at 8 o'clock.

PERSONAL.—Enoch Knight, Esq., managing editor of the Portland Press, formerly of the Star and Advertiser, was in town on Thursday.

What is a Tonic?

Bear this in mind,—that although a tonic is, to a certain extent, a stimulant,—a stimulant, unmodified by any medicinal substances, is not a tonic, but a DEBILITANT. In HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS there is a stimulating element of the purest grade manufactured in this or any other country. Every fiery and corrosive oil or acid which contaminates the ordinary liquors of commerce, is expelled from the rye spirit which forms the alcoholic basis of the BITTERS, by careful and repeated rectification. The juices of the valuable roots, barks and herbs, infused into this wholesome product of the finest grain, still further modify its nature; so that it becomes, in fact, a simple diffusive agent, minus all the heavy and brain exciting properties which belong, more or less, to liquors in their crude state.

It is merely the safe and harmless vehicle which renders the medicinal virtues of the preparation effective,—increasing their active power, and diffusing them through the system. Hence the pleasant and gentle glow which is experienced after taking a dose of the BITTERS. Instead of creating headache, as unmedicated stimulants are apt to do, this salubrious tonic is the best known remedy for that complaint. It calms and soothes cerebral excitement, strengthens the nerves, promotes the secretion of the gastric juice, invigorates the bowels, determines the fluids to the surface, improves the appetite, increases the animal vigor, regulates organic action, and, from its mild yet effective alterative qualities, is the very best preparation that can be administered to the weaker sex in the peculiar difficulties to which their organization subjects them. my5

Holloway's Pills.—Virulent Eruptions.—Boils, Pustules, and in fact all diseases of the skin that are not the results of infection, proceed from a bad state of the blood. Imperfect digestion produces vitiated blood and unhealthy bile, consequently the stomach is responsible for most of the diseases of the skin. Therefore, attack complaints of this nature at their fountain head by toning and purifying the digestion and discharging organs with that peerless aperient, alterative and corrective medicine—HOLLOWAY'S PILLS. Sold by all Druggists. my5

THOSE WHO DESIRE BRILLIANCY OF COMPLEXION must purify and enrich the blood, which HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA invariably does. Ask for Helmbold's. Take no other. ai2 2m

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla: its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction of cures.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. d25

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "PAIN KILLER," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar Regions, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

Thousands of children die annually of Croup.—Now, mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment in the house, you need never fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throats, Colic, Swellings, Mumps, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores, and Pains in the Chest. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has only what the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills are doing; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which makes a preparation like Kelp, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made the best blood, without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial inflammation, plethora, or ulcers, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast dying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost the power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 228 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physician having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 32 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. G. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

BASE BALL.—We hear that a picked nine, consisting mainly of players formerly belonging to the Granite State Club, of this city, have challenged some of the veterans of the old Rockingham Club to select a nine from other players residing in Portsmouth,—the game to come off at their earliest convenience.—The challenging nine are getting into good trim by daily practice, and propose to show their older brethren that they have not been slow in acquiring proficiency in the manly game which the Rockinghams first introduced here in 1865. The Granite State nine have provided themselves with three pitchers for the coming contest, and may bother their opponents considerably by changing them at intervals during the game. They appear to be very sanguine of success, but should not be too sure of winning, though their opportunity of doing so seems to be a good one. A rhymist expresses himself very happily in the following lines, which are cordially commended to the consideration of the juvenile heroes of the bat.

Don't slop over! The wisest men
Are bound to slop over now and then:
And yet the wisest, at work or feast,
Are the very ones who blunder the least.
Those who for spilt milk never wail,
Are the ones who carry the steadiest pail.
Wherever, you go, go in for the fat.
And don't slop over! freeze to that!

The last National Convention of base ball players made several amendments to the rules of the Association, the most important of which we publish for the information of those interested.

1st. Enlarges the position of pitcher from a space of ground six feet by four to a space six feet square.

2nd. Requires the umpire to call all balls not pitched within the legitimate reach of the bat.

3d. Any player failing to take his regular turn at the bat, unless by reason of sickness or injury, or by consent of the captains of the contesting nines, shall be declared out.

4th. Prohibits calling of balls or strikes on first ball delivered, and neither can a ball or strike be called until the pitcher or batsman has been duly warned, and the ball has passed the home base.

ENTERPRISE.—We learn that Mr. Ryder, the burnt-out Foundry man of South Newmarket, has received invitations from the citizens of Great Falls, Dover and Newburyport, to locate his business in those places; but intends to visit Portsmouth and prospect, before making a decision. The Secretary of the Portsmouth Board of Trade has, we believe, invited Mr. Ryder to meet that body for consultation on Tuesday evening next; and it would seem that all persons dependent on the business of this city, would do well to interest themselves to secure the locating of the Foundry here.—for it is no new, untried or uncertain enterprise, but will furnish good and sure employment for 60 or 70 men.

Mr. T. S. Nowell, we also learn, is contemplating the enlargement of his building on State and Pleasant Streets, so as to fill the entire square to Church Street, and allow him facilities for extending his Shoe Manufacturing business to the employment of 200 hands.—His decision in the matter, and also that of Mr. Ryder, we understand, may be governed somewhat by the decision of the City authorities, whether or no to exempt the proposed manufacturing establishments from taxation for a series of years, agreeably to the late State law passed to meet and encourage just such enterprises. Mr. Nowell is one of our most important and useful citizens, and we think no man has done more for the business of the place. We wish him continued and extended success.

☞ The article on Road-making, which we publish on our 4th page this morning, is worthy the attention of all who go the roads or have to help pay for them. Not to mention the comfort and satisfaction of highways well made and kept in good order; these are really the cheapest, considering not only the time saved by them, but the vastly greater wear and tear of teams of all kinds, on poor roads. A stone-crushing machine has long been one of the public wants of Portsmouth; and probably nothing but the considerable cost, —($1000 or so, we believe,) has prevented the purchase ere this. But how absurd for a city like this, to go on making perishable roads, when a little more outlay would pay so richly. Just read the article referred to, and see if you don't agree with it and us.

☞ Rev. J. Riley Johnson, of Norwich, Conn., is to preach at the Universalist Church on Sunday morning and afternoon, at the usual hours.

☞ Gilbert's Fruit Store, on Daniel Street, will supply you with fresh Tomatoes and delicious Sweet Potatoes, from the South.

HOW IT IS DONE.—The "chief executioner" at the Treasury Department is Thomas L. Tullock, the new appointed clerk, the same little man who "ran" the Congressional Executive Committee during the last Presidential campaign. He is from New Hampshire, and is said to be "well to do" in this world's goods, but takes to politics just for the love of it. Everybody supposed he would have got a better place than that of appointment clerk, which only pays $2,500 a year, which is scarcely enough for a man to live decently upon in Washington, and keep out of debt. But Tullock was emphatically the man for the work. He is as cold and as firm as the granite hills of his native State, and no appeal from the victims— however heart-rending—can move him, when he once makes up his mind.

While he was in charge of the Congressional Executive Committee he sent out circulars to every clerk and employee, in the different departments asking for contributions to aid the Republican party in the campaign. He had complete lists of all the clerks in the various departments, and he knew exactly how much interest they felt in the success of the party by the weight of their contributions. This knowledge enables him to reach every man, and every woman, too, who was either lukewarm, or tried "to carry water on both shoulders," or was secretly aiding the Democratic enemy. Therefore, he is a terror to all who know in their own hearts that they have "a weak spot in their case," for they feel certain that if ever Tullock marks one of them for a victim, he or she is "gone" beyond redemption.

In order to give him full swing, Secretary Boutwell has surrendered almost the entire appointing power into his hands, to make selections for discharge, or for appointing new clerks. The heads of the different Bureaus, too, have also yielded their prerogatives in a great measure to Tullock, and he is really the most important man to-day in the Department in the matter of distributing patronage. His rooms are thronged from breakfast time in the morning till late in the afternoon, and it is curious to note how many distinguished people, Senators and Representatives, and other high officials, may be seen lingering obsequiously around his little office, begging for the smallest favors.

Secretary Boutwell, by this ingenious arrangement, escapes nearly all the importunity which inevitably attends the distribution of patronage, for it is so easy to refer them to the appointment clerk, who is ready and willing to breast the storm of tears, entreaties, and sometimes downright brow-beating, from some people who will not take "no" for an answer.

The other day the story got out that Tullock had appointed a colored woman to a clerkship in the Treasury, and forthwith he was overwhelmed with people who told him flatly to his face that they considered their claims much superior to any nigger's, and they couldn't understand why he would appoint a "nigger" and keep white people out. There was no truth in the story.

Then, too, some verdant newspaper correspondents were "sold" by a story that Ben. Butler was insulted in one of the passenger railway cars by a white lady crying out to the other passengers to "look out for their spoons;" and it was glowingly set forth that the vindictive Butler followed the lady, ascertained that she was employed in the Treasury Department, and that he procured her discharge, and had a colored woman appointed in her place—all of which was a "yarn," manufactured out of the whole cloth! All these stories tend to inflame the minds of prejudiced people against the "niggers," and add immensely to the annoyance of the appointment clerk.—Cincinnati Times.

Road Making.

The town of Newton, Mass., recently appointed a committee to consider the expediency of employing a competent engineer to superintend the roads of the town, with a view to changing the system of management, which there as elsewhere now secures bad roads at the highest cost. From the report of this committee we make the following extracts:—

"They are satisfied that the true interests of the town will be best promoted by employing the best attainable engineering skill; by having the roads over which heavy teams travel macadamized with broken stone, and also by having the gravelled roads, as well as the broken stone roads, underdrained in all places where springs manifest themselves, or where higher land adjacent to the road makes it wet and muddy.

"The test of a road is its condition in bad weather, and its power of sustaining heavy teams without being cut up in ruts or pounded full of holes; and certainly most roads although in fair condition in dry weather, are not able to resist rains nor sustain heavy teams. Should the town purchase a stone-crusher, and decide to repair with broken stone, it will still be no less necessary to underdrain, or, in some suitable way, relieve the road-bed of water, or the macadamizing will not be effectual.

"It may be apprehended that these recommendations, if carried into effect, would involve a large if not useless outlay. In answer to this it can be stated, by way of illustration, that the bill of a first rate engineer for superintending the roads of Brookline, Mass., was but $312 for an entire year. It will doubtless cost more in the outset to repair or build a road with broken stone; but the work, if properly done, will last with but slight repairs for years.

"The town of Waltham macadamizes its principal streets. It keeps ten to fifteen men under constant employ, and much of the time on the roads; one of these men has thus been engaged for twenty years. Their superintendent of roads has held his situation twelve years; his salary as road master is $800; he is also paid $100 as highway surveyor. Waltham, in 1865, had 51 miles of road, and for the previous seven years its roads had cost the town an average of $3357 a year, or about $66 a mile. It cost that town the past year for repairs of roads and clearing off snow $6000 for sixty miles of road. The town of Newton expended for repairs and clearing off snow in the same time on eighty-two miles the sum of $14,523, or $176 a mile. It will thus be seen that our system of partial or incomplete repair is almost twice as expensive.

"But this is taking the most narrow view of the subject. An editorial in a recent Boston paper says:—'The heaviest part of our highway tax is no doubt that which is levied upon us by the destruction of horseflesh, the impeding of public travel, the wear of vehicles, and the increased cost of transportation over our poor roads. This is a tax which without any assessor or collector is inexorably exacted from every barrel of flour, every bag of grain, every box of goods, and every person, passing over our travelled roads. As it is levied indirectly, and more than all as we have always paid it, nobody thinks of it. But it is one of the heaviest burdens resting on the people of Massachusetts and of New England, borne by those who rank among the most thrifty and progressive people on earth, and who nevertheless in this every day matter are demonstrably rather more than two thousand years behind the world.'

"That this is not imaginary, statistics show. General Morin found, by careful experiment, that springs on springs, drawn on a new road covered with gravel five inches thick, required in tractive force one-eighth the load; upon a solid causeway of earth, with gravel one and one-half inches thick, one-tenth the load; upon a causeway of earth in very good condition, one-twenty-sixth the load; upon a broken stone road, very smooth, one-forty-fifth the load; upon a broken stone road, moist or dusty, one-thirteth the load; upon a broken stone road, with ruts and mud, one-twentieth the load; upon a broken stone road, with deep ruts and thick mud, the tractive force required was one-tenth the load. It will thus be seen that the smooth causeway of earth, in very good condition, required but one-twenty-sixth of its weight in tractive force to draw it, while the smooth broken stone road required only one-forty-fifth the weight of the load in tractive force.

"Before the invention of railways the attention of engineers in Great Britain and on the continent of Europe was largely given to the construction of common roads and turnpikes, upon which the heavy travel of those nations depended. Telford built, more than fifty years ago, 800 miles of road in the highlands of Scotland, still admirable and in constant use. The roads built by the French engineers of the first empire are still among the finest in the world. No one that has travelled over the Simplon road, or the Mt. Cenis road, or from the St. Barnard pass to Martigny, or all around the Bay of Naples to Sorento, on a road built by Murat and which the lazy Italians have had the grace to let alone, can possibly resist the claims of a good, smooth, hard road. It adds new charms to scenery and imparts a fresh zest to life.

But to come back again to statistics. MacNeill constructed a machine to test the amount of tractive power required on different roads. This was carefully tested by many very eminent engineers. Their experiments showed, uniformly, that the force of traction is, in every case, nearly in exact proportion to the strength and hardness of a road. They found that on a road made with a thick coating of gravel, a load which required the power of 147 pounds to draw it, could be drawn on a broken stone road with a power of 65 pounds; and on a road of broken stone of great hardness, laid on a foundation of large stones set in the form of a pavement, the power required to remove the same load was but 46 pounds; and this last road effectually resisted frosts.

"On the 6th instant, your committee visited Waltham, and found the broken stone road there dry and hard. It will sustain loads of six tons without being cut into ruts. Returning, we came down through Waltham street, and, observing the instant of passing from town to town in the changed character of the road, we passed on to Newtonville over our fine old avenue! The first road required scarce any mending. The last was cut up with ruts and full of mud, and workmen were dumping gravel four to six inches deep upon it. On the Waltham road it required not more than one-fortieth the weight of the load (say 20 lbs.) in tractive force to draw it, while on the main road of the good, rich old town of Newton, it would have required one-eight the weight of the load (100 lbs.) in tractive force to draw it.

That this criticism is not especially in the interest of persons driving in light carriages and for pleasure, may be seen from the fact,—as demonstrated by careful and extended experiment,—that resistance to the onward motion of the carriage or cart, arising from roughness of the road, is always in proportion to the weight of the carriage. A double weight will offer double resistance, and a triple weight triple resistance, and so on. In truth the principal objection of some, who have had little or no experience with the broken stone road, is that it is unfit to drive horses rapidly upon; such a road improperly made, or imperfectly hardened, is indeed unsuitable for rapid driving; but it requires only a journey of three hundred miles, to see millionaires driving the finest trotters in the world upon roads as smooth as a floor, made entirely of stone."

The committee conclude by recommending an appropriation of not over $350 for the services of an engineer, and the appropriation of the necessary sum for a stone-crusher and the proper equipment.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A STAR IN THE EAST!!

A NEW STAR has appeared in the literary circles, called THE "ILLUMINATED WESTERN WORLD." Its illustrations are all printed in beautiful oil colors, from one to seven, at a single impression. In this feature alone THE "ILLUMINATED WESTERN WORLD" stands forth the foremost of the age. Aside from its magnificent illustrations, however, its columns will teem with Short Stories, Serial Prose, Charming Poetry and Glowing Romance. It is a fit companion of every fireside—the magazine of every branch of literature—the champion of all noble industries—the support of the farmer, merchant, artisan, and the education of the masses. Send for specimen copies. Sold by all news dealers. Subscription $2.00 per annum. Address

YOU CANNOT AFFORD TO PAY three or four profits on articles of necessary use, when by sending a Club to

Parker & Co.'s

GREAT ONE DOLLAR SALE

OF DRY GOODS, LINENS, PARASOLS, ALBUMS, HOSIERY, SILVER PLATED WARE, JEWELRY, GERMAN FRENCH & GERMAN FANCY GOODS, of every description, you can purchase anything in their immense stock for

ONE DOLLAR EACH.

The secret of our low prices is this:—We have a very large Cash Capital, and have buyers in all the principal cities of this country and in Europe, who purchase FOR CASH, DIRECT FROM THE MANUFACTURERS, all the goods used by us, thus saving the consumer the profits made by the importer or Commission Merchant, the Wholesale and Retail Dealer, and the Jobber, which profits are taken by us. We can give More Goods for One Dollar than the Retail Merchant for twice or three times that sum. Our goods are described on printed checks, which will be sent in Clubs for Ten Cents each, to pay postage, printing, &c.

If the article named on the Check is not wanted, you can exchange from a list comprising Three Hundred and Fifty Useful Articles, among which are—

LADIES' SILK PARASOLS, LADIES' FINE WHITE TUCKED SHIRTS, SILVER PLATED FRUIT BOX TILTED CASTORS, and a large variety of useful articles, not one of which can be bought in any other way for nearly double the money.

Reference will be kindly required, from the most reliable Wholesale Merchants of Boston and New York, as to our standing and the strictly honorable character of our business.

Deeds of Soul Writers.

No, of course not. All his folks at home say he didn't. Nobody who writes about anything, ever has it. If a man is out of anything, he immediately goes and writes about it. No one writes so many "headings" as the man who is out of his head.

Certainly he didn't ever have any home. The man who wrote "Old Arm Chair" never had an arm chair in all his life. The best he had was an old split-bottomed chair with no back to it.

The author of "Take Me Back to Switzerland" never was in Switzerland. The nearest he ever came to it was sitting in the Wm. Tell saloon and eating Switzer kase—kase why, that was the best he could do.

"Mother, I've Come Home to Die," hasn't spoken to the old woman for years, and wouldn't go near the house. Besides, he is one of that class of spiritualists who don't believe they will ever die. His health was never better. His mother is nothing but a mother-in-law, and she is dead, anyhow.

There is the author of "Old Oaken Bucket," too; there wasn't a bucket on the whole farm, water being drawn with a tin-pail and a cistern pole.

"If I had but a thousand a year" stated privately to his friends that he would be perfectly contented with half that sum, as he was doing chores just for his board and three months' schooling in the winter.

The author of "Champagne Charley" never drank anything but ten-cent whiskey.

The man who wrote "Mary had a little lamb" knew very well it was nothing but a little lamb fry.

"Shells of Ocean" is a humbug. The plaintive poet, who represents himself as wandering, one summer's eve, with seabent thought, on a pensive shore, was raised in the interior of Pennsylvania, and never was ten miles away from home in all his life. "Gathered shells" did he? All the shells he ever gathered were some egg-shells back of his mother's kitchen.

"Hark. I hear the angels singing" spent all his evenings in a concert beer-saloon. Angels, indeed!

The man who wrote the "Song of the Shirt" hadn't a shirt to his back, wearing a wampus for the most part.

"Oft in the Stilly Night" used to get on a spree and make the stilly night howl till daybreak.

The author of "We met by chance" knew very well that it was all arranged beforehand. He had been weeks in contriving it, — and she admired his contrivance.

The author of "I know a bank," &c., didn't know one where he could get his note discounted. The only check he ever held was a white "check" on a farro bank. He never held a red check in all his life.

"What are the wild waves saying?" knew very well they were reproaching him for running away from Long Branch without paying his hotel bill.

"Who will care for mother now?"—Who, indeed! You took the old woman to the poor-house just before writing the song, and there is nobody but the poor-master to care for her now.

"Hear me, Norma," was deaf and dumb. He couldn't make his pa hear, nor ma.

"My mother dear" used to thrash the old woman within an inch of her life.

The author of "Rain on the roof" always slept in the basement, except when he slept out of doors.

"Let me kiss him for his mother" got mad because his mother wouldn't have him, and whipped her little boy within an inch of his life.

"I dreamt that I dwelt in marble halls," used to cheat at marbles when a boy, and his dream was a horrid nightmare, brought on by remorse at the recollection of fraudulent marble hauls.

"I'm saddest when I sing," was tickled to death if invited to.

"Happy be thy dreams," sold benzine whiskey. You can fancy what kind of "dreams" were produced.

LARIATING A LOCOMOTIVE.—The Sacramento Reporter says: It is currently reported that a new tribe of Indians has been discovered near Independence, on the line of the Central Pacific, who would not seem to be as well posted in regard to railroad matters as their redskin brethren of the plains. The other day a locomotive having passed by, to their bewilderment, they resolved to lay in wait or pursue and lariat the monster.

Accordingly they made a very strong lariat, and perceiving the mystery approaching, stretched it across the track, either end being held firmly by twenty or thirty of the would be captors. The engine came thundering along, the lariat was struck just below the headlight, and it is said that the Indians exhibited greater feats of ground and lofty tumbling than was ever seen in a first-class circus. If any doubt, we can produce a man who will "schwear" to the truth of the statement.

DYSPEPSIA AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being well once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can realize my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

FINE STOCK HORSE. — The Augusta "Maine Standard" says:—"We understand that the famous Stallion 'General Grant' has been sold to Mr. G. A. Smith, of West Amesbury, Mass., for the improvement of stock in that vicinity. He is said to be the best Stock Horse that has ever left the State. We trust the Massachusetts and other stock-raisers will avail themselves of the opportunity to get the Drew Stock, — a stock which we believe has produced more fast trotters and higher-priced horses than any other in this State."

—A New York paper remarks, "A person in this city advertises for a 'boy to work on cake.' As that is a kind of 'labor' always attractive to youth, the advertiser will not likely be heard complaining of lack of applicants."

TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT IN DOVER.—The Dover Gazette of April 30, says:—

As we judge from outside appearances, the temperance movement opened under such favorable auspices by the ladies of this city, has come to grief, "going up like a rocket and coming down like a stick." One hundred ladies, the flower of the city, and of the highest respectability, backed up by a pathetic appeal signed by one thousand of their sympathizing sisters, waited upon the dealers of Dover and besought them to cease the traffic. Not one promised to "shut down," and at last we have the report from "one of the committee" that they have waited on the pastors of the churches to urge them not to use fermented wine for communion—to circulate the pledge in their congregations and Sunday schools—winding up with the following resolution:

Resolved, That it is the duty of every lady who regards the interests of society to abstain entirely from the use of wine and all other infoxicating liquors in culinary operations.

This is the upshot of the whole matter, a result we did not anticipate at the start.

The fact is that the temperance men of this city have not the courage to beard the lion in his den, and were glad the ladies took the matter in hand. That the ladies have done all in their power no one will deny, but without the strong arm of the male portion of this community nothing can be done. It is all very fine to talk temperance after election, but before it they are mum. And why? They know full well that being the party in power, the moment they attempt to enforce the law a revolution will spring up in their own ranks that would endanger their whole political fabric and bring them to ruin. And because this party would run the risk of losing 400 or 560 votes in this city, is the one great reason why nothing can be done to stop the floodgates of intemperance that are deluging this quarter of the State. We are in no mood to follow this subject any farther at present, but unless the temperance men of Dover come up boldly to the assistance of their fair co-laborers with something stronger than moral suasion, we hope to hear no more temperance twaddle preached at the street corners.

We have seen some such talk in other papers in the State, (says Uncle Toby) and if we understand the Dover Gazette, in the article which we quote and abridge as above, it means just this:—

1. There is no use in talking temperance, unless you enforce the law;—as the flood-gates of intemperance refuse to be shut in answer to entreaty.

2. That all the temperance men in Dover belong to the party in power, i. e. the republican party.

3. That if these temperance men should earnestly attempt to enforce the law they would lose 400 or 560 votes in Dover. And 4thly,—That the Gazette wishes very much they would do so, and thereby enable the Democratic Party, joining with the 560 rum voters, to overturn the whole political fabric,"—and put the democratic party in power.

New Hampshire Items.

In Windham, on the 28th ult., as a gentleman named White was burning brush near his wood, the fire got beyond his control and spread over one hundred and fifty acres of woodland, entirely destroying 2,000 cords of hard wood, and doing other damage.

Elwyn Tisdale, formerly of Vermont, has been sent to the State Prison for stealing at Manchester: and Bliss Carrier alias Bliss Chandler, of Plymouth, a young man of 19 years, has gone to the State Prison for 4 years, for house breaking and stealing.

The largest income in Concord is that of Mr. Nathaniel White, which is $34,793, and the next is that of Governor Stearns, $21,274.

Professor Charles Hitchcock, State geologist, and a son of the late President Hitchcock of Amherst College, has been elected Hall Professor of Geology and Mineralogy in Dartmouth College.

The mayor and aldermen of Nashua met on Tuesday evening to take final action on the joint resolution authorizing a subscription of $200,000 to the capital stock of the Nashua and Rochester Railroad, and also authorizing a gratuity of $15,000 to aid in the extension of the Wilton road to Peterborough. A deep interest was felt in the result. The vote stood ayes 6, nays 4. Not the needful two-thirds!

☞ Woodbury Locke's gray mare Nellie Locke is entered for the purse of $4000 at Riverside Park, June 8th;—$2000 to first, $1000 to second, $600 to third and $400 to fourth. Nellie competes with the 2.30 goers, Empress, Fanny Allen, Star of the West, Lady Whitman, Emperor and Little Fred.

FLORICULTURE!—One of our lengthy citizens who travels much on railroads, has been residing at Washington during the sessions of Congress and at Portsmouth at other times, and whose appetite is always a good one, has a garden near the reservoir at the West End, which excels anything of the kind in New Hampshire. He has devoted it to the cultivation of sun flowers, and last year raised a stock 14 feet high, on which 49 ("there's luck in odd numbers!") blossoms opened to the god of day. This season he has had imported expressly for his sole use a package of seeds, from which he expects to raise a "crap" of sun flowers that will astonish the natives, and fill a two-bushel basket with its seeds. Success awaits the patient and persistent hero, we trust!

BASE BALL AGAIN.—There seems to be much doubt as to who are members of the Rockingham and Granite State clubs, the former organization being generally supposed to have expired in a natural way—of old age! The latter seems to have been recently reconstructed, and its former members are as doubtful as the new ones, of their identity. The contending nines in the coming match may as well hold the titles in abeyance, with the understanding that the victors may take their choice of the two names, leaving the vanquished to accept the other!

What is a Tonic?

Bear this in mind,—that although a tonic is, to a certain extent, a stimulant,—a stimulant, as modified by any medicinal substances, is not a tonic, but A DEBILITANT. In HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS there is a stimulating element of the purest grade manufactured in this or any other country. Every fiery and corrosive oil or acid which contaminates the ordinary liquors of commerce, is expelled from the pure spirit which forms the alcoholic basis of the BITTERS, by careful and repeated rectification. The juices of the valuable roots, barks and herbs, infused into this wholesome product of the finest grain, still further modify its nature; so that it becomes, in fact, a simple diffusive agent, minus all the heavy and brain exciting properties which belong, more or less, to all liquors in a raw state.

It is merely the safe and harmless vehicle which renders the medicinal virtues of the preparation effective,—increasing their active power, and diffusing them through the system. Hence the pleasant and gentle glow which is experienced after taking a dose of the BITTERS. Instead of creating headache, as unmedicated stimulants are apt to do, this salubrious tonic is the best known remedy for that complaint. It calms and soothe cerebral excitement, strengthens the nerves, promotes the secretion of the gastric juice, invigorates the bowels, determines the fluids to the surface, improves the appetite, increases the animal vigor, regulates organic action, and, from its mild yet effective alterative qualities, is the very best preparation that can be administered to the weaker sex in the peculiar difficulties to which their organization subjects them. my5

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "PAIN KILLER," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. And in the eternal ice of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, stiffness, lameness and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and from the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they shut up the whole digestive apparatus, shut up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. He removes the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, and the symptoms are, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to eat food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets healthy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the above medicines, and has enjoyed his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success. al

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 2 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. G. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1y ja4

COLLECTOR BAILEY.—A correspondent of the Dover Enquirer speaks of our newly-appointed Collector as "a wealthy and honest merchant of Portsmouth, who has not only the confidence of his brother merchants and business men, but has been an influential and untiring supporter of the Republican party. His influence will be felt at the capitol of the State next June, as Senator.

To which the editor adds,—"The writer does not mention the name of the new Collector, and we take the liberty (and do it with great pleasure,) to inform our readers that the merchant referred to is Hon. John H. Bailey, personally known to us and to hundreds of our readers, as the 'right man in the right place,' and we cordially and heartily endorse every word our correspondent has said in his favor, and can only add that he has not said half enough.

"Mr. B. has represented Portsmouth in the Legislature, has been Mayor of that city two terms, and was a delegate at large from this State to the Chicago Convention which nominated President Grant. We believe the Dover delegates supported him unanimously for the last position."

LES OISEAUX.—Early risers find themselves richly repaid by the free morning concerts of the birds, who, as if to tempt sluggards from their beds, pour forth sweetest melody between 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning. If "the early bird catches the worm," isn't the worm aforesaid tempted from his couch by the delicious music of his captor's voice?

Furthermore, are the innocent birds to blame for their persuasive action in the matter, or the worms censurable for their foolishness in being so easily tempted to risk life and limb (worms have limbs!) for the exquisite enjoyment obtained before the charmers ruthlessly go for them "on the fly?"

Certainly the worms are not much more lacking in wisdom than humans who invest many a half dollar in concerts which are ordinarily so much inferior to bird songs that a comparison between the two is almost sacrilege;—and these hundreds and thousands of half dollars might be saved by early rising, if for no other purpose than to furnish subsistence for whole families of worms!

A friend at our elbow suggests the enquiry as to whether the above is moralizing or demoralizing! He probably thinks that worms are not a necessary element in nature's economy.

NAVY YARD CHANGES.—We hear that Timothy Dame, Esq., of Eliot, Me., well known in this vicinity, has received an appointment as Clerk to the Naval Constructor, $1400 salary per annum, in place of Ichabod Cole, Esq., of the same town, who has held the position for nearly or quite 30 years. Mr. Dame is an active and zealous Republican, a former member of the legislature from York County. He has also occupied other prominent positions of trust, and is a thorough business man, well qualified to perform the duties of his new position.

Our neighbor of the Biddeford Journal will, no doubt, acknowledge that York County has a good appointment, and that not one of its citizens merit it more than Mr. Dame, whose staunch Republicanism has been worth many votes to the cause in the constantly recurring contests in his own Town and County. Our hearty congratulations to Mr. Dame on his success!

Mr. Richard H. Waldron, of this city, who for a year or more has been in charge of the Plumbers' Department in the Steam Engineering Bureau, has recently invented a Cook Stove, which he proposes to enter extensively into the manufacture of, and on Saturday resigned his position at the Yard. Mr. Oliver Fernald of Portsmouth is appointed to the vacancy.

☞ A session of the U. S. Circuit Court commenced in this city on Saturday, Judges Clifford and Clark being present. Jas. D. Butler, Esq., was admitted to the Bar. Alanson J. Shorey was held for trial on a charge of smuggling, and two indictments against him for offering to pass counterfeit money were quashed.

THE PORTSMOUTH CORNET BAND are engaged to play at the Peace Jubilee at Boston during the Festival in June.—They play also for the G. A. R.'s in this city May 29th, and the following day at Kittery, the respective Posts of both places having decided to decorate the soldiers' graves on those days.

☞ The Massachusetts House of Representatives has passed the bill to authorize the Roston & Lowell and the Eastern Railroad Companies to increase their terminal facilities in Boston.—This will be a public benefit, vastly more than a Railroad accommodation.

☞ Auctioneer Hackett sold the fine black horse from the Engineer's Department at Fort Constitution, on Saturday, to Mr. Marcellus Eldredge, for $270. The animal is a fine one for driving.

☞ We are informed that Rye Town Farm has been again sold by the Selectmen, to Mr. John Grover of this city, for $3,500,—which is less by $50 than it was bid off for, at the auction sale a week or two since.

THE LAST CHANCE to see the Hibernicon is offered to-night. The prices have been reduced and a change of programme will be made. See advertisement.

IS PORTSMOUTH INTERESTED? The Herald in discussing the subject of railroad extensions in connection with Newburyport, thus speaks of the Exeter Railway.—

Next, within two years, the railroad to Exeter, will be completed, connecting with us by the Salisbury Branch of the Eastern road. For that road this will be a terminus, and it will open to our enterprising merchants Rockingham and other New Hampshire counties from which we have been barred, because there was no means of reaching them. Exeter and Dover are now forty miles or more, away. We have to go to Haverhill and thence on the Boston & Maine, or to South Berwick, Me., and thence round in a circle to reach them; but by the new road we shall reach Kingston, Newmarket, Exeter, Epping, Dover and twenty other New Hampshire towns, by a direct route. Exeter, Newmarket and Epping will be as near to us as Bradford and Haverhill.

Newburyport will be as nature designed it to be, their natural seaport; and if we don't supply them with merchandise it will be the fault of our own traders; and if we do not see them in our streets, as we now see the people of West Newbury, or Hampton, or Amesbury, it will be because we allow the traders in Portsmouth, Haverhill and Boston to undersell us, of which there is no necessity. We must make it for the interest of those interior towns to trade here, at wholesale or retail, by selling to them cheaper than they can purchase elsewhere.

S. J. COURT, EXETER.—Judge Smith, presiding.—The verdict rendered by the jury in McQuestion and al. v. Randall was set aside by agreement of parties and the action marked for trial by the Court.

In the action Sylvanus Tuttle v. Alfred Hoit, to recover balance of account for hay sold, the jury returned a verdict for $1.00 over and above the $100 paid into Court by deft. Small and J. F. Wiggin for Plf., Hatch for Deft.

Town of Hampstead v. Town of Plaistow, Assumpsit to recover $216,47, amount expended by Plfs. for the support of one Cynthia A. Burrill, alias Willey and child, and for supplies furnished them as paupers, alleged to be chargeable to the Town of Plaistow. The action was tried at April Term, 1868, when the jury returned a verdict for Defts., which was set aside at the law term. The trial at this term resulted in a verdict for Plfs. for the amount claimed and interest. Hatch and C. U. Bell for Plfs., Small and Hills for Defts.

Rufus Dow v. Elizabeth B. Eaton and John M. Weare, Exe'rs of Moses Eaton, Jr. Action to recover upon an alleged contract whereby Plf. received twenty shares of stock of Weare Bank in payment of a debt of $2000, due him from said Eaton, which stock said Eaton guaranteed should be good in the hands of said Dow at the par value thereof, until the same could be sold by said Dow with the aid of said Eaton, but which stock as said Dow alleged, proved to be worth only twenty dollars a share. Some time after the death of Eaton, Dow brought this action against the Executors to recover the amount of his alleged loss. The jury after a consultation of fourteen hours returned a verdict for Defts. Hatch and J. F. Wiggin for Plf., Small and Stickney for Defts.

On Thursday, a jury was drawn for the trial of the action Daniel W. Ladd v. Jos. F. Wiggin, Adm'r of Mary F. Dudley. Hatch and Stickney for Plf., Small and J. F. Wiggin for Deft.

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE OFFICE SEEKING QUESTION.—There is a good deal of truth, well expressed, in the following extract from Mrs. Ames' Washington letter in the Independent:

If I were a man and could earn an honest living with my hands, I should certainly do it, instead of coming to Washington in search of an office. I'd rather eat the bread of spontaneous toil, though earned by sweat of brow and weariness of brain, than to grind it out as a machine in the government employ. Yet I see many faces to sympathize with in these lobbies, — honest country faces, careworn sickly ones, that really look as if they had a right to whatever they may have come to ask for. Of course, somebody has a right to the government patronage; perhaps those who come after it have as good a right as anybody. But it strikes me very oddly when I hear members of Congress and their wives speaking lofty and contemptuously of "office seekers," as if belonging to a totally different genus from themselves.

My opinion is that they are all office-seekers together; the difference being only in degree in the fatness of the offices they seek after. I don't know why it is not as honorable and as modest for a man to try to get a post office, a consulate or a clerkship, as for a man to spend half his fortune, and sell his soul perhaps in the bargain, to get to Congress. Looking down on this luxurious Senate chamber, on these black-coated, high-chokered gentlemen, spreading about so utterly at ease, it is difficult to realize that they are not to the Senate born, that they did not glide into these cushioned chairs by the graceful grooves of a natural birthright. But there is not a man here who has not worked hard, or hired other men to work hard, for this legislative chair—how hard many would not care to tell.

The heart burnings, the jealousies, the hates, the lavished fortunes, the bartered honor which bought some of those seats, their occupants would not dare to have known. There are men sitting here for whom thousands of other men have worked as for themselves to place them where they are. Before their triumph they did not feel at all demeaned to ask a poor man to vote for them; they deemed no man too lowly to work for them; they themselves "stumped," "canvassed," "electioneered," till they were hoarse and sick, and thought the office they wanted well worth the trouble. But the honor once won, it is so easy to forget the poor man in the shabby coat who voted for you; so easy to snub the poor man in the ante-room who ventures to stammer, "Sir, I worked for you; will you do what you can for me?" so grand to play the senator by waving your hand majestically toward a guarded door, and exclaiming in an awe inspiring voice, "I have no time to attend to you. My duties are in the Senate chamber." All this is so easy and so mean.

The Senate is the nation's guard of honor. If I were a man I would not stop short of being a senator myself; but, having gained that high estate, I hope that I should have grace to remember that it was the people quite as much as myself who had made me one; and when I complained to my wife that I was "almost bored to death by office-seekers," I hope she would reply, in a wife's most aggravating tones, "My dear, when you wanted an office, you dreadfully you bored other people." I have seen fearful taking on of airs of late on the feminine side of official life by women in themselves ordinary to the verge of stupidity, whom the people have elevated as so many dead weights appended to their husbands' honors. It would be amusing to see them avert their eyes and snuff their noses at "office seekers" and at "common people," if their new places did not give them the power to wound the feelings of strangers.

DOERS OF GOOD.—The annual meeting of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals was held in New York. Mr. Bergh was re-elected president. The receipts for the past year were $6,938 65 and there is a balance in the treasury of $14,222 92. It was stated that the society would come into possession of a fund of not far from $400,000 by various bequests. One gentleman on Long Island bequeaths the fabulous sum, considering the objects of the society, of $200,000. Mr. Bergh gives $100,000 payable after his death, and the rest is made up of legacies varying from $5000 to $20,000 each.

THEN!

We all within our graves shall sleep,
No living soul for us will weep,
A hundred years to come.
But other men our land will till,
And other men our streets will fill,
And other birds will sing as gay,
As bright the sunshine as to-day,
A hundred years to come.

—People in Newport, R. I., must be very inquisitive. A painter in that city, at work on a house, to save the necessity of answering questions, hangs out the following bulletin:

—Ike's last trick was to throw Mrs. Partington's old gaiter in the alley, and call the old lady from the third floor to see an alleygaiter.

A LYRIC OF LOW LIFE—BY "JIM."

The look she giv was cold and stern;
Her eyes looked pitchforks into mine,
And mine looked pizen into hern;

For we had loved in daze gone by;
Her daddy said that I might take her;
She got up and got a Dutch shoemaker.

No more girls for me if I knows it,
No more frauds my love to kim;
In the words of the poet, "Not for Joseph,"
And he might have added "Not for Jim!"

HOW TO COME DOWN STAIRS.—Here is a true story, too good to go unpublished. A young fellow, respectably connected and well known in B., used to get drunk very frequently. Shortly before Hotel was closed, he was one day as usual under the influence of benzine, and stumbled at the head of the stairs leading from the landing to the front door. Down he came, heels over head, bumping from step to step until he was landed in a rather promiscuous-looking heap. A stranger who was just entering the hotel, thinking the fellow had sustained serious, if not mortal injury, ran to pick him up, but the drunken man majestically waved him off, staggered to his feet, and in response to the proffered assistance roared out, "Now you jes lem'me 'lone. Want no slob-rin 'round me. I allus come down stairs that way." The stranger departed, ruminating.

A GIRL WHO WOULDN'T BE KISSED.—A few days since, while a train on the Kentucky Central Railroad was passing through the long tunnel nine miles from Cincinnati, a young man attempted to kiss a girl who sat in front of him, when she seized his hand and bit a large piece out of the back of it. A moment afterward, when the cars emerged from the dark passage, the young man was observed wrapping up his bleeding hand, and explained to his inquiring friends that the window had fallen upon it.

The Chronicle.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

LEWISTON, ME., May 6th.

Messrs. Editors:—As you seldom have a letter from this section of the country, I feel at liberty to write you a few lines relative to things here. The city is rapidly increasing in population as well as in wealth, numbering at present about twelve or thirteen thousand inhabitants. There are eight manufacturing corporations, as follows;—Bates, Androscoggin, Franklin, Little Androscoggin, Hills, Lincoln, Continental, and Fryes,—employing a force of about 4500. Bates College and the Main State Seminary, institutions well known throughout New England, are situated here, and at present are in a flourishing condition. They are presided over by Rev. O. B. Cheeney, and he still holds the students under the strictest discipline, as in the days of yore, when your correspondent was a tutor at the same institution. The graduating exercises this year will take place the last day of June, and preparations have been made to make the occasion one worthy the cause. Gilmore's Band has been engaged, and Dr. Fulton, of Boston, will deliver an oration. There are at present 50 students in the college, and 7 in the graduating class, including one lady, Miss M. W. Mitchell of Dover. The seminary has about 75 students.

There has been erected recently in Lewiston a very large brick school house, costing upwards of $40,000, which is a credit to the city and State; a Catholic church, considerably larger than the North church in your city, of brick, at a cost of about $60,000. It is not yet completed. Also, a new Congregational church of brick, which cost about the same as the Catholic. The city, I judge, is a very moral one, from the fact that having been here two weeks I have not seen an intoxicated man, or one that was anyways under the influence of liquor. Having become thirsty a few days since, I stepped into a saloon and called for a glass of ale, but the occupant became indignant and told me that I couldn't get such a thing in this city. Perhaps she thought I was the State constable.

The weather here is very unpropitious, and the season is very backward. Sunday last, snow fell here to the depth of one or two inches. Vegetation is battling bravely with the inclement spring, and many an aspiring Jordan-lily is trying to push its way through the numerous snow banks. H.

New Hampshire Items.

Mr. Geo. E. Heath, of Londonderry, raised on his farm last season, one bushel and three quarts of Surprise Oats, from one pint of seed. This is a new variety, that promises to be very productive and weigh more per bushel than any other kind. Horses take to the Surprise kindly.

Messrs. H. H. Amsden & Son at Fisherville consume at their furniture factory three million feet of lumber yearly.

At North Conway there are twenty-eight boarding houses and hotels. Two thousand persons can be accommodated in them.—Mr. Jacob H. Berry had a hand badly sawed in a shingle machine, recently.—A million feet of lumber is waiting to be slipped through the Conway mill dam into the Saco river.

On the 1st, Mrs. Jacob Horn of Wolfeborough fell upon the floor of her dwelling house and broke her thigh. She is aged ninety-eight years.

The Dover Enquirer nominates Samuel M. Wheeler of that city for the Speakership of the House.

The new Methodist church in Keene is nearly completed. It is of brick and is said to be a very fine structure. Its cost is nearly $80,000.

Rev. S. S. N. Greeley, of Oswego, N. Y., son of Stephen L. Greeley, Esq., of Gilmanton, has been invited to settle in Chicago, at a salary of $6,000.

In Dover, the Ladies' appeal to the grocers appears to have produced some effect. The Enquirer says:—Four dealers in intoxicating liquors who had applied to the Assessor for licenses have informed him they shall not want them as they have concluded to abandon the business.

A Manchester man has been fined $10 for allowing minors to play billiards at his tables in violation of an ordinance to the contrary.

DYSPEPSIA AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I felt relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being well once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can realize, but my who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

Miss Adelaide Phillips is to sail for Paris in July to fulfil a two years' engagement with the Italian opera in that city.

Hudson City, N. J., had a riot between Englishmen and Irishmen, Saturday evening, caused by the refusal of a rum-seller to give liquor to the Irishmen. Several of the rioters were injured.

Col. Forney says that during his trip South he found ex-rebel soldiers among the most loyal of men.

It is said that the President is about to make a declaration favoring the annexation of the Island of St. Domingo, and that President Baeg of the St. Domingo Republic will then recognize Cuban belligerency. As the Island of St. Domingo is but a few hours' sail from Eastern Cuba, where the insurrection is the strongest, it would give the insurgents a strong foot-hold from which to ship munitions of war and commit depredations upon the Spanish commerce with small vessels, which could run out and in the harbors at pleasure.

It is reported that several vessels carrying arms for the Cubans have left New York, Philadelphia and other places, and that three of them have safely arrived in Cuba.

New gold diggings have been discovered in the Goose Creek Mountains in Idaho.

California Rejoiceth.—A telegram on Saturday states that the Pacific Railroad celebration was one to be remembered for all time in San Francisco. The day was ushered in by a salute of 100 guns. All the federal forts in the harbor fired salutes, the city bells were rung and the steam whistles blown. At night the whole city was illuminated and presented a brilliant appearance. The procession was the largest and most enthusiastic ever witnessed in San Francisco. The people were eager and willing to observe an event of so much importance to the city and the Pacific coast, and turned out en masse. Business was generally suspended. The military and civic display was imposing. In addition to the State militia, all the available United States troops participated, while the civic societies turned out with full ranks. The city and harbor presented a magnificent sight. During the day the principal buildings were festooned with the banners of every nation, and the streets were thronged with an excited and joyous people. The shipping was dressed in fine style. The despatch from the junction of the road at 1 o'clock, announcing the driving of the last spike of the Central Pacific road, sent a thrill through the entire city.

At Sacramento the event was celebrated in an enthusiastic manner. The city was crowded with a multitude of people from all parts of the State and Nevada. The lines of travel to and from Sacramento were thrown open to the public free, and an immense number of people took advantage of the circumstance to ride. The Central Pacific Company had thirty locomotives gaily decked, and as the signal gun was fired announcing the driving of the last spike of the road, the locomotives opened a chorus of whistles which was participated in by all the bells and steam whistles of the city.

Dispatches from Promontory Point say that several hundred men had seized the train at Piedmont on which was Vice President Durant, telling him they were hungry and must have their money, and that they would detain him until it was forthcoming.

Communication.

The Spirits.—Messrs. Editors:—In a recent issue of your paper, I noticed a letter from Boston, in which the writer gives some account of the wonderful manifestations witnessed by him thro' the Davenport Brothers, at the Music Hall in B. There was one thing in the communication that struck me as being unusual; that the writer, while being very careful to inform his readers that he is not a believer in "spirit manifestations," at the same time, acknowledges himself to be a "fool!"

Sceptics have so long insisted that all Spiritualists were either "fools or humbugs," that we never for once entertained the idea of their turning round and calling themselves "fools." Your correspondent says, allowing these things to be done by disembodied spirits, ("Cui bono?") "what is the good coming from it?" Does he ask what is the good for man to be convinced that he is immortal? Does not M. (Marston?) [Not any, thank you! o.] know, that there are many people who as yet have never seen any evidence that man is immortal? And if one of these people whom the church has failed to convince for the very reason that she has not the evidence to give, should become convinced, by these manifestations, of man's immortality, will he question the utility of these manifestations? Let M. become convinced that disembodied spirits do these things, and we do not think he will be in any danger of becoming a convert to the soul sleeping doctrines of the "Advents," or the "eternal torment of the wicked," taught by the "Orthodox."

It seems to trouble M. very much that the Davenport mediums are so successful in a pecuniary point of view.—I find these sceptical people are very hard to be suited. If a manifestation is done in the dark, they want it performed in the light; if in the light, they want it in the dark; if the medium is tied, they want him untied; if he is untied, they want him tied. If a musical medium plays music they never heard, they want something they have heard, and if they get something they have heard, they want something they nor anybody else ever heard. If a medium heals by "laying on of hands" they say "it is the devil," and if the medium does not succeed, they insist "it is the devil, sure." These are some of the vagaries indulged in by our sceptical friends, and might be given to almost any extent, but a few must suffice. That the Davenports are successful in pecuniary matters, we think they owe only to themselves, and their angel friends who have sustained them through all their trials and wanderings, with the assurance that truth, however long it might be in making its way to the minds of men, would surely be received at last.

The opposers of the truth very often find to their cost, that the very means they employ to keep it from being heard produce results exactly opposite from what they intended. Witness the result of the trial of Mumler in New York for "photographing spirits." Better have let Mumler and his camera alone. We think Mayor Hall has learned a lesson he will not very soon forget. Probably there are many persons who never before heard of Mumler or his "spirit pictures," who will be led by the result of this trial to investigate the matter, and by their investigations will be convinced of its reality. We hope your correspondent M. will continue to visit spiritual seances, and he, probably, will become convinced that spiritualists are not fools or lunatics, neither is Spiritualism a humbug; but that the terms "fools and lunatics" are much more appropriate to those persons who, while professing to believe in the spirit manifestations said to have taken place nearly two thousand years ago, deny the evidence of their own senses in relation to the spirit manifestations of this, the nineteenth century. D. P. T.

North Hampton, May 8, 1869.

Base Ball.—Two games have been played at Hong Kong, China, between the nines of the officers and crew of the U. S. S. Piscataqua, and nines chosen from the officers and crew of the British Ship Princess Charlotte and from the English China fleet in general—all the English players being cricketers. The Piscataqua beat the Charlottes 38 to 16 in 7 innings, and were again victorious over the nine chosen from the English fleet, 66 to 28 in 8 innings.

The celebrated Cincinnati Club are to make a tour through the East in June, and are to play the Lowells of Boston, June 12th, Tri-Mountains, June 14th, and Harvards, June 15th.

The Lowells got caught napping by the Fairmounts of Marlboro', Mass., on Saturday, and were beaten after an exciting game of ten innings, 23 to 21—there being a tie on the ninth.—21 each. The Lowells were whitewashed twice.

Good for President Grant.—The wife of a late major-general of the United States army called on President Grant lately, and stated the facts of a claim for considerable back pay, which she has long been vainly pressing before Congress, and disclosed to him such circumstances of merit and destitution as induced the President (whose friend, when he needed friends, the general had been,) at once to relieve her present wants out of his own pocket; to promise her that she shall be made postmistress at a southern military post, and to appoint her son to a cadetship at West Point. At the same time the President pronounced her claim a just one; would see that Congress allowed it, and told her that she should have come at once to him instead of trying to get it through Congress herself.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Facts for the Ladies.—Over 1200 Vests with One Needle. It will be ten years next March since I purchased a Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine, which I have used ever since in vest making. In that time I have made more than 3500 vests, and have done all my family sewing beside. I have used the needle now in the machine for nearly four years, and made with it over 1200 vests.

What is a Tonic?

Bear this in mind,—that although a tonic is, to a certain extent, a stimulant,—a stimulant, unmodified by any medicinal substances, is not a tonic, but A DEBILITANT. In HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS there is a stimulating element of the purest grade manufactured in this or any other country. Every fiery and corrosive oil or acid which contaminates the ordinary liquors of commerce is expelled from the spirit which forms the alcoholic basis of the BITTERS, by careful and repeated rectification. The juices of the valuable roots, barks and herbs, infused into this wholesome product of the finest grain, still further modify its nature; so that it becomes, in fact, a simple diffusive agent, minus all the heavy and brain exciting properties which belong, more or less, to all liquors in a raw state.

It is merely the safe and harmless vehicle which renders the medicinal virtues of the preparation effective,—increasing their active power, and diffusing them through the system. Hence the pleasant gentle glow which is experienced after taking a dose of the BITTERS. Instead of creating headache, as unmedicated stimulants are apt to do, this salubrious tonic is the best known remedy for that complaint. It calms and soothes cerebral excitement, strengthens the nerves, promotes the secretion of the gastric juice, invigorates the bowels, determines the fluids to the surface, improves the appetite, increases the animal vigor, regulates organic action, and, from its mild yet effective alterative qualities, is the very best preparation that can be administered to the weaker sex in the peculiar difficulties to which their organization subjects them. my5

IN THE SPRING MONTHS the system naturally undergoes a change, and Helmbold's Highly Concentrated Extract of Sarsaparilla is an assistant of the greatest value. a12 2m

Holloway's Pills.—Virulent Eruptions.—Boils, Pustules, and in fact all diseases of the skin that are not the results of infection, proceed from a bad state of the blood. Imperfect digestion produces vitiated blood and unhealthy bile, consequently the stomach is responsible for most of the diseases of the skin. Therefore, attack complaints of this nature at their fountain head by toning and purifying the digestion and discharging organs with that most apposite, alterative and purgative medicine—Holloway's Pills. Sold by all Druggists. my5

HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA

Eradicates Eruptive and Ulcerative Diseases of the
THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect SAFETY.

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, of the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he says: what is a remedy is tonic to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "Pain Killer," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

☞ Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Call for Perry Davis' Vegetable "Pain Killer," and take none other. ☞ Sold by all druggists and grocers. a18

Brandreth's Pills vs. Bleeding.

Bleeding may give ease, because the blood lef has more room; but the ease does not last, and is followed by permanent weakness.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS relieve the circulation and give ease more surely and almost as quickly as bleeding; but Brandreth's Pills never hurt, and the good they do is permanent, because they take only what the body and blood are better without. Purgation with these pills will be found

A Universal Curative Principle.

Let the wise examine its claims to their confidence. Mrs. Hooker, of Barnstable, Mass., was cured by them of St. Vitus' Dance of fifteen years standing. Children's Lives Saved for 50 Cents.

Thousands of children die annually of Croup.—Now, mothers, if you would spend 50 cents, and always have a bottle of Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment in the house, you need never fear losing your little one when attacked with this complaint. It is now 21 years since I put up my Liniment, and I never heard of a child dying with Croup when my Liniment was used; but hundreds of cases of cures have been reported to me, and many state if it was $10 per bottle they would not be without it. Besides which, it is a certain cure for Cuts, Burns, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throats, Colic, Swellings, Mumps, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Spasms, Old Sores, and Pains in the back and chest. No one once tries it who is ever without it. It is warranted perfectly safe to take internally. Full Directions with every bottle. Sold by the Druggists. Depot 10 Park Place, New York. a20

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relaxe the liver and put it to work; then the system becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a healthy cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relaxe the ducts of the gall bladder, make the secretions flow, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food, which is the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they forsake the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. He removes the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Dull Pain, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either ulcerated lungs, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying, in such cases what can the poor do? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of the food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets healthy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 88 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

MEMORIAL DAY.—The Committee of Storer Encampment, Post No. 1, G. A. R., in deference to the feelings of many citizens, have decided to observe the ceremonies of Memorial Day on Saturday, 29 inst., instead of Sunday. They cordially invite the citizens to co-operate with them and join the procession upon that occasion. They entertain the hope that all will respond to this invitation, and indicate by their presence, a faith in the success of the principles for which our departed heroes so freely shed their blood. Per order of Committee.

☞ In the U. S. Circuit Court on Monday, Wm. Richards of Salem was fined $10 and sentenced to be confined 60 days in the Concord jail for selling liquor without a license.

—On the 27th of last month, a small steamer, the White Fawn, left the harbor of Portsmouth for the coast of Maine, having on board the captain, the pilot, and two strangers who had engaged passage. She has never been heard from since; and circumstances induce the belief that the strangers have made way with the captain and pilot, for the purpose of stealing the vessel.—Exeter News Letter.

A yarn that would do for the marines,—but there never was plausibility, probability or reason in the story; and it would seem that the News Letter ought to know better than to copy any of the sensation trash of the authors.

☞ We are pleased to see visiting in the city, Mr. Charles Tappan of Boston, who sixty-three years ago, commenced business in this city, as a publisher and bookseller. He is yet hale and hearty, and has, we are informed, lately returned from the South, when he had an appointment under the American Missionary Association, to teach the freedmen.

PORTSMOUTH BOARD OF TRADE.—The regular Monthly Meeting of the Portsmouth Board of Trade will be held at the Common Council Room, this Tuesday Evening, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Rider, the Newmarket Foundry man, has been invited to be present;—and every member of the Board should be in attendance to meet him.

☞ Captain Bob Shillaber, the Poundkeeper, is after the stray Cows, these days. And well he may be—for eight cattle in one man's front yard, on South Road, within an hour or two of a Sunday afternoon, is rather too grievous a nuisance to be borne, even if they didn't break down cherry and other choice trees.

☞ We shall publish to-morrow an account of the results of the labors of the faithful Teachers sent out by the Unitarian Society of this city to instruct the Freedmen in North Carolina, which formed the basis of a very interesting address by Rev. Jas. DeNormandie on Sunday.

☞ Brigham Young has decided that "damn" isn't swearing—in Utah, and Judge Odell of this city, who doesn't believe in a plurality of wives, agrees in construing the law as Brigham does.

☞ In a drive of 25 miles to the west from this city, May 1, more ploughed land than usual on that date, was observed by an old farmer.

☞ Our readers will find no difficulty in locating the characters of the story commenced on our 4th page this morning.

NOT SO.—The Boston Advertiser of Monday has this item:—

—The Manchester Daily Mirror has suspended publication.

Not by a long chalk. The Mirror still lives, and seems likely to reflect faces and things for years to come. It is the Daily News that has disappeared from Manchester. It was a readable paper, but a third daily there, was a surplus supply, without adequate demand.

MY CHIEF BAKER.

BY MRS. J. L. PATTERSON.

Up and down the streets of the city his bells of warning jingled, and often his voice rang out clear above the noise of the bells. Beautiful women left the shady nooks where they sat fanning themselves, and ran out to buy tea-cakes, forgetting, when they heard the jingle of his bells, that the mercury stood at eighty, and a little exertion might cause the least possible discomfort. At every door he was welcome, not because his bread and cakes were better than anybody else could manufacture, but because there was always a smile on his face which left a ray of sunshine in the hearts of those who looked upon him.

I wish I could describe the man. He was tall—six feet I think,—and his head had one of those open, sunny faces, whose blue eyes seem to be deep wells of innocence and sweet temper. His hair was lighter than brown, almost a golden shade, and curly withal. But the charm of the man was not in any special feature, but in that fortunate blending of traits which looked through his face, and lit it continually with a happy and joyous smile.

Now, for the most part, I myself prefer home-made bread. But when the bells of George Wildes jingled through the streets of this staid old city, I learned to watch for him with the rest, and run out with a clean plate and some pennies. And he was very polite and gracious to me, because it was his way to be so; and I, who am a little cold in manner, could not help being gracious to him; and all that happy summer we ate baker's bread and cakes, just because it was pleasant to see a pleasant face. If he had a new kind of crackers or buns, he brought me a specimen, and I, in turn, gave him plates of cherries and knots of flowers. Nearly always he had a rosebud or pink in his cap, for others gave to him as well as I, and I suppose sometimes they were mine that he wore.

Across the corner of State street is a church, and George Wildes sung tenor in the choir. On Saturday nights they met for rehearsal; and, as the window of my chamber opened toward the church, many a time my week-day weariness has been charmed away as I lay and listened to the clear ringing tones of my baker; and often my senses have slipped into slumber, and my soul into dreams of angelic singing, before George Wildes' voice died away at the Saturday night rehearsal.

After awhile I grew sufficiently fearless of the five points of Calvinism to cross over the dividing corner and sit down unobserved in a pew, and listen to that one voice above the others in the gallery. How long I might have continued this habit I knew not, had the sexton been as pleasant as the singer. But he grew out of patience with me, and one night told me he wanted to lock the church, and if I wanted to hear the singing I must go into the gallery. This of course I could not do in a strange church, and among singers who were all strangers but my baker; so I made a very stately sweep out of the door and down the steps, and afterwards contented myself with listening from my chamber window.

On this special night, however, I walked away, out of hearing. I suppose I was somewhat vexed. To be sure it was nothing wrong for the old sexton to lock the church and go home when his duties were done, and perhaps I had no reason to be vexed, but I felt like going fast, and some little distance, so I climbed the hill to the Catholic Church which had a famous leading singer, and leaned over the fence and listened: and very soon my vexation slipped away, and wonder took its place. Not wonder at the singer, though she had a marvellous volume of voice, and sang like a nightingale,—but I will tell you how it was.

When I came up in the summer dusk and leaned over the fence, little children were playing on the green by the church door. I suppose they were Catholic children. Presently they stopped playing, and looked at me rather suspiciously, or, perhaps I should say, fearfully. Then, one after another, they crept away, going as far as possible from me in their endeavors to reach the street, and when they had reached it they ran, very nimbly I thought. I forgot the singing, and began to wonder what there was about me to frighten little children. I looked on myself. It was a warm summer night, and my dress of muslin appeared altogether white in the shadows. Then I had thrown one end of my "cloud" over my head, and it fell about me like a vail of mist almost reaching the ground.

As I surveyed my own figure, I came to the conclusion that I was taken for a ghost by the children; and when I remembered my vexation at the old sexton, I wished he had thought so too; then I could have listened to George Wildes' voice, which was a thousand times sweeter than Margery Murphy's, if not so strong. As it was, I ran home. In passing the Calvinist church I heard a strain or two, and then hurried in, and shut my chamber window. I wanted to think myself to sleep without any outside lulling helps that night. I felt a little wicked, and to-morrow would be Sunday.

Concluded To-morrow.

—To an energetic man in our country it is but necessary to deserve success and it will surely follow. Honorable dealings, industrious application and unswerving perseverance, succeed in building up colossal fortunes, more honorable to their possessors than all hereditary titles of a duke or peer. The one golden rule is that so facetiously given by Charles Lamb: You'll get fat on a rock if you'll stick to it—a muscle does."

Mr. A. Wallace of Epsom has a good cow. From the milk of four days and a half, nine milkings, he made 10 pounds and one ounce of butter—which is equal to 15 1-2 lbs. a week. The quantity of milk averages about eight or nine quarts at a milking. The cow is a Devon, 10 years old.

THE DOORKEEPER of the Davenport Brothers has been sent to the Insane Asylum at Taunton. On being sent off he threatened Boston with an earthquake that would shake it all to pieces. He had conceived the idea that the whole establishment, Davenports and all, belonged to him, and he proposed to run it until he had raised ten millions of dollars, which he declared his intention of devoting to the publication of forty-eight thousand pages of manuscript, which he had been ordered to write on the subject of the birth of Christ, whose near kin he was.—Charlestown Advertiser.

HOW STUPID to walk the street with an umbrella or cane under your arm the point sticking out for every one to run their face into.

How stupid for three ladies to walk abreast, and move so slow that people in a hurry must either go between them or get into the gutter.

How stupid to think that people's opinion of you increases in proportion to the cost of your clothes.

The Chronicle.

THE WAR IN PARAGUAY.—The statements contained in the following communication rest partly on the authority of documents which fell into the hands of the allies after the flight of Lopez, and partly on the testimony of Dr. Stewart, an English physician, for thirty years a resident of Paraguay, and a surgeon in Lopez's army. He was taken prisoner at the capture of Humaita. They are also contained in private letters from Colonel Sarmiento, President of the Argentine Republic, and in an official despatch by Mr. Lidgerwood, acting charge d'affaires at Rio.

Among the acts of Lopez, as appears by a book of orders found at Cumbarity, and dated San Fernando, 430 "accused traitors," natives and foreigners, whose names are given, were executed "by supreme command" between June 17 and December 14, 1868; 172 died in prison or in irons; of 190 taken from prison to work in the trenches, 71 were "killed;" of the 698 whose fate is here recorded only 8 were set at liberty. According to Dr. Stewart these names do not by any means cover the numbers who have perished by Lopez's orders or cruelties. Of the 600,000 inhabitants of Paraguay, he says only about 80,000 are left, of whom 40,000 are women and children, families of the best educated class; 180,000 males have perished. He also says "the people hate Lopez, and since the middle of 1866 the whole population has had but one wish about the struggle—that the allies or some other power should rid them of their destroyer."

Colonel Sarmiento writes:—"The women were driven into the country under an armed guard to attend to agriculture, for which the words 'to get their living' were afterwards substituted in the order. Lopez has killed all his prisoners either by execution, starvation or torture; among these were his own cabinet ministers, the bishop of Asuncion (tortured and then murdered,) the wives of all whom he could not capture; foreign, native and Argentine merchants, and the husbands of two of his sisters. The details of these acts and the manner of execution make one shudder with horror. He sent for his sisters to come to his camp, and after having instructed them what to say, the husbands were called in. 'Do you know this man?' asked Lopez of one of his sisters. 'No, I do not know him.' The drama concluded by the husbands being shot in the presence of their wives!"

An explanation of the patriotic devotion of the Paraguayans to Lopez, concerning which so much has been said, is found in an order dated in 1866, by which it appears that "for every deserter, the two soldiers next him in the ranks received fifty lashes, the captain forty, and the sergeant fifty, and their wives and mothers were shot!"

On the 13th of March Colonel Sarmiento writes:—"The allied army, 20,000 strong, is marching to the Cordilleras to unearth Lopez, who has, in his turn, collected every living man,—boys, old men, invalids, wounded; he is short of arms, but will still resist, for he is fighting now for his own life, without regard to the country which he has desolated, and the people he is exterminating. Every one who comes near him is disarmed; one man who retained a knife about his person in his presence was immediately shot. The female prisoners, as well as the male captives among whom they were, were kept for months without change of clothing, and tied to stakes in the open air without shelter of any kind; if they asked for a change of position, violent blows given with the flat of a sword were the only answer they received.

The suspicions of Lopez that there was a conspiracy against his life, are thought to have been fetched by him to excuse his wholesale butcheries. "The moral fear of a torture which no man can withstand," says Dr. Stewart, forced all the accused to confess to a participation in atrocious crimes, which confessions were recorded for the purpose of publication in foreign parts." Such also is the testimony of Messrs. Bliss and Masterman. They thus account for their false confessions and their accusations against Mr. Washburne, who told them on parting to say anything they pleased about him that would save their own lives, adding that no one would believe it out of Paraguay. All these gentlemen concur in testifying that they never heard of any conspiracy, but from Lopez himself. When her Britannic Majesty's steamer Cracker went to take from Paraguay whatever British subjects might wish to leave, the acceptance of the proposition by any of them would have subjected them to torture.

No dispatches have been received from Mr. MacMahon, our present minister to Paraguay, since last December, and Mr. Lidgerwood suggests that probably his actions are as much circumscribed by Lopez as were those of Mr. Washburne.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR!
FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.
The Great Desideratum of the Age.
A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy and effectual for preserving the Hair.
Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth.
Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application.
Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous.
Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness.
Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a
HAIR DRESSING,
nothing else can be found so desirable.
Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine seemed to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being well once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 11, 1869.

The News.

The last rail of the Pacific Railroad was laid on Monday at noon—3.11 P. M., Boston time. The junction was made 690 miles east of Sacramento and 1086 miles from the Missouri River. The telegraph lines all over the country were open, and a message from Omaha to New York, 2100 miles, announced the completion of the work. The event was widely celebrated.

Cold weather has injured growing cotton in South Carolina.

The New York legislature has adjourned, after passing a law granting licenses for the sale of ale and beer, for $10.

The burning of the Murray Silk Mills, at Patterson, New Jersey, on Monday, caused a loss of a quarter of a million of dollars.

Lady Thorne won the race with American Girl in New York on Monday.

A New York actress accidentally stabbed herself while on the stage at a theatre in that city, Monday evening.—Her acting was too natural, and the "dajjer" penetrated to a rib. The rib broke off the point of the weapon.

The condition of affairs in Cuba, and the manner in which the American residents are treated by the Sprnish authorities, is such that our Navy Department has decided to send two more war vessels to Admiral Hoff. The Galena, which is at Norfolk Navy Yard, will leave in a very few days, having received her outfit; and the Seminole, now at Hampton Roads, will follow soon after.

The Merrimack River: Its source and its Tributaries. Embracing a history of Manufactures and of the Towns along its course, their Geography, Topography and Products, with a description of the magnificent natural scenery about its Upper waters. By J. W. Meader.—We have received advanced sheets of this work, showing it to be interesting and valuable. It will contain 300 pages, octavo, substantially bound in muslin and sold by subscription at $2.50 per copy. Ready in June. B. B. Russell, is the publisher, at 55 Cornhill, Boston.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

RYE, May 10.

The summer term of the South School commenced on Monday last, and is taught by Miss Annie D. Jenness of this town. The West commences to-day, and is to be taught by Miss Marston of North Hampton. At the Centre, the term begins next Monday, and Miss Clark of Rye will teach. Have not learned when the East school begins, or who is to be its teacher.

The riding yesterday, towards the beach, was suggestive of the fact that the "summer season" will soon be here, and as far as riding is concerned it would seem that it will commence earlier than usual,—and from present appearances it would seem that some of our friends at the beach will have to "push things" to get ready in season for the first comers.

The last dance probably of the season came off at T. B. Philbrick's on Tuesday evening last. The next series commences in July, and will undoubtedly be participated in by a different company altogether.

Farmers will plant their corn this week if the weather is favorable. The vane on the Orthodox church has pointed southeast about every day for six weeks past, and fires and overcoats are about as much in request now as during the winter. R.

STRATHAM ITEMS.—Mr. Charles N. Healey a wealthy, wide awake farmer, has purchased of John Dimon, of Pomfert, Conn., his Ayrshire bull Duke of Queensburg, No 160, (A. H. B.) The Duke is pronounced by good judges, says the New England Farmer, to be as good an animal of his age as any in New England. Mr. H. is the owner of one of the largest and best cultivated farms in Rockingham county, and has taken great pains to stock his farm with some of the best Ayrshire cattle in the country, and has undoubtedly the best herd of Ayrshires in the state.

Our enterprising Exeter butcher Mr. John Smart, who kills many good beeves, offered Mr. John Ayers for his oxen, which obtained the first premium at the Portsmouth county fair, and also at the N. H. State fair, $375, or $14 per hundred dressed weight, which was refused. Mr. Ayers has since sold them to D. A. Philbrick of Hampton—price $400.—Exeter News Letter.

The vigilance committee of Bryan, Wyoming Territory called upon a desperate character a short time since and gave him fifteen minutes to leave town. He mounted his mule and said "Gentlemen, if this d——d mule don't balk, I don't want but five."

New Hampshire Items.

In Northfield, Mrs. Caroline G. Clark, widow of Joseph C. Clark, carried on her little farm last year, after the ground had been ploughed. She planted, hoed and harvested ten bushels corn, thirteen bushels potatoes, and cut, cured and got into the barn three tons hay. During the berry season she picked twenty dollars worth of berries, and during the fall and winter, sawed seven cords of wood. She has made within a year fifteen pairs of pant. Meantime she has tenderly cared for an aged mother eighty-two years old, done her housework and been a model of neatness.

A little boy at Lake Village, last week, got on a plank at the edge of Round Bay; the wind and current carried away the plank and boy, nearly across the bay, and at the end of two hours he was taken off, thoroughly chilled, into a boat which put off after him.

John Gray, an Irish convict for manslaughter, died in the State Prison, last Saturday;—and Geo. Seavey, another convict, lost a thumb there the same day, in a planing machine.

A large new iron foundry is being erected at "Sunapee Harbor." The buildings, which are nearly completed, will be devoted mainly to stove casting.

A few days since a Dover teamster was driving through a back yard when his horse began to settle very suddenly. The covering of a reservoir into which a drain emptied had given way. The horse was fished out from his dirty situation.

The favorite Pavillion Hotel at Wolfeborough is still to be conducted by Mr. A. L. Howe this season—which is equivalent to saying that it will be well kept. The usual time of opening is June 20th.

The Claremont Eagle of the 8th says positively the last snow of the season came on last Sunday. About two inches of snow and hail covered the ground. A gentleman at the Tremont drove out in his sleigh. He took his first sleighride in October and has been out every month since. We learn from the farmers, that the ground is in unusually good order for spring work.

The lumber yard of Messrs. Eaton & Ayers, at Nashua, was slightly damaged by fire on Saturday night last.

The 150th anniversary of the settlement of Londonderry, will be celebrated June 10. Ex-Lieut. Governor Geo. W. Patterson of New York will be President of the Day, and Hon. E. H. Derby of Boston will be one of the Vice-Presidents. The address will be delivered by Hon. Charles H Bell of Exeter, President of the New Hampshire Historical Society.

THE MAINE CONFERENCE of the M. E. Church closed its 45th session at Portland on Monday. Among the appointments for the ensuing year were Rev. E. K. Colby for York; Rev. H. Chase, Kittery; Rev. W. H. H. Pillsbury, Navy Yard Village; and Rev. O. M. Cousins, Eliot. South Eliot is to be supplied by Rev. A. Cook.

A FEMALE HERMIT.—The New York Evangelist prints a letter from a woman in New England who lives among the mountains, in a little cottage, with no living companion save a cat. She is not a hater of mankind or womankind, but a lady of education, attracted to this lonely life by intense love of nature and a desire for independence. She has an acre of ground, which she cultivates with her own hands, planting peas and potatoes as well as flowers, making her living out of mother earth, whereby she secures to herself health, comfort, and above all, independence. She writes persuasively to the dwellers in cities to follow her example. She says that during the past year she has proved to her satisfaction that every well woman may make a good and comfortable living by tilling the earth.—One acre well cared for will (except in case of rare calamity) produce more than enough to feed a family for a year; but an additional quantity will be needed to raise things to exchange for fuel, clothing and other necessities. She remarks:—

"Were I two poor women, instead of 'working out,' for any human employer, I would hire four or five acres of land, and work out under the sun, and should certainly be much more independent, prosperous and happy. As I'm but one woman, lame and very busy, all I can hope to do is to raise my own vegetables and strawberries, and I must content myself with trying to coax others to 'come out' to country work and life and home comfort.

The Brooklyn Monthly for May, has engravings of the proposed bridge over the East River, connecting New York City and Brooklyn, with a descriptive article.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states *that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that a remedial agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.

Such a remedial agent exists in the "PAIN KILLER," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar region, or beneath the burning sun of the tropics, its virtues are known and appreciated. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of cold, coughs, bowel complaints, cholera, dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of cuts, burns, bruises, sores, sprains, sting of insects, and other causes of suffering, has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, naturally throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has not and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relaxe the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this medicine is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into fine blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they try to stop the cough, they try to dry the lungs, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, if the stomach, liver, and lungs are not all cured. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets flesh and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the above named medicines, since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1y|a4

☞ The spleeny organ, which essays to become the juvenile champion, and whose editor is very anxious to be considered a "nice boy" who wouldn't hurt anybody's feelings, is terribly exercised over our squibs about the defunct and non-defunct Base Ball Clubs of this city, and positively insists on turning pleasantry into a warfare of words—its base (ball) editor preferring to be considered too thick headed to understand anything except it be labelled "This is not to be taken literally." LA RUE'S MINSTRELS give one of their entertainments, Thursday evening, at the Temple. On Monday they were at Portland, drew a full house at Deering Hall, and were to give a second performance on the following evening.—The Advertiser of Tuesday says that their music was good and the conundrums new, which may be considered marvellous in these days of stale jokes. The auditors were highly amused, and manifested their approval by hearty applause.

WOODEN WEDDING.—Maj. Frank E. Goodwin, of the firm of Goodwin, Sweetser & Co., celebrated the fifth anniversary of his wedding on Monday evening, and among other presents received a handsome Bible, in which was enclosed $50, from the Sabbath School class of which he is the teacher. The occasion was a happy one, about 40 members of the Middle St. Baptist Society, with other friends, being present. May the gallant Major live to celebrate his Diamond Wedding!

TUESDAY, May 11, was decidedly summerish, with the thermometer at 83 in the shade, at 3 P. M., and a westerly breeze raising clouds of dust. If our city fathers will only purchase a Quartz Crusher and put crushed rock in place of the gravel now used, there will be less discomfort from dust, as well as a reduction in the cost of keeping the streets and roads in repair.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

THE COMMON ONCE MORE.—The communication which we give below presents the Common project in such a different aspect from that in which it has heretofore been given to the public, as to remove or modify the objections we have urged against it. Whatever may be done by individual liberality or private enterprise to promote the attractiveness or business prosperity of the city will ever receive the commendation of the JOURNAL, which will be as ready to oppose taxation of the many for the benefit of a few. Our opposition to the Common project was incited by the demand for $3000 from the city treasury (on condition that a like sum should be raised By private subscription) before a dollar had been subscribed. We well know that many times three or six thousand dollars would be required (and the Chronicle talks about one hundred thousand) to make the field attractive as a public park. The idea thus presented, that city appropriations must keep pace with or precede private subscriptions, suggested eventual taxation to a very large amount for a purpose from which a large portion of our population would never derive any benefit. It would be difficult to conceive any measure more unjust than to tax the farms of our suburban residents for the improvement of grounds that they would rarely see. As an enterprise to be accomplished by individual effort, however, all objections vanish. A graded walk around the west end of the mill-pond would be attractive; by draining, the lands on the north and west sides would be greatly improved; and if, as is suggested, the trustees can make arrangements with the owners of the pond to prevent the water from being drained off in the dry season, a disagreeable nuisance would be abated. We are informed by Mr. Henry M. Clark, the active and energetic head of the board of trustees, that his recent applications for subscriptions from our citizens have been liberally responded to, and that there is good reason to anticipate such a subscription as will justify an early inauguration of the enterprise.

Mr. Editor:—Not wishing to criticize the remarks concerning the Common which you made a few days ago, I cannot agree with you as regards the location. There is no spot in all New England where in my opinion a Common can be better located, with a proper amount of capital and labor judiciously expended. As regards the flat land on the north side of the pond, a glance at the public garden at the foot of the Common in Boston will showwhat can be done with that. If there is a worse bog-hole anywhere about here than that used to be, I have never seen it; but who will say now that it is not "a thing of beauty and a joy forever," not only to the inhabitants of Boston, but to every stranger that visits there from all parts of the country?

As far as taxes are concerned, it is the plan of the Trustees, and also of the gentleman who gave the first lot of land, that the work should be done altogether by private enterprise; so the few persons who almost go into convultions at the mere lisp of taxes can sleep in peace a few years longer, for they will not be called on for an increase of taxes on that account. That there is plenty of capital and enterprise in Portsmouth to put this thing through there is not a doubt, and the people, rich and poor, are ready and willing to contribute their part as soon as the work is properly advanced. —— C.

[Remarks.—We prefer this term, rather than "reply," in respect to what we have to say regarding the above—which it must be allowed is a very "remarkable" article. The writer, as will be seen, has changed his tune, having found out that he was barking up the wrong tree. The fact is, he commenced to discuss a subject he knew nothing about, and criticised plans and details of which he had still less knowledge.—Now when he begins to find out his mistake, he is disposed to take it all back, except the mean falsehood of an interested few, &c.

The correspondent is in error in saying that the plan of the managers is to have no City aid. The Trustees are to control and direct the matter, but there is no reason why the project, (which if rightly conducted, cannot fail to benefit all citizens,) should not have the official endorsement and some aid from the City. The amount now asked by the trustees is not large, and of course will always be contingent on the evident success and public approval of the affair, as to their being granted anything, should more ever be needed, as is not expected or probable.—As to taxes, a Common, built largely with money from abroad, as it would naturally be, would tend to the general prosperity, and the disadvantage of none; and we doubt if any but the "dead" men and this Journal writer, will oppose the project or slight City aid to it. At any rate, there is no argument against the plan, which does not hold equally well against a sidewalk, paved street, city clock, and all other public improvements. Finally, we think the Common will be built, and that the City and all citizens, and friends abroad, will ere long be glad to aid it. F.]

MY CHIEF BAKER.

BY MRS. J. L. PATTERSON.

Concluded from Yesterday.

After this I missed George Wildes from the baker's cart, and somebody drove who did not sing about the streets. I thought about it and feared he was sick, but my fear was groundless, as I soon learned. Passing down Congress street one day, I saw a file of men going through the evolutions of the soldiers' drill, and my Chief Baker was first lieutenant of the company. Then I knew he was neither sick in body or soul; and though the sight of these stern faces shook me so that my veil fluttered down and hid my eyes, there was joy mingled with the pain, joy in seeing such hands so soon ready for the defense of liberty and national honor.

In my quick glance at the file of soldiers, I had taken in more than the fine face and tall figure of George Wildes. There were young men from store and shop, and law and printing office, and many of them I knew. Almost every avocation of city life was represented in the company, and the men though determined in face and mein, looked delicate and tender, and when I knew they were to go with Gen. Banks to New Orleans, I thought we should not see many of them again.

George Wildes had a wife; she loved him as such a man deserves to be loved; but she, too, was a patriot, and willing he should be one of the great army of deliverance, though she would rather have gone herself, if thereby he could have been spared and perils of war. When he went away with his men, she endured it as other wives had done before her, and must do after her, and then, with the many thousands she watched the post-office for a word from the absent and beloved.

Frequent letters kept her spirits up, and George wrote cheerful letters, I know, for he wrote one to us, which is laid away with laurel over it. By and by, after passing safely through some of those up-river battles, he wrote his wife that he was not quite well, but thought his indisposition was only slight. Still the heart of the woman yearned and was troubled. But the letters came oftener, and all in his hand, and she, too, began to think he was only a little home-sick, and perhaps not sick at all.

Then one day I was out on the street, —I forget whether it was summer or winter, for to me all those war-years are written in agony, not in months and seasons,—and the minister of the church where George Wildes sang tenor, accosted me with a freedom unusual, as men sometimes will when all hearts are bowed by a great fear or trouble. "We have had news to-day," said he.

I thought only of the great struggle, and asked if we had suffered a defeat.

"No; not that. George Wildes is dead." And that was all he could say, and I had no disposition to ask questions, so we each hurried home.

"Bad news," indeed! when one after one of our boys falls at his post; and bad news for this staid old city that a ray of its sunshine is forever eclipsed! Bad news for the church where he sang tenor, and for all who loved to watch for a sight of his cheerful face. But what is our sorrow compared with hers who is now a widow? The shock prostrated her utterly, and it was many weeks before she was able to creep about the house again. Then she tied closely her widow's cap and went down to the hospitals, and had a kind word and a tender hand for the suffering men, and wrought as only they can, who have endured the fiery baptism of trial and loss. When the war ended she still stood at her post, and not until the last broken body was healed, did she seek and find rest from her long toils.

Now that peace has come to the land, I love to sit down alone, and recount the priceless jewels that have been laid upon the altar of country. In this way I learn somewhat the cost of our possession, and while I can number such men as George Wildes on the roll of martyrs, I shall know by that sign, that the good God required not only the first-born of every house, but the best beloved also, and with the ready answer of such he is well pleased.

The bells of my Chief Baker no longer ring merrily about the city. The church across the corner will miss forever his clear tenor, and the death of an earthly victory could not fall across his sunny curls. But I believe "the bells of God" welcomed his good soul home, and there is a joy among the angels as they listen to his voice in the glad song of victory over death.—Ladies' Repository.

MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM

IS A SPEEDY and certain remedy for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influenza, Hooping Cough, Asthma and the various Affections of the Lungs.

☞ The attention of those afflicted with COLDS, COUGHS, and with any disease of the lungs, is directed to this valuable remedy. On account of sudden changes in the weather, colds and coughs are easily taken, and if neglected may lead to disease of the lungs. What is needed under such circumstances is a reliable remedy—speedy in affording relief, and effectual in arresting further progress of the disease.

☞ To arrest the existing irritation of the air passages and the lungs, speedily and effectually, the seat and cause of cough is an important step gained toward relief and cure in the first stages of the disease. MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM possesses this important power, and while it promptly and effectually arrests all existing irritation, and rapidly relieves cough, it renders the lungs further relief by promoting a free discharge of the accumulated mucus in the air-passages, imparting a healthy action and vigor to the chest at the same time.

☞ Those suffering with cough and the first stages of lung disease, will therefore find in this valuable preparation a speedy and decided relief. Even those whose condition is beyond recovery, will derive from its use great benefit as well as comfort. For the class of diseases it is designed to relieve, the general commendation it has received has proved its efficacy beyond question. For the past ten years have been speedily and effectually cured by its timely use while suffering from severe colds, protracted coughs, and from other forms of lung disease. It is prepared from vegetable balsams and the medicinal properties of roots and herbs, with no minerals nor poisonous acids; simple and safe in the material used, it can be taken at any time.

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT!

THE RIGHT THING AT LAST!

BENJAMIN NORTON,

Having been appointed Selling Agent for this City and surrounding towns, of the AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT COMPANY, is now prepared to sell any quantity, from one pound upward, of

It is Durable, Beautiful, Water Proof, Elastic and Economical.

This Paint is all Ready for Immediate Application, and requires no oil, thinning or drying.

It is prepared in pure White and one hundred Different Shades, and is unsurpassed in all respects.

It dries with a hard, rich, glossy surface; does not run from seams or nail holes; will not chalk, crack or peel off; covers more surface with the same body, and is cheaper, more lasting, and better in every respect than any other Paint.

Many testimonials from those who have used it in other places of its superiority over other Paints might be given; but I will only refer to those of this city and surrounding towns who intend using Paints, to call at the

GROCERY AND PROVISION STORE,

Nos. 16 & 18 Cabot Street, which is the ONLY PLACE in the City where it has been used, and examine the Paint where it has been applied in ten or twelve different shades, and where they can choose any color they desire for use, outside or in, and buy from one pound upwards.

In using the Chemical Paint, there is no difficulty in matching any color at any time, as all the shades are numbered, and the same number will always match.

These Paints are manufactured in New York, and Newburgh, Ohio. BENJ. NORTON, Agent for Chemical Paint Company.

Also for sale, at the same place, the Best Quality of

MEATS AND GROCERIES!

AS LOW AS CAN BE BOUGHT IN THE CITY.

AMERICAN

BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING, —AND—

SEWING MACHINE!

H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street,

The Reason Why

This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do—the finest of sewing, hemming, felling, ruffling, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.

2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, as by hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)

3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine can.)

4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)

5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "over and over." (No other Machine can do it.)

Caution.

We would hereby warn the Public against all bogus advertisements of Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.

This Machine is for sale only at our establishment, 27 Market Street, where we cordially invite the Public to Call and Examine for themselves, and be convinced that this is the Best and Cheapest Machine for any family.

N. B.—All Machines are Warranted for one year. Instruction given at the house of purchaser free. Persons buying this Machine never wish to exchange for any other.

H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR!

The Great Desideratum of the Age.

Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved to usefulness by this application.

Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous.

Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness.

Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a

nothing else can be found so desirable.

DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.

Important Certificate.

Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being well once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made me worse than any life must be relieved. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

The News.

The race between Walter Brown on a velocipede, and the bay gelding John Stewart, at Riverside Park, on Tuesday, was won by Walter. He had the pole and was to go 5 miles while the horse went 10 miles. Brown's time was 26 minutes and 20 seconds, while the horse was 26 minutes and 36 seconds in going nine miles. Walter won by a mile and 15 seconds.

The Havana Diaro publishes a report of severe fighting between the Cubans and Spaniards; that the rebels offered more determined resistance than in any previous battle, and acknowledges that the Spaniards lost a colonel and captain, and six privates killed and thirty wounded. It claims that the rebel loss was heavy, but does not give the numbers. The insurgents have burned the village of San Miguel near Nuevitas.

John Clem, of Ohio, the famous drummer boy, who dropped his drum for a musket, at Chickamauga, and shot a rebel colonel who demanded his surrender, has been appointed a cadet at large, to West Point, by the President.

Since President Grant's inauguration there has been a decrease in the public debt of over six million dollars.

The President and Heads of Departments at Washington, have been invited to attend the Musical Peace Jubilee in Boston. Most of them will probably attend.

There is a report of an Alliance, offensive and defensive, of England, France and Spain, against the United States.

Hon. Joseph Atkins, Republican Senator in Georgia, was murdered on the 11th inst., by a traitor. He was a Baptist minister of good character; though a coppery dispatch insinuates to the contrary.

The Cuban rebellion is said to be waning; but we do not give full credence to the statement.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.— The 8.40 train from Portland for Boston, Wednesday forenoon, ran off the track between North Berwick and South Berwick. The engineer, fireman, and baggage master were badly injured; and the baggage master soon died. A lady passenger (having a baby in her arm) had a leg broken, but the infant escaped unharmed. Several other passengers had limbs broken and severe bruises. The Engineer and firemen were badly scalded. Conductor Payson Tucker escaped with slight bruises.

The baggage master was Mr. Freeman Lamprey of Hampton, aged about 30 years, a son of Oliver Lamprey, and a young man of excellent character and pleasant manners, highly esteemed by officers and passengers on the road. Hy was aware that he could not survive his injuries, and chloroform was administered about 20 minutes before his death. The engine was entirely disabled, and the cars greatly damaged. The accident was occasioned by a defective rail.

The Coroner's inquest was held at the Boston Depot in this city, on Wednesday afternoon, and some testimony taken which it appeared that when the accident occurred, the engine turned over and lay on one side, and the Mail Car went through the Baggage Car, splitting it in two. Mr. Lamprey was seen to step between the two at the instant of the accident, to apply the brakes:—and the Mail Car carried him with it, through the other, inflicting fatal injuries. These cars, with the smoking car, were smashed, and the front passenger car sdamaged.

The Inquest was adjourned, to receive testimony as to the cause of the accident.

PERSONAL.—Amoung the editors of the Dartmouth Magazine for the present term, we see the name of George Rice, of Providence, R. I. Mr. R. is the colored student so recently brought to notice by various papers in and out of the State. From an acquaintance of two oears in college with Mr. Rice, we are able to say that he is well deserving of the compliment paid him by his class, ('69,) in his election to the editorial chair. He is a young man of good literary ability, stands in the first third of his class, and is well liked by all.—Concord Patriot.

EXETER, May 10.

A horse belonging to James M. Odlin became frightened this morning, and ran down High Street and across Great Bridge at a fearful rate. At the same time a young man named Charles T. Tilton, a house-painter, was crossing the bridge with some ladders on a handcart, and not seeing the horse in season to escape, was struck by the frightened animal and knocked down; the wagon, as an eye-witness thinks, passing over him. Mr. Tilton was severely injured about the neck and shoulders, and it was thought at first his injuries would prove fatal; but Dr. Carroll informs me this evening that so far as his injuries are now known, he may recover; tho' he may have sustained undeveloped internal injuries that may prove fatal.

Building is very brisk this season,—carpenters, masons and painters were never in better demand. Until within a year or two the erection of a dwelling house was quite a noticeable event, but I was conversing recently with a carpenter, and it was quite a tax on his memory to enumerate the new houses erected within a year. The whole number is about twenty, and nearly as many more buildings of various kinds have been "reconstructed" into habitations.

Ask the cause of this sudden increase, and you will usually get the answer, "The Robinson Female Seminary."—This is true to a considerable extent. Many people have expressed the desire to locate here on account of the superior educational advantages Exeter affords. Several have already done so, and the Seminary is doubtless to exert a powerful influence in increasing our population.

Passing the First Congregational Church this evening I heard sweet sounds of music, and looking in found about fifty ladies and gentlemen, under direction of Rev. J. W. Chickering, rehearsing for the Peace Jubilee.

No steps are being taken towards any public demonstration in decorating the graves of our fallen heroes. These mournful ceremonies were performed last year by a few ladies, whose fair hands will doubtless repeat this beautiful tribute on the 29th.

May 11. Mr. Tilton rested well last night, and his symptoms are decidedly favorable. Hopes are entertained that he will come out all right. Mr. Tilton was an original member of the 3d New Hampshire Reg't, and bears on his person scars received in the service of the country. H.

THE LATEST IN BONNETS.—The round hat is now much more of a covering to the head than the bonnet. The bonnet is simply a little pouf of lace or crape, or a band of straw with a standing rim, covered with lace and flowers. All the ornaments, in fact, which have been used so profusely upon ball dresses and head-dresses during the past season, have reappeared upon the Spring and Summer bonnets.

Feathers and flowers, heads of birds and tropical plumes, stems, sprays and insects, are all employed, and such profusion that the bonnet itself seems but the little excuse for mounting them.

There are more novelties in round hats than in bonnets. Bonnets are confined to little tips of straw with lace or cross-bars of satin pipings, edged with lace for crowns, and tiny puffs of crape or lace, which seem to be only waiting for the first breath of wind to blow away.

In round hats, on the contrary, there are many new and striking designs. Among others, the "beehive," the "Tyrolean," the "shepherdess," the fez and pouf and "Versailles."

The latter is a wide-brimmed leghorn, trimmed with a scarf of netted silk or lace and a bouquet of wild flowers. They are really magnificent garden hats, for an emperor, and worthy of the royal appanage from which they take their name. They are costly, however, and have only been imported in very limited numbers. Madame Rallings has two, which cost seventy and seventy-five dollars each, in Paris, and will be sold for eighty.

The "bee-hive" is of straw, something like the fez, only octagon shaped, and is ornamented on the top with a bouquet of flowers, which terminates in a cordon reaching nearly to the waist.

Round hats are worn, made in black lace, as extensively as bonnets. Most of them are ornamented with flowers, but some with fruits and leaves, and one was remarked which displayed a little rustic basket, filled with moss and hedgerow blooms, and another with a scarlet paroquet, the head in its nest of lace looking over the tip of the nose, the claws, which were retained, catching the folds of the scarf which fell at the back.

Round sailor hats of coarse straw are very fashionable, trimmed with wide black ribbon folded double around the crown, tied in a square flat bow at the sides, and terminating in two long ends, which are often finished in Roman striped satin and fringe containing the colors of the satin.

Croquet hats are of straw or chip, with long, pointed rims which descend low, front and back, are raised high and coquetishly at the sides, and are usually trimmed with a scarf of netted silk, black or straw color, which descends upon the side. A bunch of wheat and poppies, or a bouquet of wild flowers, is the ornament

ENTANGLED.

BY LUCY LARCOM.

Birds among the budding trees,
Blossoms on the ringing ground:
Light from those? or song from those?
Can the tangle be unwound?

And the violet curved her throat,
Just as if she sat and sung.

Dandelions dressed in gold,
Give out echoes clear and loud,
To the oriole's story, told
With gay poise and gesture proud.

And the swaying yellow-bird,
Thrilling, thrills their hollow stems,
Until every root is stirred,

Curve and drift of plumy brown,—
Melody's light seed-notes down.

Tints and tones how deftly blent!
Who unwinds the web she made?
Thou, who wear'st her wise content.

Plainly are her secrets told
Unto thee, O pure of heart!

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Let Us Protect Ourselves.

The physical structure of the strongest human being is vulnerable everywhere. Our bodies are endowed by nature with a certain negative power, which protects them, to some extent, from unwholesome influences; but this protection is imperfect, and cannot be safely relied on in unhealthy regions, or under circumstances of more than ordinary danger. Therefore, it is wisdom, it is prudence, it is common sense to provide against such contingencies, by taking an ANTIDOTE IN ADVANCE; in other words, by fortifying the system with HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—the most complete protective against all the epidemic and endemic maladies that has ever been administered in any country.

As a remedy for Dyspepsia, there is no medicine that will compare with it. Whoever suffers the pangs of indigestion, anywhere on the face of the earth where HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS can be procured, does so voluntarily; for, as surely as truth exists, this invaluable TONIC and ALTERATIVE would restore his disordered stomach to a healthy condition. To the nervous it is also specially recommended, and in cases of confirmed constipation it also affords speedy and permanent relief.

In all cases of fever and ague the BITTERS are more potent than any amount of quinine, while the most dangerous cases of bilious fever yield to its wonderful properties. Those who have tried the medicine will never use another, for any of the ailments which the HOSTETTER BITTERS profess to subdue. To those who have not made the experiment we confidently recommend an early application to the BITTERS whenever they are stricken by disease of the digestive organs.

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used in any emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agonies of pain, or the depressing influence of disease.
